"And so I have been looking about since I have been out here, trying to find something as rare, unique and full of surprises for your friends as your cigars have been for mine. I have found it.

"You know what a curiously upsidedown people the Chinese are. Example, they begin dinner with desert and end with soup; they drink hot, acid beverages in summer instead of iced ones; they write from right to left, vertically, while we write from left to write, horizontally; they mourn in white instead of black, and they are awfully honest and pay their

"But there is one other point of difference still queerer: they wear pajamas all day, while we wear them only at night.

Here I yawned. Always hate that heavy, historical, instructive stuff, you know. If you have to hear it, gives you headache, unless you can slip off to sleep first. So I reached the letter up to Jenannoying, time like that. Mind is so devilish alert, dash it! Always doing things like that; can't seem to get over it, you know. And this ripping idea that bobbed up now and got me all roused up was nothing more or less than to untie the string myself and see what the thing was

"I believe, sir," said Jenkins, look ing up, "the gentleman has sent youh'm-has sent you-"

"By Jove, a suit of pajamas!" I ex claimed, holding them up. It was neck and neck, but I bes Jenkins to it, after all!

"Gentleman says, sir," continued Jenkins, studying the letter, "that his present of a pair of pajamas may seem surprising, but you won't know how surprising until you have worn

"Jolly likely," I admitted, feeling the silk. By Jove, it was the finest yet thinnest stuff I ever saw, soft a rose leaves and as filmy light as spider's web. Not bad that for a comparison, eh? Caught the idea from a vase of full-blown roses that were beginning to shed their petals there on the table. And on one of the blossoms was a little brown spider. Catch the idea? Suggested spider's web, you know, "They're rather red, sir," Jenkins commented dubiously. Red? Well, I should say! My! How jolly red they were! We spread them under the light, and the red seemed to flow all over the table and fall from the edge. Why, they were as red as-

I tried to think of something they were as red as, but somehow couldn't fetch the idea. I thought of red ink and blood and fireworks, but they didn't seem to be up to them at (TO BE CONTINUED.)

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The "change of life" is a most critical period in a woman's existence, and the anxiety felt by women as it draws near is not without reason. When her system is in a deranged condition, she may be predisposed to apoplexy, or congestion of some organ. At this time, also, cancers and tumors are more liable to form and begin their destructive work.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes. headaches, backaches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eves, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and inquietude, and dizziness, are promptly heeded by intelligent women who are approaching the period in life when woman's great change may be expected.

These symptoms are calls from nature for help. The nerves are crying out for assistance and the cry should be heeded in time.

Lydia E. Pinkhani's Vegetable Compound is prepared to meet the needs of women's system at this trying period of her life. It invigorates and strengthens the female organism and builds up the weakened nervous system. It has carried many women safely through this crisis.

SCHOOL NEWS Commencement Exercises

Take Place On May 29th. Sermon By Rev. B. W. Spillman,

Commencement Exercises this year will take place on May 29th 30th and 31st. On the night of May 29th the literary address will be delivered by Dr. Dred Peacock of High Point, N. C. On Thursday night, May 30th the annual sermon will be preached by Rev. B. W. Spillman of Kinston, N. C., and

Work on the High School play "Best Goes to Europe" is progressing satis factorilly. Almost every afternoon the ten boys and gir's, who are taking part neet with two of the teachers and work. The play is wholesome but quite interesting, depicting real school gi:1 and boy life, manners and experiences. There are some very amusing situations and the dialogue is unusually bright and catchy. The proceeds from this play are to be used on the comencement number of the Athenian. Short histories and descriptions of our flags, both State and National, will appear in the commencement number of the Athenian, If asked by a for eigner to give an exact description of these flags, who could do it? How did these flags originate, and when first used, etc. These are some of the points which will be discussed in these articles. Bertha Gaskill of the 10th grade is writing the one of our State flag and one on the U. S. flag. All school children in the state are being given an opportunity to cont. ibute something toward the the Aycock nonument fund. Of course the New Bern schools will not be behind in this appropriate work of appreciation of our great Educa ional Governor. The history less ns of the 4B grade are very interesting, especially those that are dramatized by the pupils. Toe boys like to impersonate Gen. Greene, Cornwallis and Tarletop; the girls like the characters of Mesdames Steele, Allison, Ashe and Jones. They are anxious to act the Edenton Tea Party and will do so when the lesson is reviewed.
