TAKE PLENTY OF TIME TO EAT
There is a saying that "rapid eating is slow suicide." If you have formed the habit of eating too rapidly you are most likely suffering from indigestion or constipation, which will result eventually in serious illness unless corrected. Digestion begins in the mouth. Food should be thoroughly masticated and insalivated. Then when you have a fullness of the stomach or feel dull and stupid after eating, take one of Chamberlain's Tablets. Many severe cases of stomach trouble and constipation have been cured by the use of these tablets. They are easy to take and most agreeable in effect. Sold by all dealers. (Adv.)

A woman married to a "good fellow" usually has a bad time of it.

STOMACH TROUBLE.
Many remarkable cures of stomach troubles have been effected by Chamberlain's Tablets. One man who had spent over two thousand dollars for medicine and treatment was cured by a few boxes of these tablets. Price, 25 cents. For sale by all dealers. (Adv.)

The rank and file will never understand why currency and tariff are more important than the pie and plums.

SORE NIPPLES.
Any mother who has had experience with this distressing ailment will be pleased to know that a cure may be effected by applying Chamberlain's Salve as soon as the child is done nursing. Wipe it off with a soft cloth before allowing the babe to nurse. Many trained nurses use this salve with best results. For sale by all dealers. (Adv.)

It must be said, however, of Secretary "Joe" Tumulty that he was one man who got his job before becoming an L.L.D.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COLIC, CHOLERA AND DIARRHOEA REMEDY
Every family without exception should keep this preparation at hand during the hot weather of the summer months. It has no superior for the purposes for which it is intended. Buy it now. For sale by all dealers.

THIEVES DIVIDE WITH POLICEMEN

Wholesale and Auction Men Implicated in Operations Running into Millions.

SENSATIONAL DISCLOSURES

Much of the Stolen Merchandise Shipped Away—Some Sold To Auctioneers.

New York, June 25.—Revelations even more amazing than those contained in his original affidavit were made by Isadore Rader, Brooklyn merchant and east side "Fagin," in a supplementary confession which he dictated to Assistant District Attorney Morris Moskowitz. He revealed in the fullest details the operations of the secret alliance between the police and the criminals of the underworld.

Detectives who did not figure in the sworn statement made by Rader in Judge Swann's chambers last Friday were implicated, and the identity of a score of wholesale merchants and auctioneers who, Rader swears, disposed of stolen merchandise aggregating millions annually was made known. Robert H. Fuller, Secretary of the Merchants' Association, and Assistant Attorney Moskowitz estimated that merchandise valued at $5,000,000 is stolen in New York every year. Rader agreed that the estimate is not exaggerated.

Here are some of Rader's sensational disclosures: "Two of the richest fences in New York maintain a clearing house in Attorney street under the guise of a candy shop, within a few steps of the Clinton street police station.

"Much of the stolen merchandise was disposed of to wholesaler jobbers, who shipped the goods to the West and South, while a great deal of the loot was disposed of to auctioneers, who usually paid me from ten to twenty cents on the dollar for the stuff.

"There were few transactions on which the police did not receive their commission. Sometimes they were allowed to get their 'honest graft' by returning stolen property which I could not safely dispose of and get the reward money on a fifty-fifty basis.

"I was in business for ten years, but did not operate on such a big scale until a year ago. If it hadn't been for my father's religious scruples, I would be a millionaire now.

"Some of our richest hauls were made on the docks. We were in a position to operate on a big scale there, because many of the watchmen and gatemen were in league with us.

"I paid boys from $25 to $50 each for the trucks brought in loaded with merchandise. They were always 'broke' however, for in our place at Rivington and Columbia streets we ran a big crap game, where they lost their money. Those who won at the crap game were robbed before they got out by pickpockets, who held out their percentage and turned over what was left to me to be divided between the police and myself."

District Attorney Whitman will send out detectives to bring in all of the criminals named in Rader's confession. It is said that the "Master Fagin" has supplied the District Attorney with the names of all the big "fences" in New York. One of these men is said to be the brother of an alderman. He too, according to Rader, has paid thousands of dollars for police protection.

When he learned that strong pressure was being brought to bear on Rader to have him repudiate the confession to Judge Swann and Mr. Moskowitz, Mr. Whitman had Rader brought from the Tombs to his office. "What about this report that you are going to repudiate your sworn confession?" Mr. Moskowitz asked. "Nothing in it," replied Rader. "I'm going to stand pat, and there is lots more I will tell you."

After Rader had been returned to his cell, Mr. Moskowitz had the supplementary confession typewritten. There were twenty pages. Besides wholesale merchants, auctioneers and employees of railroads and steamship companies, he mentioned lawyers who he said had acted as go-betweens in the return of stolen merchandise.

Relating his experience with one detective to whom he swore he had paid thousands of dollars, Rader said that his first experience with this policeman was when Joseph Schwartz, one of his pupils, had stolen a truck load of furs valued at $10,000. In trying to dispose of the goods, Rader said he was trapped by a "stool-pigeon" who was employed by this detective, and paid $150 through his wife to escape arrest.

Here Rader gave information concerning his two chief competitors. One was the place near the Clinton street police station while the other was maintained in the Ludlow Street Jail. If the police pressed the man at the latter place to the street, Rader said, he stored his goods elsewhere until he could slip them to other cities or sell them to the syndicate of merchants and auctioneers.

Describing the headquarters of the "fence" near the Ludlow Street Jail, Rader continued: "This fellow has a flat blacked on one side where the street is a sidewalk in order to get to it you have to use an elevator. There is an exit from it in the roof. Sometimes $100,000 worth of goods were stored in that loft."

ADMIRAL DEWEY URGES BIG NAVY

DECLARES NATION IS PAYING DEARLY FOR ANCESTORS' LACK OF FORESIGHT.

Washington, June 25.—An adequate American navy means a fleet second only to that of Great Britain, and "inadequacy is an invitation to war," in the opinion of Admiral Dewey, ranking naval officer of the United States.

In an article written for the program for Navy Day at Newport, R. I., July 2, the Admiral says: "I believe it is the duty of each generation to pay its own insurance and not to thrust its burdens on the generations that come after; and the insurance for peace is a navy strong enough to compel it."

"The only function and justification for the existence of a navy is the preservation of peace. To perform this function the navy must be adequate; and, though so much discussed in these recent times, the word 'adequate,' as applied to the navy, has but one meaning, and that is an 'adequate navy' is a navy of sufficient strength to meet and defeat any probable enemy. This strength is not absolute, but is relative and varies from period to period, as the other naval powers of the world vary their naval strength. At the present period 'adequacy' on our part calls for a navy second in strength to that of England only.

"We ourselves, through lack of foresight of our fathers and grandfathers, paid the penalty of our generation in the loss of hundreds of thousands of lives, and our sons and grandsons have been paying the cost of the billions of dollars wasted and the hundreds of millions in pensions for which they were mortgaged; and they still continue to pay.

"We are paying to-day for the navy as an insurance which does not insure us, roughly, $1.50 per capita per annum. Besides what has already been paid in lives and money, we are still mortgaged, by lack of foresight in our fathers, to the extent of the national debt and the additional $1.80 per capita per annum that we are paying in pensions.

"Shall our lack of foresight continue this system of mortgaging the coming generations, or shall we add the relatively small sum needed to the insufficient insurance we already pay to make that insurance adequate?"
