GETTING A GOOD START.

The new President is starting out by turning down the thousand and one invitations that come to him to go to all parts of the country and make speeches. The chief executive of this country has more than a man's job in Washington and the vast majority will want him to attend strictly to business. And these constituents will applaud most warmly every time he declines a request to go somewhere and make an address unless it is on an occasion of national moment.

POSTOFFICE AND POLITICS.

Postmaster General Burleson announces that he will take the postoffice out of politics. A writer for the New York American "discovers" that Mr. Burleson would use the Department to further the political ambitions of his chief. Mr. Burleson's statement of his intentions shows that he has no fear of attempting the undesirable undertaking acribed to him by the American writer. It is very unlikely that Mr. Wilson has picked out any political cut-throats and pirates as his political advisers.

STAY ON BACKBONE.

The Wilmington Star gives us the millstone which the members of the Legislature were to carry on their backs when they returned to their homes. They were overworked, they were overpaid, they were overburdened. In short they were, or some of them were, too lacking in the courage of their convictions. It takes backbone to make a good law-maker.

NOT ENTHUSIASTIC OVER WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

Facts are elusive things. Were the suffragette marches in Washington on the eve of the inauguration sufficiently resented by the police or were they not?

Thomas Nelson Page, the novelist and chairman of one of the important committees on arrangements for the inauguration, says that they were. Clyde H. Taylor, the Washington correspondent, who is a member of Congress from the Fourteenth Illinois District, says that there were positively no police to protect the women, but when it was desired to run a street car through the throng on Pennsylvania avenue, a cordon of no less than thirty policemen appeared to escort it.

At all events we think it safe to conclude that the Washington police department is not excessive in its enthusiasm in behalf of "votes for women."

THE HILLSBORO TRIAL.

The trial at Hillsboro is said to have been the first time in the history of the State that college students were placed on trial in connection with hazing escapades which resulted in the death of one of their members. Perhaps one reason why there has been so much hazing has been that trials have been so few. College students have enjoyed too much latitude. They have been regarded as a people apart and as having certain privileges that other folks had no right to. Their great increase in numbers it has been seen that they are just ordinary mortals and they are coming to be more and more so considered. They should be compelled to observe the law just as other and older men are required to observe it. Theft is theft, assault is assault and manslaughter is manslaughter whether perpetrated by college students or by other folks.

WELCOME.

Although Merchants' Week was launched very suddenly and news of it cannot have been thoroughly disseminated, we feel safe in predicting that there will be many visitors in the city this week. It is the week before Easter and something of a holiday season. So in the ordinary course of events there would be more than the customary number of visitors in the city. When there is added the effect of the advertisement of the special observance of the week here, it will be seen that there is good reason to expect a considerable number of visitors and a busy, exciting and altogether interesting time.

People just naturally like to come to New Bern any way. They like our street cars, our beautiful streets, our magnificent water views, our handsome residences and busy, attractively decorated stores and the various and sundry amusements and diversions that are to be found here. Accordingly we believe that there will be a good-sized attendance of visitors here in spite of the fact that the affair has not been extensively advertised.

If this article comes under the observation of any who have not given the matter of visiting New Bern this week serious thought, allow us to insist that you decide to come. The merchants will make you royally welcome and you will have a grand opportunity for a little vacation and at the same time a chance to see the fine arrays of Easter merchandise that are offered here at this time.

EFFORTS OF REFORMERS WELL JUSTIFIED.

The Wall Street Journal of the New York, in criticizing the work of the Chicago reformers who are trying to get a law passed forbidding the employment of girls in department stores and factories at less than nine dollars per week, declares that employers know that it pays to give good wages and that the matter of properly remunerating their employees can be safely left to them.

It does pay to get good help, but in the great crises with their beating thousands in search of a living, good help can be gotten at starvation wages. The Wilmington Star by way of which we get the view of the Wall Street paper cites the instance of a concern which, employing girls exclusively and paying them wages ranging from three to six dollars a week, piled up profits of thirteen million dollars in 1912.

Nobody can say that this firm did not have good help. Without it such profits could not have been earned. Neither could it be said that a fair wage was paid. Living is expensive everywhere and nowhere so much as in large cities. The average wage paid by this firm was probably about $4.50. That is not enough pay for a week's work by a girl in Chicago or New York or any other large city. It would not be enough if the employing firm were losing money or barely making ends meet instead of piling up vast profits.

It was to be expected that a publication like the Wall Street Journal would oppose the movement to get higher wages for the shop girls of Chicago. It sees all question from the selfish viewpoint of the money-grubbers of the financial district from which it takes its name.

NEWSPAPERS BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM.

In the Journal today will be found some advertising of firms that do not ordinarily advertise in the papers. We are particularly glad to present their cards to our readers. And in doing so we would suggest that they consider the question of becoming regular advertisers in the Journal.

Advertising is an essential to the success of any business. Of course newspaper advertising is not the only form of advertising. But it is resorted by most people to be the best.

There is another standpoint, one of patronage, a firm or two, will share with you the duties and responsibilities of citizenship, whose prosperity is bound up with yours, and yours with theirs; or some stranger who drops in on the town, stays a few days and by clever soliciting and astonishing pertinacity gathers in fifty or a hundred dollars for a week's work and then departs.

The newspaper is relied on by the community as is no other single agency. The churches, the judges, the schools, the civic and other organizations and every other agency seeking the uplift of the community go to the newspaper for co-operation. The stronger the newspaper is financially the greater and more effective is the assistance that it can give these worthy causes. As advertising receipts constitute one of the newspaper's principal sources of income, it can be seen that business men who extend advertising patronage to the newspapers are indirectly aiding every worthy undertaking of the community.

We invite every loyal citizen of the community to only consider not the benefits to be had from newspaper advertising, but also the claim which the newspaper has over the claim of the occasional visitor, who as soon as he has obtained what he came for takes his leave and returns no more.

Away With Glory.

(From the Chicago Record Herald.)
"There is glory enough for all," said the Democratic enthusiast.
"Yes, glory enough," replied the mose on, "but what about the offices?"

SPRING PNEUMONIA.

The backbone of winter may be broken—not so with the pneumonia season. In the light of developments of past years, it is safe to say with respect to pneumonia that the worst is yet to come. The next four or five weeks are quite likely to witness the snuffing out of upwards of five hundred lives by pneumonia in this State.

With care and right living the threatened danger can be avoided. Pneumonia is largely a preventable disease. Keep up your physical tone and your resistance to disease and you will have gone a long way toward making yourself pneumonia proof. You can't frequent crowded, overheated places and keep up physical tone, neither can you keep up to standard efficiency and fighting power on less than eight hours sleep out of every twenty-four. Impure air is a tremendous factor in lowering physical tone and annihilating resistance to disease.

Pneumonia is a winter disease principally because winter is the season of close housing and consequent bad breathing conditions. The physical tone of the average person grows lower as the winter progresses. The colder the winter—the tighter the housing—the lower the physical tone—the higher the pneumonia death rate.—State Board of Health Press Service.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED BY LOCAL APPLICATIONS, AS THEY CANNOT REACH THE DISEASED PORTION OF THE EAR. THERE IS ONLY ONE WAY TO CURE DEAFNESS, AND THAT IS BY CONSTITUTIONAL REMEDIES. DEAFNESS IS CAUSED BY AN INFLAMED CONDITION OF THE MUCOUS LINING OF THE EUSTACHIAN TUBE. WHEN THIS TUBE IS INFLAMED YOU HAVE A RUMBLING SOUND OR IMPERFECT HEARING, AND WHEN IT IS ENTIRELY CLOSED, DEAFNESS IS THE RESULT, AND UNLESS THE INFLAMMATION CAN BE TAKEN OUT AND THIS TUBE RESTORED TO ITS NORMAL CONDITION, HEARING WILL BE DESTROYED FOREVER; NINE CASES OUT OF TEN ARE CAUSED BY CATARRH, WHICH IS NOTHING BUT AN INFLAMED CONDITION OF THE MUCOUS SURFACES.

FREE ADVICE TO SICK WOMEN

Thousands Have Been Helped By Common Sense Suggestions.

Women suffering from any form of female ills are invited to communicate promptly with the woman's private correspondence department of the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established a confidential correspondence which has extended over many years and which has never been broken. Never have they published a testimonial or used a letter without the written consent of the writer, and never has the Company allowed these confidential letters to get out of their possession, as the hundreds of thousands of them in their files will attest.

Out of the vast volume of experience which they have to draw from, it is more than possible that they possess the very knowledge needed in your case. Nothing is asked in return except your good will, and their advice has helped thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, should be glad to take advantage of this generous offer of assistance. Address Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass.

Every woman ought to have Lydia E. Pinkham's 80-page Text Book. It is not a book for general distribution, as it is too expensive. It is free and only obtainable by mail. Write for it today.

SINGING CLASS ON ITS TOURS

ORGANIZATION FROM OXFORD ORPHANAGE WILL TOUR ENTIRE STATE.

Oxford, N. C., March 13.—Since the days of John H. Mills, first Superintendent of the Oxford Orphanage, a Singing Class from that institution has annually made a tour of this State, until now it has become so well known and so much enjoyed that the people have come to look on the Class as one of our State institutions.

This Class started out on Monday for another of these tours which will cover almost the entire State before it is completed, with two rest spells of two weeks each to break the tedium of the tours.

SURGERY FOR CRIMINALS

Minneapolis Bad Boy's Appendix Removed—Now He's Good.

Minneapolis, March 13.—The removal of his appendix converted a remarkably bad Minneapolis boy into a remarkably good one, according to the report of Dr. H. Banna Newkirk, director and surgeon of the research department of the Juvenile Protective League of Hennepin county.

In only one county in the United States, Hennepin, is corrective surgery practiced on delinquent children as an official part of the juvenile court work, and juvenile court workers everywhere have been watching for Hennepin's results, some of which are given in Dr. Newkirk's report. The practice was only started in Hennepin County last year.

Success in an unusual degree has marked the surgical work in the Juvenile Court, Dr. Newkirk said. "We work on the theory that every child is entitled to a sound body," he explained. "The work has frequently been the prime cause of moral improvement."

Dr. Newkirk said the boy operated upon for appendicitis was formerly a chronic truant and incorrigible. He was also ill-tempered. After his appendix was removed he gained twenty pounds and since then his school attendance has been regular, his scholarship and deportment good and his disposition sunny, according to the surgeon.

Colonel Roosevelt made a speech in Philadelphia Thursday night. But the country is not listening to Roosevelt now.
