Cathedrals With Towering Spires Seen by Train Passengers.

NO OPTICAL ILLUSION

Result of James City Stimulation

Just after sunse Tuesday a beautiful mirage appeared in the western sky. A city, with skyscrapers and factories smoke pouring from the chimneys-in fact, a sky line much like that of New York-and beyond, towering spires and clearly defined cathedrals, were to be plainly seen. To make the strange scene incongruous and more fantastic, but more like the genuine article in the mirage line, farther to the south, about over Polloksville, there appeared mosques and minarets with spires, and oriental arcitecture-Oriental, N. C., is not here referred to-and an occasional palm.

That his imitation mirage was not as optical illusion, or the result of Jame City stimulation, can be proved by a number of passengers on the westbound Norfolk Southern train last night. One gentleman, who left the train at New Bern, after gazing in amazement at the vision for some minutes, exclaimed Well, that must be the Holy City!"

The people who saw the strange sight probably all realized that a mirage was unknown in this country, and that they are not so very common even in the desert of Sahara and on the coasts of the Mediterranean sea, but this thing seemed to be something more than a cloud formation. One gentleman suggested that perhaps the mists from Trent river were reflecting New Bern on the western sky. That might account for part of the spectacle, but not for the truly oriental architecture depicted.

CASE WILL SETTLE

NOVEL LAW POINT The Supreme Court on Tuesday heard argument in a case from New Bern to determine wnether a bank when it collects a draft to settle a whiskey bill is guilty of selling liquor. The defendants in the case are John M. Fisher, cashier, and the Mutual Aid Banking Company ,a banking institution conducted here for colored people

The whiskey in question was shipped by A Hatke & Co., of Richmond, to Carl Spencer. Before getting the whiskey he had to settle for it through the bank. When the case was heard in Craven Superior Court, Judge Foushee ruled that what the bank did in the premises was not a violation of law.

SHIPPING LIME IN LARGE QUANTITIES

The business of the Carolina Coast Lime Company seems to be rushing. They are shipping large quantities of lime. From the number of cars that are being loaded it is to be presumed that there is considerable activity at the mines, as well as at the warehouse at the foot of Metcalf street. The company is using a large quantity of dynamite at their mines on Trent and Neuse rivers. A heavier trade still is anticipated by the lime company this fall and winter.
