SOME OTHER KIND OF MONEY NEEDED.

In this column some days ago, the Journal replied to an enquirer, who asked as to why the $60,000 spent for autos in New Bern could not have been given for industries...

The New Bern spirit, individual and public is generous along certain lines. Indeed, it might be said to be prodigal in some things.

In base ball times, in every period that the local volunteer firemen asked for contributions, wherever visitors are to be entertained, in such celebrations as the Bi Centennial, there has been a lavishness bordering on extravagance.

But along some other lines there is need for local advancement and liberality, and the expenditure of other kinds of money. There is the kind of money needed that will establish the Circulating Library, both in its own home, and start it upon a self-sustaining basis.

WHAT WAS THE TWO

TICKET WINDOWS BILL?

As per Raleigh advices, the Corporation Commission has inaugurated the two ticket windows bill by granting it to ten towns and exempting forty four.

It may be that there was provision in the bill that gave the Commission this positive authority to single out towns where it may be operated, but the Journal's recollection is that towns of 2,000 population and above were to have the two windows, this done to specially relieve the mileage passengers.

As to the actual needs of this city, as to the double window arrangement, a note of the local condition is not impertinent, but may throw some light and perhaps remove New Bern from the "exempt" class.

PUZZLED ALL AROUND.

A Russian's First Encounter With English in London.

A Russian tells a funny story of his first encounter with the English language. The day after his arrival in London he made a call on a friend in Park Lane and on leaving described in his notebook what he supposed to be the correct address.

This experience being repeated with two or three other cabmen, the Russian turned indignantly to the police, with no better results. One officer would laugh, another would tap his head and make a motion imitating the revolution of a wheel, and so on.

The Russian had with great care copied character for character, the legend on the gatepost, supposing that it indicated the house and street—Pearsou's.

The Worth While Person. Certain qualities go to the making of any human being whom other human beings esteem. Certain ingredients are as necessary to a man as flour and yeast to bread or iron and carbon to steel.

The Cuckoo. In the middle ages the cuckoo was thought to be a god who took the form of a bird, and it was a sacrifice to kill him. The Romans were less superstitious and more practical. They caught him, killed him and ate him and held no bird could be compared with him for sweetness of flesh.

BALKED AT COLD STEEL. "I wouldn't let a doctor cut my foot off," said H. D. Ely, Bantam, Ohio, "although a horrible ulcer had been the plague of my life for four years. Instead I used Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and my foot was soon completely cured."

Old Carving Terms. In a list of carving terms in use in 1600, which appeared in Dr. Salmon's "Receipts," are the following: "Leach that brawn. Lift that swan. Rear that goose. Spoil that hen. Fract that chicken. Sauce that capon. Unbrace that mallard. Unlace that coney. Dismember that heron. Disfigure that peacock. Display that crane. Unteach that curlew. Unjoin that bittern. Allay that pheasant. Wing that quail. Mince that plover. Wing that partridge. Thigh that pigeon. Border that pastry. Thigh that woodcock. Break that hare.

A King's Library. Frederick the Great employed architects to build a library, but they fought with true professional etiquette over their designs. The monarch who had braved the might of Europe was not to be defeated by a parcel of nagging professional men. "Confound you," said the king, "don't waste any more time! This cupboard opposite me is of a very good design; copy that." They did as they were ordered.

A FATHER'S VENGEANCE. would have fallen on any one who attacked the son of Peter Bondy, of South Rockwood, Mich., but he was powerless before attacks of kidney trouble.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY PILLS FOR BACKACHE, RHEUMATISM AND BLADDER. Clives of Refuge. In the tumultuous days of old, when "every man's hand was against every other man and every other man's hand against him," when the principle of "do as you would be done by" was practically unknown and private vengeance was the rule of the day, it was absolutely necessary that there should be some place to which one could fly for safety.

FIERY DRAGONS.

They Spat Out Fury From Tongues Barbed With Flame.

Dragons were important animals in ancient and medieval natural history. Until comparatively recent time no scientist ever thought of questioning the existence of this most formidable of beasts. The annals of Winchester for 1177 gravely state that "in this year dragons were seen of many in England." The learned professor of natural history at Zurich, gave a detailed description of the dragon, while Adrovandus in his "History of Serpents and Dragons," published in 1640, devoted fifty pages to the monster.

A good specimen of a dragon would seem to have been a beast about the size of a sheep, incased in a coat of scales which shone like silver. Its back was serrated like a saw. It possessed a long tail, a pair of batlike wings, four heavily clawed feet and a wolfine head, the jaws of which were armed with very formidable teeth. The tongue was barbed with fire, and fury issued from the monster's mouth, and the head bore a crest. Dragons were the most wicked and vindictive of creatures. They seem always to have been in a towering rage and spent the greater portion of their time in rushing up and down the earth destroying everything that came in their path.

The origin of dragons was a disputed point among medieval naturalists. Some maintained that these animals were generated by the heat of India. Others were of opinion that the volcanoes of Ethiopia used to belch forth the monsters. One scientist, John Leo by name, declared the dragon to be a hybrid, a cross between an eagle and a wolf.

SAVED MANY FROM DEATH.

W. L. Mock, of Mock, Ark, believed he has saved many lives in his 25 years of experience in the drug business. "What I always like to do," he writes, "is to recommend Dr. King's New Discovery for weak, sore lungs, hay fever, hoarseness, obstinate coughs, lagrippe, croup, asthma or other bronchial affection, for I feel sure that a number of my neighbors are alive and well today because they took my advice to use it. I honestly believe it is the best throat and lung medicine that a man can find. Easy to prove he's right. Get a trial bottle free, or regular 50c or $1.00 bottle. Guaranteed by all druggists."

Twist of the Pretzel.

The pretzel is capable of infinite possibilities in the matter of shape. It shows almost as many forms as do the leaves of trees. The construction of the pretzel may be not inaptly described in sailor terms. Its peculiar shape is attained in this way. A light is taken in a roll of dough, and the ends are given a half twist and brought back upon the opposite sides of the light. This process gives to the pretzel a heart shaped appearance, but no one ever ventured to hint that any sentimental reason existed for assigning this shape to such a prosaic thing as a pretzel. When the pretzel has been duly "varnished" it is subjected to a process of salting, and the thing is complete.—Harper's.

BILIOUSNESS AND CONSTIPATION. For years I was troubled with biliousness and constipation, which made life miserable for me. My appetite failed me. I lost my usual force and vitality. Peppin preparations and cathartics only made matters worse. I do not know where I should have been today had I not tried Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. The tablets relieve the ill feeling at once, strengthen the digestive functions, purify the stomach, liver and blood, helping the system to do its work naturally.—Mrs. ROSA POTTS, Birmingham, Ala. These tablets are for sale by all dealers.

Two Sets of Muscles. You have two sets of muscles—the outer ones, which you can feel, and the inner ones, which are your lungs, heart, stomach and other internal organs. The outer ones are conveniences for performing actions. The inner ones are your life—the "fate" which makes you happy or depressed, powerful or weak, useful or the contrary. These inner muscles require training, just like any other muscles, by intelligently directed exercise.—J. Edmund Thompson in National Magazine.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY PILLS FOR BACKACHE, RHEUMATISM AND BLADDER. A Joke and a Law. Tradition is that the habes corpus act was put on the English statute books as the outcome of a joke at the expense of a hulk lord. It was in the final division in the house of lords, and Lord Grey and Lord Morris were appointed tellers. Lord Morris was not attentive to his duties, and when a very fat lord came in Lord Grey counted the obese person for ten, at first as a joke; but, seeing Lord Morris went on with the count, by that means, says Bishop Burnet, a sufficient number of votes were secured, and the bill was passed. Long after the American colonies had over-
