SCHOOL AND COLLEGE THE NEWS TODAY.

Nothing shows so conclusively the importance and strength of the school and college, as the commencement day exercises reports published at this season of the year in the daily newspapers.

It is not that education is a fad, that calls for the most prominent people, political, social religious, literary, to speak and deliver addresses before graduating classes at schools and colleges, at every commencement season, but for the reason that education is a most essential factor in the material and social progress of this day, and at commencement, in the graduating exercises, in the reports of the standing of each pupil, there is felt a keen public interest both by the family whose children are finishing their educational courses, and also by the people of the community where these young men and women reside, for there may be the local pride, as well as the desire to note as far as external impression may go, the prospective community value of the young man or young woman graduate.

For these reasons every school and college seeks at commencement to have addresses from prominent men, to add to the force that such characters must give to the commencement day exercises. And so the daily newspaper is called upon to devote columns to commence ment day exercises, and give full prominence to the events that take place during the closing days and hours of the school and college at this season. The sweet girl graduate and the pampered young man just turned out, have ceased to be jokes. The graduate today may be a young woman full of dainty graces, but she has strength of character and looks to a work a day world. The young man may have had plenty of money to make his college life pleasant, but graduation day finds him stepping forth to meet real life issues. The present age demands the educated and trained, and college and school graduation is the line to be crossed by those so qualified, and the world stands ready to receive them.

MONEY FINE NO PUNISHMENT

The check on crime is only certain and sure, when the offender receives the full sentence of the law, that his guilt demands should be meted out to him.

Men committing crimes that demand severe penalties are usually gifted in knowledge of the law, are wise in the things of the day, hold high positions in society, are valued helps to the church and the poor. The tremendous growth of wealth, of the many ways that wealth, power and standing may be gained by actually devious methods, but which the law does not seem to dare to interfere with, not only opens the way but allures men to seek high places in finance and in industrial and political positions because success means immunity from disturbance by the law, while failure leaves the aspirant no worse off for trying.

The government's war upon such trusts and absolute monopolies as Standard Oil, Tobacco and Steel, is revealing such inside raciality, that make the crimes committed by men in other ages appear as unworthy of punishment, though those offenders paid the penalty with penitentiary confinement of long terms. FOLEY'S KIDNEY PILLS

FOR BACKACHE, KIDNEYS AND BLADDER.

What a girl really knows about the way to treat a proposal of marriage she never learned from her mother.

Foley Kidney Pills take hold of your system and help you to rid yourself of your dragging backache, dull headache, nervousness, impaired eyesight, and all the ills resulting from the impaired action of your kidneys and bladder. Remember it is Foley Kidney Pills that do this.—F. S. Duffy.

The Longest Fast.

The record for fasting, so far as our best information goes, is held by Graine, a French murer, who determined to starve himself to death and from day to day after his arrest refused to eat. In spite of every effort on the part of his keepers, who first tried to tempt him to eat by placing the most dainty meals in his cell and when that failed attempted feeding him by force, he held out for sixty-three days, at the end of which period he died. With the exception of Graine's case the longest well authenticated instance of fasting on record is that accomplished by Giovanni Succi, who lived at the Royal Aquarium, London, for forty-five days without food.—New York American.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY REMEDY ACTED QUICKLY.

M. N. George, Ironside, Ala., was bothered with kidney trouble for many years. "I was persuaded to try Foley's Kidney Remedy, and before taking it 3 days I could feel its beneficial effects. The pain left my back, my kidney action cleared up, and I am so much better. I do not hesitate to recommend Foley Kidney Remedy."—F. S. Duffy.

STARTLED THE BISHOP.

An Untimely Royal Letter and the Message It Conveyed.

One night at 3 o'clock the bishop of Orleans was roused by a royal courier who had in hot haste brought a dispatch from his majesty Louis XV. The bishop imagined that something terrible had happened. Tremblingly he opened the package and read:

"Monitor the Bishop of Orleans—My daughters wish for some preserved Orleans quiches. Pray send some. If you have none I beg that you will—"

In this part of the letter there was a drawing of a sedan chair, and underneath the chair the king's letter contained this:

"Send immediately into your episcopal town and get them, and, monitor the bishop, may God have you in his holy keeping, Louis."

Lower down on the page was this postscript:

"The sedan chair does not mean anything. It was drawn by my daughter on this sheet of paper, which I happened to find near me."

Greatly relieved, the bishop hurried a courier into Orleans, procured the preserves and sent them to his royal master.—Thomas B. Watson in "The Story of France."

Janos Made a Record.

Suicide is more prevalent in Germany than anywhere else, the most depressing feature of the vital statistics of that country being the number of children who destroy themselves. But Hungary holds the record for old age in attempted suicides. In 1888 Janos Meryessy, who was eighty-four years old, jumped off the suspension bridge at Budapest into the Danube. He was rescued and explained that he wished to end his life, as he was becoming too decrepit to support his father and mother. This extraordinary statement proved to be true, Meryessy's parents being aged 115 and 110 respectively, and a public subscription was organized to set them all three above water.

STARTS MUCH TROUBLE.

"If all people knew that neglect of constipation, yellow jaundice or violent liver trouble they would soon take Dr. King's New Life Pills, and end it. Its the only safe way. Best for biliousness, headache, dyspepsia, chills and debility. 25c at all druggists."

She Could Threaten Too.

"Tickets," said the wary little conductor as he confronted a 200 pound German woman.

"Ach! I had lost my ticket what I should come back by vesce."

Conductor—I am sorry, madam, but you will be obliged to pay your fare again.

Woman—Noin, nein. I paid you this morning already. I will nicht.

Several times the conductor returned to reason with her, but each time was met with a more decided refusal than the last. Finally, losing patience, the conductor said:

"Madam, if you do not pay your fare at once I shall have to expell you from the train and put you off."

The woman, half crying and holding her hat at arm's length, "What! I pay 40c, you say? Then you must have more, you say? I didn't pay the fare of 40c, did I?"

CLASS DAY EXERCISES

Hold At Griffin Auditorium Yesterday Afternoon. Annual Sermon Delivered.

Yesterday afternoon the class day exercises of the 1911 graduating class of the New Bern graded school were held in Griffin auditorium. Despite the fact that the hour was prohibitive to a great many, there was quite a good sized audience present and they thoroughly enjoyed the exercises.

The first number on the program was a selection by the school orchestra, this was well rendered and received much applause. Miss Lavinia Folsom, the class historian, then read the class history. Her paper was exceptionally good and showed remarkable ability and was well received. Following her Miss Elizabeth Hyman, read the class prophecy. Parts of this, as was intended were very humorous, and she received much applause. The entire class then sang the "Parting Song" after which Miss Linda Brown, the class poet, read the class poem. In the construction of this manuscript Miss Brown showed remarkable ability and the rendition of it was perfect. After another selection by the orchestra and a song by the class, the assemblage adjourned to the campus where the 1911 brick was placed in the cornerstone of the building as is the usual custom.

The following program was rendered last night:

BALKED AT COLD STEEL.

The First Grade.

The earliest mention in literature of cradles is in the Biblical account of Moses' little ark of bulrushes. But there are in the British museum some clay tablets found a few years ago on the site of ancient Nineveh which, according to archaeologists, make it quite clear that somewhere about 4000 years before the Christian era there was another infant hero exposed in a little ark of bulrushes. Thus the cradle that was found by Pharaoh's daughter 1400 B. C. was comparatively modern. It is certain that cradles were first used as a means of protecting babies from the attacks of wild animals by suspending them from the boughs of trees.

Bound to Have Results.

As the hospital ambulance dashed up to the curb and its surgeon sprang off into the curious crowd the patient on the sidewalk partially recovered from her fainting fit. "I don't want to go to a hospital," she declared when she observed the approach of the uniformed doctor. "I'll be all right in a few moments; I'm not going in the ambulance."

"I don't want to go back without you if I can help it, madam," rejoined the young physician earnestly. "We can down three persons to get here without delay."

BILIOUSNESS AND CONSTIPATION

For years I was troubled with biliousness and constipation, which made life miserable for me. My appetite failed me, I lost my usual force and vitality. Purgative preparations and cathartics only made matters worse. I do not know where I should have been today had I not tried Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. The tablets relieve the ill feeling at once, strengthen the digestive functions, purify the stomach, liver and blood, helping the system to do its work naturally.—MRS. ROSA. PORTER, Birmingham, Ala. These tablets are for sale by all dealers.

An Oyster Gormandizer.

"When should oysters be eaten?" Our question would have received a ready answer from a certain seventeenth century worthy. Henry Hastings, second son of the Earl of Huntington, was the man. An invitation to his parlor and the guest would have met an oyster table where his host ate oysters twice a day—wet or dry—from Jan. 1 onward to Dec. 31. In other respects he might be called "eccentric." His great hall, for instance, was strewn with marrowbones, and full of hawk's perches, bonnets, spandrels and tortois, and all his old hats—and here is a use for the old hat—were stuffed with pheasant eggs. When he died in 1690 he had missed his century by one year. Oysters three times a day and he might have achieved the distinction. He was a sportsman.—London Chronicle.

COLORS AND VISION.

The Human Eye and the Mystery of Distinguishing Hues.

It is a curious fact that while there are seven colors in the rainbow—red, orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo and violet—only three of these are primary—red, green and violet. That is to say, these three appear to be simple colors, while all the others may be produced by various combinations of these three. Red and green combine in certain proportions to produce yellow. In a different proportion the two produce orange. Again, green and violet combine to produce blue. It is said all shades of color are merely different combinations of the three primaries.

In keeping with this fact some of the ablest writers have held that there are three nerves, and but three, in the human eye—one to respond to the color red, another to green and yet another to violet. Other authorities present a different explanation. In the eye of the frog in the act of seeing there is a visible chemical action. There is a chemical substance exuded or spread over the retina or interior of the eye of the frog, called purpurine because of its purple color. Under the action of light this substance bleaches white.

Many today believe that the human eye has truly but a single optic nerve. For surgeons seem able to find but one. They hold, however, that in our act of seeing a chemical substance is exuded or spread over this nerve and that this substance has three different constituents, one element in it responding to the color red, another to green and yet another to violet. These latter authorities dispense with the three special optic nerves by providing our eyes with a threefold chemical substance. The act of vision and its effect upon the brain are one of life's great mysteries.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

WARNING TO RAILROAD MEN.

E. S. Bacon, 11 East St., Bath, Me., sends out this warning to railroaders: "A conductor on the railroad my work caused a chronic inflammation of the kidneys, and I was miserable and all played out. A friend advised Foley Kidney Pills, and from the day I commenced taking them I began to regain strength. The inflammation cleared and I am far better than I have been for twenty years. The weakness and dizzy spells are a thing of the past and I highly recommend Foley Kidney Pills."—F. S. Duffy.

Miseries of the Red Sea.

In the waters of the Red Sea the cessation of the engines on a steamer for an hour means extreme physical suffering for passengers; for a day it would involve absolute torture. The wind which prevails every day is a hot, apoplexy-inducing blast, and its continuous directions are from north and south toward the center. As a result every passing vessel is subjected to two days of almost intolerable heat, followed by two days of comparative comfort, but instances have been known of crowded liners being compelled when traveling with the wind to turn round and steam back for an hour or so in order to give the passengers even a brief respite from the sufferings induced by the dull, dead, unbearable atmosphere.

A FATHER'S VENGEANCE.

would have fallen on any one who attacked the son of Peter Bondy, of South Rockwood, Mich., but he was powerless before attacks of kidney trouble.

"Doctors could not help him," he wrote "so at last we gave him Electric Bitters and he improved wonderfully. From taking six bottles, it's the best kidney medicine I ever saw." Backache, tired feeling, nervousness, loss of appetite warn of kidney trouble that may end in dropsy, diabetes or Bright's disease. Beware! Fake Electric Bitters are sold. Every bottle guaranteed. 50c at all druggists.

"I guess I'm just an impressionable woman," she stammered. "I gave a beggar a quarter this afternoon."

"How did he work you for it?" he asked.

"He said, 'Won't this beautiful lady help me a bit?'"

"Well, you can't help giving something to these blind men."

And he can't figure it out yet why the girl is mad at him.—Boston Traveller.
