RECIPROCITY—POLITICAL AND MATERIAL.

Clark, of Arkansas. Simmons, of North Carolina, Bailey, of Texas.

This is the Democratic Senate vote against President Taft's reciprocity bill. There were three Democratic Senators who refused to vote for a strictly Republican measure. There were three Democrats who voted their honest political convictions and refused to be stampeded by any political tumtum, or bull dozed by the fear of future political extinction, A lonely three Senators, today, but Senators who will receive later on the applause of those who honor courage and respect political probity.

This reciprocity bill has its political and material sides. An ingenious Republican measure, thro' its material side it has secured Democratic endorsement and votes because of the selfishness of its appeal, the possible free trade on artieles entering into the daily needs terrorized Congressmen and Senators. Primarily, a protective tariff has national, state, local and individual selfishness for its basis. Buy cheap, sell high. The Taft administration has been facing an indignant people To appease the masses, meant injury to its chief iff repeal always a Democratic promise, was nearly a realization through the voters who demanded relief from tariff burdens. Reciprocity, happy thought, a Republican bill that will deceive enough Democrats to carry it through, at GOVERNOR KITCHIN AND the same time change the popular clamor against Republicans to applause that will see in the Taft administration the end of tariff burdens, and prove that the Republican party is the party to preserve the best interests of the people. Is it any surprise that the Taft smile occupies the first page of so many Democratic papers? And how Democratic newspapers must ap preciate the word of approval from the White House, thanking them for their splendid efforts (for Re- ernor in a compromising political publication) And will not Demo position. crats see that this political victory is another Bleheim ?
