SLOAN'S LINIMENT

is a quick and safe remedy for hog cholera.

Governor of Georgia uses Sloan's Liniment for Hog Cholera.

"I heard Gov. Brown (who is quite a farmer) say that he had never lost a hog from cholera and that his remedy always was a tablespoonful of Sloan's Liniment in a gallon of slop, decreasing the dose as the animal improved. Last month Gov. Brown and myself were at the Agricultural College building and in the discussion of the ravages of the disease, Gov. Brown gave the remedy named as 'sloping'."

NEW BERN MAN DIES IN FLORIDA

FRED. G. SMITH SUCCEMBED TO TUBERCULOSIS YES-TERDAY MORNING.

After suffering for several years with tuberculosis, Fred G. Smith of this city, died at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Smith at Winterhaven, Fla., yesterday morning at 11:45 o'clock.

The deceased was a native New Bernian and for a number of years was manager of the Home Telephone and Telegraph Company at Greenville. A few years ago he came to New Bern and took charge of the local exchange but his health failed rapidly and he held this position for only a short time.

Going to Western North Carolina he remained there for some time and his health improved. Upon his return to New Bern he grew worse and the attending physician ordered him to return. This he did and later went to Winterhaven, Fla. Despite the efforts of medical aid and the tender attentions of a devoted wife and parents the dread disease grew worse until the end came.

Mr. Smith is survived by his wife, who was formerly Miss Eleanor Taylor of this city, one son, Lovick who is now at the home of his great uncle, H. J. Lovick in this city; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Smith of Winterhaven, Fla.; two sisters, Mrs. T. W. Brogden and Miss Fannie Smith of this city and six brothers, Wallace A. and Fred C. Smith of this city, F. B. Smith of Clinton Smith of this city, F. B. Smith of Clinton, S. C., Malcolm Smith of Winterhaven, Fla., and W. J. Smith of Winterhaven, Fla.

Arrangements for the funeral had not been made at the time the message of Mr. Smith's death was received here but it is probable that the body will be interred at Winterhaven either today or tomorrow.

TAKE PLENTY OF TIME TO EAT

There is a saying that "rapid eating is slow suicide." If you have formed the habit of eating too rapidly you are most likely suffering from indigestion or constipation, which will result eventually in serious illness unless corrected. Digestion begins in the mouth. Food should be thoroughly masticated and insalivated. Then when you have a fullness of the stomach or feel dull and stupid after eating, take one of Chamberlain's Tablets. Many severe cases of stomach trouble and constipation have been cured by the use of these tablets. They are easy to take and most agreeable in effect. Sold by all dealers.

All mankind loves a cheerful loser.

STOMACH TROUBLE.

Many remarkable cures of stomach troubles have been effected by Chamberlain's Tablets. One man who had spent over two thousand dollars for medicine and treatment was cured by a few boxes of these tablets. Price, 25 cents. For sale by all dealers. (Adv.)

Herbert Kauffman's ideal man appears to be one that is composed of harveyized steel, with concrete innards and a corrugated jaw.

SORE NIPPLES.

Any mother who has had experience with this distressing ailment will be pleased to know that a cure may be effected by applying Chamberlain's Salve as soon as the child is done nursing. Wipe it off with a soft cloth before allowing the babe to nurse. Many trained nurses use this salve with best results. For sale by all dealers. (Adv.)

Nobody would complain very much if Secretary Redfield should try to administer the "water cure" to the Washington lobbyists.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COLIC, CHOLERA AND DIARRHOEA REMEDY

Every family without exception should keep this preparation at hand during the hot weather of the summer months. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is worth many times its cost when needed and is almost certain to be needed before the summer is over. It has no superior for the purposes for which it is intended. Day it now. For sale by all dealers. (Adv.)

Now doth the busy little moth improve each shining hour since that fair day in early May when you packed your winter things away and left them in his power.

CAN'T KEEP IT SECRET.

The splendid work of Chamberlain's Tablets is daily becoming more widely known. No such grand remedy for stomach and liver troubles has ever been known. Sold by all dealers. (Adv.)

An Arrest

By JAMES B. BARTOW

Mrs. Burrage (Mlle. de Fou and Signorina Turantolu) with a number of other aliases was the most accomplished swindler I ever had anything to do with in all my term of service on the police force. She must have belonged to a well-to-do family or had a talent for imitations, for she could pose as a native of any civilized land.

One day my chief told me that he had reliable information of this accomplished confidence lady; that she was living in apartments and he wished me to go and arrest her. "Go in plain clothes," he said, "and keep your wits about you. She is very slippery and will elude you if you give her the slightest opportunity."

I started out with the intention of being thoroughly on my guard. I knew that flatsores are apt to be convenient for those who wish to light out suddenly and took with me sufficient force to watch from every direction. Having stationed a man in front, in rear and on the roof of the adjoining building, I rang the bell at Mrs. Burrage's door. The summons was answered by a maid dressed in uniform—a black dress, apron and cap. She held a silver salver in her hand for a card.

But I was not there for a call, nor did it suit my purpose to send in my name. I brushed past the maid and one passed through the living room to a bedroom, where I found a lady in disabillie.

"What are you doing here?" she asked, betraying a foreign accent.

"I have come, madam, to ask you to make a call upon the inspector."

"The inspector! What does this mean?"

"That you are under arrest."

She pretended for awhile to be bewildered at the idea of being arrested, but when she found I would listen to her no longer she agreed to accompany me without urging if I would permit her to put on a costume suitable to the street. After examining the outfit and seeing no possible way of her making an escape I consented. The room was at the end of the suit, on the fourth floor, and no fire escape within reach. There was no possibility of her getting out except through the living room. So I retreated to that apartment, but insisted that the door between the two rooms should be sufficiently ajar for me to hear, though not to see.

There was but one door opening from the suit to the hall, and at this door I had stationed a man with orders to let no one pass. On one side of the flat passageway was the living room, on the other the dining room and kitchen. But what interested me was the bedroom in which I had the prisoner cornered. I could not for my life see how she could escape me.

Mrs. Burrage, or whatever her name was, took her time about dressing. I listened for every move, and she made enough of them for me to know by the sound that she was still there. This was gratifying, for, though I saw no way for her to escape, I would have felt uneasy at any lengthy silence. When a quarter of an hour had passed and she did not appear I asked her if she was not ready. She replied that she had no one to hook the back of her dress. I told her that I had often performed that service for my wife and if she would come into the living room I would accommodate her. She said she would prefer that I come in to her. Resolved not to grant anything she proposed, I told her to come out to me, which she did with evident reluctance.

I hooked her dress for her, and when she went back to her bedroom to put on her coat and hat I flung the door wide open, so that she could complete her toilet under my observation. She was so slow about it that I finally told her that I would give her five minutes by my watch to finish. She got into her wraps within the time and said that she was ready to accompany me. But she must ask me to go through the rooms with her—if I would not permit her to go alone—to see that they were in order for locking up. I consented, and we passed through the other bedrooms and finally entered the dining room. My prisoner passed through it to a pantry between it and the kitchen and, opening a door, looked down a lift used for sending up supplies. Thinking she would attempt to escape through it, I caught her skirt.

She turned toward me and smiled.

"You may take me to the inspector if you choose," she said, "but I am not the person you are after. I am the maid. My mistress just named at the door. She got word of a visit by the police and immediately changed clothes with me. When you came to me she made up for a man, went down on this lift to one of the apartments below and has doubtless passed out through the main entrance. I have been delaying you in order to give her the needed time. Here," pointing to the servant's room, "are her maid's clothes."

I did not take her to the inspector. I went back to him myself and got laughed at.

Some years later I went to arrest the same woman and succeeded. I asked her how she got wind of her intended arrest, and she told me that she happened at the time to be looking out of a window down on the street and saw me posting my men, she having had time to change costumes with the maid.

THE SENSE OF HEARING.

Range of Sound Waves that Impress the Human Ear.

In the sense of hearing numerous problems have interested the experimental psychologist. Among these may be mentioned the range of sounds that can be heard by an individual—that is, the limit both above and below which no sound can be heard. The solution of these two problems, the determination of the upper and lower limit of sound, has occasioned a great deal of careful work and the construction of many forms of apparatus.

For determining the upper limit of sound for any individual—and individuals differ considerably—the Galton whistle is generally used. It consists of a tiny pipe, which is lengthened or shortened by a piston adjusted by a micrometer screw. This little instrument can be regulated to make a tone which is too high for any human ear to hear and which will finally produce only a painful sensation.

The Galton whistle was devised by Francis Galton for his study of individual differences. He had one of the whistles built into the end of his cane, and as he walked through the zoological gardens he would blow it near the ears of the various animals. He adjusted the whistle too high for his own ear to hear, and if the various animals responded to the sound he knew that their upper limit was greater than that of the human ear.

The ordinary human ear can detect a tone whose vibration rate is at least 25,000 vibrations per second, while the whistle will produce 50,000 per second. This upper limit varies with the age of the individual to such an extent that if the upper limit at sixteen years of age were 50,000 vibrations, at sixty years of age it would be about 25,000 per second.—Strand Magazine.

Combination Somersaults of the Expert Swedish Swimmers.

The Swedes delight in "combination diving" and two men will perform many clever feats together. One of the most grotesque of these is when one man stands upright on a springboard and tightly grasps another man's body around the waist, holding him head downward and putting his own head through the man's legs. When the upright man springs from the board he throws his legs into the air so that the two men, clasping each other tightly round the waist, turn a somersault, and when they reach the water the man who started upside down arrives feet foremost.

The handspring dive is a very effective specialty of Swedish swimmers. The performer takes off from the diving board with hands instead of feet, turning his body in order to descend feet foremost or somersaulting to arrive head downward.

Very graceful also is the back dive. In which the spring is made backward, the body turning toward the springboard.

Double somersault dives are made from platforms thirty to fifty feet high the diver making two turns in the air and entering the water feet foremost.—London Saturday Review.

HOW THIS WOMAN FOUND HEALTH

Would not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for All Rest of Medicine in the World.

Utica, Ohio.—"I suffered everything from a female weakness after baby came. I had numb spells and was dizzy, had black spots before my eyes, my back ached and I was so weak I could hardly stand up. My face was yellow, even my fingernails were colorless and I had displacement. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I am stout, well and healthy. I can do all my own work and can walk to town and back and not get tired. I would not give my Vegetable Compound for all the rest of the medicines in the world. I tried doctor's medicines and they did me no good."—Mrs. JARY EARLEWINE, R.F.D. No. 3, Utica, Ohio.

Another Case.

Nebo, Ill.—"I was bothered for ten years with female troubles and the doctors did not help me. I was so weak and nervous that I could not do my work and every month I had to spend a few days in bed. I read so many letters about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound curing female troubles that I got a bottle of it. It did me more good than anything else I ever took and now it has cured me. I feel better than I have for years and tell everybody what the Compound has done for me. I believe I would not be living to-day but for that."—Mrs. HETTY GREENSTREET, Nebo, Illinois.
