SOUTHERN. Rightly or wrongly the Norfoll southern Railroad thinks New Bern nas shown a grasping attitude in it lealings with it. We have heard that it claims that when it proposed to ouy some land here on which to build hops an extravagant price was asked It is probable also that the railroad hinks that the city was disposed to drive as hard a bargain as it could in connection with the paving of certain streets. Anyhow the circumstances are such as to indicate that the proposed curtailment of service here has grown out of a spirit of retaliation for injuries real or fancied. If such is the case New Bern ought to know it. New Bern needs the Norfolk Southern and the Norfolk Southern needs New Bern. The relations between the city and the railroad should be friendly for each profits from the prosperity of the other.

There is room here for the Northern Coast Line outlet and the movement to get it is one of the most deserving ever started here. We hope that there railroad is secured. Eskimos Believe It Is Not Necessary If They Have Enough Meat to Eat.

Where the physical struggle for life is at its keenest, as it is among the Eskimos, the years glide by free from the more subtle cares and worries of the civilized man. The Eskimo, says Mr. Knud Rasmussen in "The People retary Williams is to be felicitated on of the Polar North," does not count conceiving the idea and on the energetic | the days, and keeps no record of time. manner in which he is working to make All his thoughts are centered on

Once I asked an Eskimo who seemed to be plunged in reflection, "What are you thinking about?"

He laughed at my question, and said: "Oh, it is only you white men who go so much for thinking! Up here we only think of our flesh-pits, and whether we have enough for the long dark of the winter. If we have meat enough then there is no need to think. I have meat and to spare!" I saw that I had insulted him by crediting him with thought. On another occasion I asked an unusually intelligent Eskimo, Panigpak, who had taken part in Peary's last north polar expedition:

"Tell me, what did you suppose was the object of all your exertions? What did you think when you saw the land disappear behind you and you found yourself out on the drifting ice-floes?"

"Think?" said Panignak astonished. "I did not need to think. Peary did with the Eskimos. I once excused myself, when paying a visit, with the plea that I had already eaten and had had enough. I was laughed at, and the answer I received was:

Art and Engineering. The close connection of the artistic and the mechanical instinct is shown again in recent developments in France is doubtless the most eminent modern nation in the world of art. But in the past 30 years she has come to be one of the foremost in mechanical engineering; as the develop-ment of the automobile and the aeroplane bears witness. Coincidentally, there has been at least a relative falling off in her standing in art. This looks as if the demand of mod-ern times had turned machine-wards the genius which in an earlier day would have expressed itself with brush and chisel The artist and the engineer or inventor have the same faculty of see-ing a thing before it is finished, the same keen sense of proportion and relation, the same intense desire to put ideas into concrete form.

When America pauses from ner rush in mechanical invention, she will develop an artistic power that will as-

DREW A FUNNY LITTLE MAN

Recorded in Maine-His Signature Was a Bow and Arrow.

A funny little man, drawn all with black ink, his inch-high body standing club-footed and with arms like a scarecrow-this is the signature or 'mark" to the first Indian deed re corded in the state of Maine. This deed conveyed land in South Berwick on the Piscataqua river, and was made in 1643. It is much briefer than pres ent-day deeds, as will be seen:

"Know all who these may consarne that Humphrey Chadbourns have bought of Mr. Roles the Sagamore of Newichawanuke Half a Mile of Ground which lieth betwixt the men who act like beasts-this is the Little River & the Great River to begin at the Northern Side of ye old Ground & for the Conformity thereof the aforesd Sagamore Mr. Roles hath hereunto set his Hand May the 10th 1643. The signature of Samoset, he of "Welcome, Englishman," fame, was a bow and arrow, as seen on the deed he made to John Brown of Pemoquid long before the deed of "Mr. Roles." But most Indian signatures deeding land to white men were random touches of pen to paper, always, however, "in the presence of" white men as legal witnesses. The eastern colonies early forbade buying lands of Indians except with the permission and approval of the nounce Indian deeds as such to be invalid. But by an act of 1715, no one not in actual possession on July 31, 1720, could hold under an Indian deed in Maine thereafter.

CHARACTER TOLD BY TONGUE

Many Ways by Which That Organ Re veals the True Disposition of Its Owner.

Germany has taken up the pastime of reading character and telling fortunes by the tongue. A long tongue is said to denote openness of character: It suggests generosity and freehandedness. Its possessor makes friends and enemies easily, but does not save money.

When the tongue is long and thick the openness degenerates into a tendency to gossip and scandal. The future of the owner is beset with trou-

Short tongues indicate secretiveness and dissimulation. Their owners make good detectives and attorneys. The owner may acquire some money by economy and guile, but has not THOSE WHO DO NOT THINK largeness of spirit to make a great fortune. Very thin pointed tongues are found in different people who do not succeed in life.

Short and broad ones accompany craft and falsehood, the person who has such a tongue is compelled by it to deceive and betray, whatever effort he may make to keep straight.

The vibrant, quivering tongue denotes the artistic temperament. Brilliant carmine hue is a sign of long life, pale pink tongue denotes both weakness of character and delicacy of Canned Whole Hams. Among the methods of sending cured hams into the market, that of canning the whole ham has been introduced by an innovating German meat packer. This was several years ago, and the new idea seems to have taken firm root in that country.

The canning process, as applied to whole hams, is comparative simple, says Pure Products. After being salted, smoked and otherwise cured in the usual manner, the hams are placed in a can of suitable size and shape. It is then weighed and the weight marked on the outside. The space left in the can may be filled either with clean water or the ham may first be boiled and the broth, after the removal of the fat, may be placed with it in the can. The can is then closed and the contents steri-

The popularity of canned whole ham may be inferred from the number of patents which have been issued Eating becomes the great thing to various inventors, who have cow ered every possible form of can for this purpose.
