The pill-rollers are a good-looking set of men, apparently contented with their lot and prosperous. We venture to say that they do not roll many pills for their own consumption.

Free sugar in three years will constitute a severe blow for the sugar industry in Louisiana, at least that is what the cane growers and the manufacturers say about it. But three years of grace is not half bad.

The sugar people from Louisiana are making it warm for President Wilson, but the President, it is easy to forecast, is not going to be moved by their lamentations. The country is really going to find what tariff revision is like.

An exchange well asks what is so rare as winter in June. Whatever is so rare hardly anything is so uncomfortable. It is getting tolerably plain to our mind that the Gulf Stream has either gone out of business or that its course has been diverted.

Three inches of snow fell in Mitchell county day before yesterday according to a dispatch in the Raleigh News and Observer. This is interesting as showing that when there are all degrees of unreasonable weather on tap North Carolina misses none of them.

North Carolina's million dollar bond issue proposal went begging Wednesday, the day set for opening of bids, proposals for only $154,000 of them being received. The bond market seems to be glutted. It is possible that the money kings have begun their threatened retaliation for alleged unjust legislation.

LITTERING THE STREETS.

The Norfolk Virginian-Pilot says "The Rochester Post-Express delivers a lecture on the street-littering habit which, while addressed to the people of its home city, is more or less applicable to every urban community in the land. The burden of this lecture is that an untidy public means not only more work for the street-cleaning department but increased danger to the public health. How many people asks our contemporary, are given to throwing on the streets or on the walks or grass of the public parks paper, rubbish or any other litter with which they do not wish to be encumbered, without giving so much as a thought to the fact that some one must clean up the ground which they have littered or the rubbish will be scattered here and there by the wind, to the annoyance of all lovers of tidiness and order?"

This paragraph contains a lesson that many of us in all the cities of the land can take home to ourselves, for many are guilty of the thoughtlessness therein treasured. Numberless times has the writer seen people walk along the sidewalk and throw bits of paper carelessly down. It is a very reprehensible practice. If there are no garbage cans in reach it would be better and more considerate to stuff the paper scraps into one's pocket and wait until reaching the waste basket in one's home or office to finally dispose of them. Let all co-operate in keeping the streets clean and also in keeping down the expense of cleaning by the city. For if the multitudes in the city do not litter the streets they will not have to pay the necessary additional tax to clean them.

A PRETTY KETTLE OF FISH.

A dispatch from Washington tells how the government printing office and the Postoffice Department have been helping in the fight against free sugar through the use of the Congressional frank. The latter is one of the most abused of the institutions of this country. It ought to be eliminated entirely. With the Congressional frank and free seed out of the way one cent postage with an enlargement of the parcel post would no doubt be possible and at the same time, such disagreeable affairs as that described in the dispatch from Washington which we have quoted would be rendered impossible of occurrence.

Think of the government fostering a great big industry and at the same time stalling the expense of a campaign in favor of a continuation of governmental protection for it!

TAKING THEM BY SURPRISE.

The President's habit of calling on Senators whenever has had one definite effect. It has shown that Senators do not take themselves or their duties as seriously as President Wilson takes himself and his work. Through the chief executive made one of his "swoops" down on the capitol expecting to get the chance to talk to about twenty Senators at one time—an undertaking which is several times better than the much extolled achievement of killing two birds with a single stone. But did he find twenty Senators on the job? Far from it. Only a paltry six would be gotten together. By the time the Doctor finishes his term he will have demonstrated his belief in the theory that the holding of political office is a public trust rather than a private snap. And it is possible too that one reason for these unexpected visits to the capitol is that the President wants to find out which Senators are working at the job and which are loafing on it.

Those who thought that the job secured by Maj. Hale of Fayetteville, namely, that of minister to Costa Rica, was just a sort of an "excuse" to let the candidate down easy want to look a little further before reaching a conclusion. It pays ten thousand a year with two thousand for a private secretary. But the Major is a Democratic war-horse of the Wilson type and is entitled to something good.

There's a lesson for the English suffragettes in the way women of the State of Illinois secured the right to vote. It was done by argument and persuasion. No woman threw herself in front of a bunch of running and rearing horses. No houses were burned or show windows burst in. Any fair-minded observer will certainly admit that the American species of the apostle of "votes for women" is far and away ahead of their English sister.

CONGRESSIONAL INVESTIGATIONS.

Congress could get through with the tariff sooner if it did not have to stop and do so much investigating. But it appears that all the investigations necessary. The best governed cities nowadays are those whose commissioners, charged with legislative as well as executive powers, give all their time year in and year out to the discharge of their duties. It may come to pass in this country that the Congress will have to be in session all the time. Undoubtedly the more complex a civilization becomes the more extensive becomes the duties and responsibilities of the government and government supervision is always liable to merge into government control. Congress is attempting to do a lot of things, but they are all things which should not go undone.

AN ESTABLISHED REFORM.

Judge Allen thinks that prohibition is established in North Carolina, and that is the way it looks to a great many other people. Many of our people think it is very unjust that Virginia cities should get the business that prohibition in North Carolina gives them, but prohibition sentiment is gaining all the time in Virginia and it will not be long before "State-wide" will win out in Virginia as it has done in this State. The same thing is true of Maryland and if any one says that prohibition can never come to a pass in a State with a Baltimore in it he can be reminded that it was claimed that it was bosh to think that North Carolina with its Wilmington and Salisbury could ever stand for such a thing. But see what has happened. The tide of public sentiment against the legalized manufacture and sale of intoxicating drink is rising higher and higher all the while. This is admitted even by some of those who believe that the best solution of the problem is in high license rather than in prohibition.

RAISING "EATS" AT HOME.

The always interesting Wilmington Star never grows so interesting and eloquent as when discussing the subject of "eats" and the special phase of the subject that draws out the best and the most enthusiastic utterances of the Star is the raising of more food products in the South. It inquires in yesterday's issue: "Shall we continue to pay high prices for Northern potatoes and Western beef, pork, mutton, butter and meal, when we could produce our own supplies and keep our money at home? If it costs us no more to raise our own supplies than we can get them elsewhere, it would pay us to do our own producing. Nevertheless, we can raise our own supplies a great deal cheaper than we can buy them. Are we going to do it?"

The occasion of this and similar remarks of the Star was the statement of the Maxton Scottish Chief that Irish potatoes were selling at 16 1/2 cents per bushel in Chicago whereas in Maxton they are bringing forty cents a peck. The Star thinks the Maxton paper in error as to the price of potatoes in Chicago unless that paper got its figures at a time when the market was glutted and commission men were eager to get rid of stock before it spoiled. However that may be, it is safe to assume, we believe, that it is cheaper to raise potatoes at home than it is to pay for potatoes raised in other States and pay in addition a profit to the grower, the middle man and the local dealer. The ready money that cotton and tobacco yield the grower is a very attractive thing, but feeding the masses just as the present writing seems to promise more to the farmer than clothing them or ministering to their appetite for tobacco.

In the death of Mrs. Person North Carolina has lost one of the most brilliant and remarkable women that ever dwelt within her borders.

OBITUARY NOTICE.

Annie V. McCabe, of North Harlowe N. C., after having the services of Dr. Wm. Mann of New Bern, N. C., and Dr. C. N. Mason of Harlowe, N. C., for several days, died with typhoid fever at her home at North Harlowe, N. C., at 6 a. m. May 21, 1913. She was 19 years old, joined the Pilgrims Rest Christian Church at North Harlowe, N. C., when she was 13 years old. She lived a Christian life to death, she was financial secretary of the Sunday school at her church and financial secretary in her lodge. She leaves to mourn her loss a father and a mother, C. A. and E. A. McCabe; one sister, C. J. Becton; three brothers, C. E., E. E. and W. J.; and a host of relatives and friends.

And our beloved have departed, While we tarry, broken hearted, In the dreary, empty house. They have ended life's brief story, They have reached their home of glory, Over death victorious.

Hush that sobbing, weep more lightly, On we travel, daily, nightly, To the rest that they have found. Are we not upon the river, Sailing fast, to meet forever On more holy, happy ground?

Every hour that passes over us Speaks of comfort yet before us Of our journey's rapid rate; And like passing vapor bells, The clock of time its chiming tells At eternity's gate.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

WHITE OAK RIVER

"Observer" Writes Showing Why Stream Should Be Improved. Maysville, N. C., June 12.

Editor Journal:

A few days ago an article appeared in your paper written by your correspondent announcing that a gold medal would be given for the best essay on why White Oak river should be made navigable from Swansboro to Maysville. The correspondent also stated that Maysville would probably be visited by three distinguished North Carolina officials, representing the Federal government from Washington. We are especially glad to know that some action has already begun to encourage this improvement on White Oak river. Jones, Onslow and Carteret counties are so situated that any improvement that could be made on this river would be of equal benefit to all of them, for this reason, if no other, these counties should use every available means to secure this important project. We are a loyal people down here in Eastern North Carolina, and have always been true to the cause of economy, but we have been lacking in improvements from the United States government. We have not had our share of appropriations. Especially Onslow and Jones counties.

There are several reasons why this river should be made navigable, but from a commercial standpoint we are asking the assistance. From Swansboro to Maysville there is one of the best farming sections that we have, a distance of about twenty miles. No railroad and very poor water transportation makes it necessary for these farmers to haul over land nearly all their farm products. With water transportation, these farmers could almost double their yield and profits in a short time. Thousands of acres of land now so far from transportation facilities could be improved and made very profitable.

The shipping now on White Oak river is very small, but it is not because of the lack of population along its banks neither is it because of the scarcity of traffic. In a few years with fair water transportation trade would be wonderfully increased. These counties, now so far behind the average counties of this State in wealth and resources, would soon be classed with the average county. Not until the essential improvements are made can we ever hope to arrive even at this average.

The opportunity is before you. These distinguished men from Washington have promised to come down and see for themselves what we need. Let's get busy and arouse all the support possible. They can do nothing without your support. Let them know what we need, why we need, and how we need White Oak river made navigable from Swansboro to Maysville.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hildard left yesterday morning for a short visit at Wilmington.

Wanted to purchase a small or moderate-sized farm. Preferred on Trent river. Give short description and lowest price in first letter. Address F. A. R., care of the Journal.

I had kidney trouble for a long time and was caused much annoyance by a frequent desire to pass the kidney secretions. There was also lameness through the small of my back that on some occasions made it hard for me to attend to my work. I used many remedies but the benefit I obtained was only temporary. I finally got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and soon after using them, I was cured."
