THE FARMER AND HIS BANK.

Many farmers are not as careful as they ought to be in filing receipts showing payment of bills for labor and materials. By keeping a bank account with the Peoples Bank and making all payments by check this difficulty is easily overcome because the checks themselves are absolute receipts.

We invite checking accounts in any amount and polite and courteous treatment is extended to all depositors, whether their accounts are large or small.

DIAMOND THIEVES

Women Are Experts in Purloining the Precious Stones.

SOME TRICKS OF THE TRADE.

Clever Scheme of a Light Fingert Lady Who Worked Nearly Every Dealer in New York—Ingenious Trick of a Smooth Berlin Swindler.

A former State street jeweler who is now a member of a jewelers' protective association and travels over the entire world in search of diamonds and gem thieves told some of the interesting methods used by the expert thief to steal jewelry, says the Chicago News.

"Women make good diamond thieves," he said, "as dealers must take a chance of offending a customer, lest she be a rich-man's wife or daughter whose trade if obtained regularly would amount to thousands a year. Any woman well dressed and possessing a certain amount of refinement can see the entire stock of almost any dealer in the country. When she is clever enough she can get a stone or piece of jewelry during her inspection.

"One New York woman came into a large store and asked to see some unset diamonds. The proprietor of the store waited on her and showed her a large collection of fine stones. She displayed a monster roll of bills and was about to purchase an expensive jewel when she asked whether her husband could see it. 'Why, certainly,' replied the proprietor. 'We will send it over to him now.' The woman hesitated and finally asked whether they would hold the stone until that afternoon and she would make a deposit of $10 on it.

"This appeared perfectly proper to the owner, but when she left two valuable stones were missing. The woman was halted, taken to the police headquarters and searched. The gems were not found on her, and in her indignation she threatened to bring suit against the proprietor. He had been sure she had taken the stones, but in his profusion of apology offered to give her the one she had been looking at and at the same time refund her $10. This was better than a suit and the loss of all the supposed friends of the woman, thought the dealer. She accompanied him back to the store and while there watched by detectives, made her way up to the case where she had stood before, and slipping her hand along the under edge, recovered the two missing stones, stuck there in a little ball of chewing gum.

"The detectives did not know positively at that time whether she had taken anything from the counter, but decided to keep further watch over her. At another store several days later, while she was inspecting gems, a stone was dropped on the floor 'accidentally,' and this also was lost. Gem on the front of the shoe had got this one. The woman was arrested and confessed that she had swindled nearly every dealer in New York with her gum trick.

"One of the most ingenious thefts was made in Berlin, where a fellow walked into a general jewelry store, knowing the owner had a fine diamond. The thief wore an expensive diamond himself and went into the store apparently to have an old German watch repaired. He started to talk of diamonds and exhibited his own as a choice stone. He was shown the other stone by the dealer. They discussed diamonds in every phase until the watch was repaired, when the stranger started to pay for the repairing. He exhibited a large roll of bills and purposely overpaid. During the slight confusion of counting his money and paying for his watch he had substituted for the genuine diamond a paste stone, which was being carefully wrapped up and placed in its box by the dealer, while the stranger was sauntering out with his watch.

"The dealer saw a slight carbon spot in the paste jewel, as he was closing the box and, knowing his own jewel to be flawless, hurriedly examined the stone and apprehended the thief before he was half a block away, secure in the thought that he was safe.

"He was taken to the store and every particle of clothing removed and he was searched thoroughly, but the missing jewel could not be found. More through curiosity at the old time watch than anything else one of the police opened the back of the case and found glittering up at him from the man's apron the lost jewel. The thief confessed and got a heavy sentence.

"There are just thousands of this kind of cases," said the gem thief sleuth. "The majority of the really big fellows that I have ever seen are as fine cut men as one would find anywhere. Their personality is usually of the best, but with a bad streak in their makeup somewhere."

Very Considerate.

A tender hearted youth was once present at an Oxford supper where the fathers of those assembled were being roundly abused for their parsimony in supplying the demands of their sons. At last, after having long kept silence, he lifted up his voice in mild protest.

"After all, gentlemen," he said, "let us remember that they are our fellow creatures."

WILD SILKWORMS.

They Weave Their Thread in Skains Inside Their Huge Nests.

The world is indebted to the Chinese for the discovery of the virtues of the silkworm. Its product was unknown in Rome until the time of Julius Caesar, and so costly was the material that even the Emperor Aurelian refused a dress of this lustrous fabric in almost every country, and its products are within the reach of all.

Besides the several domesticated species, there is a wild silkworm found in Central America which weaves a baglike structure two feet in depth that hangs from the trees. At a distance the nest resembles a huge matted cobweb. The insect makes no cocoon, but weaves the silk in layers and skeins around the inside of the nest. From Tegucigalpa there were sent to England some years ago about six pounds of this silk. There it was made into handkerchiefs, not easily detected from common silk of equal strength and delicate texture.

There is a curious silk producing spider in Central America, the arana de seda, which may be seen hurrying along with a load of fine silk on its back, from which trail numerous delicate filaments.—Harper's Weekly.

A Comet's Three Parts.

A comet has three parts. The nucleus is the bright starlike point which is the kernel, the true potential comet. Around this is spread the coma, a sort of luminous fog, shading from the nucleus and forming with it the head. Still beyond is the delicate tail, stretch away into space. And this is the world in general is the comet itself, though always the least dense of the whole. Sometimes entirely wanting or hardly detectible, the tail is again an extension millions of miles in length. Although usually a single brush of light, comets have been seen with no fewer than six tails.

The Fountain Head of Life Is The Stomach

A man who has a weak and impaired stomach and who does not properly digest his food will soon find that his blood has become weak and impoverished, and that his whole body is improperly and insufficiently nourished.

DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY makes the stomach strong, promotes the flow of digestive juices, restores the lost appetite, makes assimilation perfect, invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder and restorative nerve tonic. It makes man strong in body, active in mind and cool in judgment.

This "Discovery" is a pure, glyceric extract of American medical roots, absolutely free from alcohol and all injurious, habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients are printed on its wrapper. It has no relationship with secret nostrums. Its every ingredient is endorsed by the leaders in all the schools of medicine. Don't accept a secret nostrum or a substitute for this time-proven remedy or snare concoctions. Are you nervous? THE LOST ATLANTIS.

Fate of the Continental Island as Told by the Ancients.

"The Lost Atlantis" is a favorite subject of song and story, and even now strange tales are told by sailors who claim to have seen a great white city rearing its domes and minarets up through the green of the sea.

Atlantis was a continental island between Europe and America. Solon as long ago as 600 B. C. learned the story in Egypt, and it is from him and later from Plato that the tale has been handed down to modern peoples.

Atlantis was reigned over by three kings of marvelous power, and the inhabitants were a warlike people far advanced in civilization. The three kings finally became so puffed with power that they united forces and planned a descent on Europe, the purpose of which was to destroy and enslave. The Athenians met the invaders and after a fearful battle gained a decisive victory.

Two days later mighty earthquakes shook the earth, and tremendous inundations came. When peace succeeded elemental turmoil the sea stretched where once had been Atlantis.

A Quicker Process.

A story is told of a certain famous inventor who is fortunate enough to be able to employ a large staff of engineers and mathematicians to aid him in the solution of knotty problems. Some time ago the inventor desired to find the cubic capacity of a certain vessel of unsymmetrical proportions and asked his mathematicians to solve the problem. As the story goes, the mathematicians spent weeks of time, filled whole books with their calculations and finally presented what they said was a close approximation to the true result. Thereupon the famous inventor placed the vessel on a platform scale, filled it to the brim with water, obtained its weight when full and when empty, and in a few minutes he had a result as good as the mathematicians—for that particular vessel.—Engineering News.

MORE THAN ENOUGH IS TOO MUCH.

To maintain health, a mature man or woman needs just enough food to repair the waste and supply energy and body heat. The habitual consumption of more food than is necessary for these purposes is the prime cause of stomach troubles, rheumatism and disorders of the kidneys. If troubled with indigestion, revise your diet, let reason and not appetite control and take a few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and you will soon be all right again. For sale by all dealers.

His Geography.

Ample explanation of the many attempts to construct a universal language lies enfolded in the reply of a small boy, given by Mrs. Hugh Fraser in "A Diplomatist's Wife in Many Lands."

The irregular French verb—what a terror those were to children! My own little boy when he was seven years old was asked by his teacher a question in geography.

"What separates England from France?"

"The irregular verb," he replied, with mournful conviction.

Robert Louis Stevenson was a close student of style and has left more than one interesting discussion of the technique of writing. In a letter to R. A. M. Stevenson, dated October, 1882, he says:

"There is but one art—to omit! Oh, if I knew how to omit I would ask no other knowledge! A man who knows how to omit would make an 'head' of a daily paper."

To men engaged in editorial writing (which in America is the art of making ideas effectively before a vast audience) and to young men and women in college who are plugging to enter journalism we recommend that they show few words of Stevenson's be committed to memory and put into practice.—Collier's Weekly.
