

Never in the history of man has there been so much value in an acre of land. Always has land, the home place, appealed to man. It was the stronghold, the sanctuary, the place of possession to be kept inviolate. The contest has ever been for land between tribes and nations. Territory in treaties between nations has been an all important part, either in war or peace. Territorial acquisition has been the Anglo-Saxon desire, and not always has territory been acquired honorably, yet never has a people complained that Anglo-Saxon rule did not give them benefits.

Acres value today, in many localities has more a sentimental than practical worth. The exodus to northwest Canada caused acre values to rise rapidly, because of the demand from American farmers, who found great prospects in wheat raising on lands selling at ten to twenty dollars an acre, when their American acres were one to three hundred dollars. Irrigation in the far West has made arid territory fertile, vast land wastes have become acres under cultivation producing one to five hundred dollars annually. Southern lands have come under cultivation, cut up into acres and often reduced to town lots.

The natural value basis of an acre should be its productiveness. But it must not be forgotten that the speculative must also be considered, for many an investment of land is made today, not for what it is today producing, but for its prospective value when brought under more modern cultivation. Just how much an acre may be able to produce, has not yet been found out. It is this that makes acreage values without limitation.

AN AGE OF SWAT.

This a period when a single word, emblematic and emphatic in its demonstrative sense, stands for a general public sentiment to clean up and clear up, materially physically and morally. The word standing for so much is "swat." Not a musical word, but one that signifies a good deal. The common house fly that a few years ago was held simply as a personal annoyance, is today declared a public menace. "Swat the fly!" is the paramount duty of the citizenship that stands for sanitation and public health.

With nearly equal detestation does the cry go up to "swat" trusts and corporations. Standard Oil, Tobacco and Steel, are held by many as dangerous to the republic, and their extermination regarded as a righteous crusade. Even further there are those who would "swat" the men in control and governing the movements of these corporations, by making them criminally liable, and visiting upon them the law that would sentence them to terms in the penitentiary.

Against the liquor traffic public sentiment calls for the "swat" that will prohibit its public sale. The political "swat" has been applied to men as a token of the disapproval of their public conduct. The "swat" against immoral living, making men equally amenable to the moral code as women, is going ahead in most communities. And in the "swat" life the "swat" method is applied to prevent any man from being able to increase the

His Light Diet.

The actor's sense of humor is always uppermost. He will jest about his hard luck, his ill luck or almost anything that offers an opportunity for a joke. Generally, too, he has courage—the courage to smile when his heart is heavy. A comedian, who was known to be in desperate straits, was invited to a social gathering one evening. When the poor actor arrived he was seen to be thinly clad, although the weather was bitter cold. He looked also as if he had not had any too much nourishment for some time. The hostess greeted him cordially.

"I am so glad to see you," she said.

"How well you are looking!"

"Yes," replied the comedian; "the wind has been very nutritious of late."—Saturday Evening Post.

FRONT DOOR NIGHT BELLS.

Doctors Are Not the Only Ones Who Have Use For Them.

At 1 o'clock in the morning a man who was looking for a doctor found a door plate on which he distinguished the words, "Night bells and rang the bell. When the door opened and a figure appeared in the semidarkness of the hall he said:

"Hurry up, please. There is a sick woman at No. 132."

The man inside said "All right," and in a few seconds both men were racing down the street to No. 132. In the top floor front room lay a very sick woman. The newcomer pulled a small table to the bedside and took from his pocket a sheet of paper and a fountain pen.

"What on earth are you doing with that?" said the man who had summoned him. "You're a nice doctor, you are."

"Doctor?" echoed the man. "I'm not a doctor; I'm a lawyer. Didn't you read the sign, 'Lawyer's night bell'?"

"But what does a lawyer need of a night bell?" the other man asked.

"To enable the people who want to make will in the dead of night to find him readily," was the reply.

"Once in a while I'm called up to straighten out more serious entanglements, but most of the legal papers I write after 10 p. m. are wills. A lot of people who take sick suddenly recollect that they have never made a will and they want to repair the omission while there is time. When you said there was a sick woman here I naturally thought of wills, not medicine. There is a doctor in the corner house."—New York Times.

Derivation of Blue Monday.

The term blue Monday was derived from a custom prevalent in the sixteenth century of decorating the churches in Europe with blue colors on the Monday before Lent. The fashion of making a holiday of this particular Monday, especially for those whose vocations compelled them to work on Sunday, was subsequently transferred to all Mondays. Excesses produced by the celebration resulted in stringent enactments on the subject, and finally the custom was abolished. One tradition has it that the name originated from the Monday holiday revels, which generally fell blue marks upon the faces of quarrelsome persons.—New York Telegram.

"Dinner of Deadly Enemies."

Lady Randolph Churchill once gave at her house in Connaught place what she called a dinner of deadly enemies. It was thought, says Mr. G. W. They all recognized their obligations to their hosts as paramount for the time being. In some cases ancient animosities were softened. In all they were suspended."

IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS

Don't Mistake the Cause of Your Troubles. A New Bern Citizen Shows How to Cure Them.

Many people never suspect their kidneys. If suffering from a lame, weak or aching back they think that it is only a muscular weakness; when urinary trouble sets in they think it will soon correct itself. And so it is with all other symptoms of kidney disorders. That is just where the danger lies. You must cure these troubles or they may lead to more serious ones. The best remedy to use is Doan's Kidney Pills. It cures all ills which are caused by weak or diseased kidneys. New Bern people testify to permanent cures.

L. A. Smith, 18 Griffith street, New Bern, N. C., says: "Backache caused me a great deal of suffering, and I had other distressing symptoms of kidney complaint. Doan's Kidney Pills which I procured from the Bradham Drug Co. completely and permanently cured me. I have publicly endorsed this remedy before, and I am now pleased to confirm my former statement. Our son, who had a weakness of the kidneys, was also cured by Doan's Kidney Pills and is relieved."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

THEIR AWFUL SECRET.

It Caused the Real Estate Agent to Change His Mind.

When the family who admitted that they were moving because the tenants at the old address made their lives miserable confided to the realtor agent that they had one peculiarity which they wished him not to mention to their neighbors in his building the agent got uneasy and executed a mental quickstep trying to devise some way to break the lease. But aloud he said very courteously:

"I shall be glad to oblige you if I can. What is it you wish me to keep a secret?"

"The fact that we pay our rent promptly on the last of every month," said the head of the family. "That was something that nobody else in the other house did, and the agent as an incentive to quick action on their part published the news of our promptness. The only action it stirred them into was persecution of us, and they carried that to such extremes that we had to move. If you will kindly refrain from using us as a club to whack your delinquents into obedience we will appreciate it."

The agent resolved not to cancel the lease, but at the same time he relinquished a hastily conceived plan for procuring prompt remittances.—New York Times.

That Yankee Dodge.

The description of the first operation under ether in Europe is given by Dr. F. William Cook in the University College Hospital Magazine. It is reproduced in the London Lancet, and the scene is referred to as the "most dramatic ever enacted in which medical men grouped the stage." The operation was performed by Robert Liston on Dec. 21, 1846. "At 2:15 Liston enters, that magnificent figure of a man six feet two inches in height, and says, 'We are going to try a Yankee dodge today, gentlemen, for making men insensible,' so Liston introduced ether to a London hospital." The subject was a man, thirty-six years old, whose thigh was amputated. The operation was successful, and Liston uttered the epilogue, "This Yankee dodge, gentlemen, beats mesmerism holier."

Infamous Cruelty to the Ladies.

This from the "Personal" column of the London Telegraph:

"Will the fairer of the two ladies who entered the Apsley gate of Hyde park in a landaulet on Sunday at 12:15, who smiled at gentlemen riding bay cob, kindly make appointment tomorrow through these columns? He earnestly longs to again meet his ideal centaur."

The connection between a centaur and two ladies in a motorcar is not obvious, but we pass over that to protest at the infamous cruelty of a creature who deliberately sets two ladies the task of deciding between themselves which of them is the fairer.—Belman.
