

ALABAMA BISHOP DEDICATES CHURCH

Methodists Of Oriental Are Now Occupying Handsome New House Of Worship.

MONEY RAISED TO MEET DEBT
Dedication Services Attended By Huge Congregation—Special Train From New Bern.

(Special to the Journal.)
Oriental, Aug. 11.—With impressive ceremonies the modern new brick Methodist church at this place was dedicated yesterday. Bishop J. H. McCoy, of Birmingham, Alabama, delivering the dedicatory address which was heard by about six hundred persons.

In June, 1911, the congregation of the church decided that the house of worship at that time in use was too small for their needs and after conferring among themselves took up the task of erecting a new edifice. The work was started during the latter part of that month and was pushed forward as rapidly as possible. Rev. Walter Patten, the beloved pastor, has devoted his every effort to complete this church and to him is due much of the credit.

In his sermon Sunday, Bishop McCoy paid a glowing tribute to the faithful congregation when he said that never before had he seen such a determination to secure a new church exhibited by a congregation. His sermon was interesting and inspiring and was thoroughly enjoyed.

A special train was operated between New Bern and this place and many visitors came in on this while others came in conveyances from all parts of the county to attend the dedication. Three thousand dollars remained unpaid on the church and before the close of the service this was subscribed.

The citizens of Oriental had made elaborate arrangements for the entertainment of the visitors and at the close of the service a sumptuous dinner was served to all on the church grounds. There was a sufficient quantity of good things to eat to supply all and much was left untraced after the last guest had departed. The weather was ideal and this tended to make the day delightful in every respect for all.

WANT TO KNOW WHERE CASTRO IS

State Department Harassed By The Actions Of This Trouble Maker.

SUPPOSED TO BE AT COROS
Known To Have Landed In Venezuela About Two Weeks Ago.

Washington, Aug. 13.—Again the question, "Where is Castro?" is harassing the State Department. It was learned today that the United States government has no direct information that Castro really is in Venezuela leading the revolution against the Gomez administration. Castro, it has been reported, landed at Venezuela to take charge of the revolution, and a proclamation soon after was issued purporting to come from him, calling on the people of the country to rally behind the veteran revolutionist, against the "tyrannical" Gomez. It developed today, however, that all the information the State Department has received from Venezuela, is regard to the landing of Castro, as well as to the actions which could be directly attributed to him, has been of an unofficial character, and that so far as official reports are concerned it has no account of the movements of Castro for the past two weeks.

Castro is supposed to be at Coros, on the west coast of Venezuela, which is the most important place now in possession of the revolutionists. Coros is out of telegraphic communication with the rest of Venezuela, and has no connection with the cable, which runs along the South American coast, whereby to communicate with the United States. The revolutionists are said to have seized the town and the telegraph wires. The State department knows that Castro is not in Venezuela, since he is in Coros, and officials here are waiting on the developments as to whether he is there, or the revolution is limited to his name without his presence.

BUSY IN TOBACCO.

Askin People Getting The Weed Ready For Market.

(Special to the Journal.)
Askin, Aug. 11.—The people here are very busy getting the tobacco ready for the market, and are having fine weather to far.

Mr. F. P. Gaskins and daughter Mr. Tunstall, of Edwards were at Askin Sunday.

Miss Mannie Hill and some of her friends were at Blue Spring Sunday. There will be another picnic at Blue Springs September 11; all are invited to come and bring well filled baskets. Those who haven't seen the spring have missed something great. It runs 37 gallons of water a minute.

The people at Askin are glad that the local freight is running on account of baggage and for other reasons. The railroad company will be asked for a stop about 200 yards from the spring on picnic day, Thursday, September 11.

NEW METHOD FOR UPKEEP OF ROADS

LIKELY BE DONE IN SMALL SECTIONS BY MEN OF THE NEIGHBORHOOD.

It is expected that at the next meeting a new method of keeping up the roads will be adopted by the Board of Commissioners of Craven county. This will be to have the work done in small sections by the men living along those sections.

Bids will be advertised for the work to be done according to specifications to be furnished by the county road engineer. After the work is done it will be inspected by the engineer and payment will not be made until he accepts it.

The new plan is expected to prove economical and effective and, if permanently adopted as the policy of the county, is expected to result in a notable improvement of the roads.

Bangert on a warrant charging him with a secret assault. Probable cause was found and the defendant was bound over to the next term of Craven county Superior Court under a bond of one hundred dollars.

MILITANCY IN SAN FRANCISCO.

Women Make War On Nose Bags For Horses Down Town.

San Francisco, Aug. 13.—A taste of feminine militancy was given to the people of San Francisco when four women started a crusade against nose bags for horses.

Inevitably the business district, they hunted out horses that were feeding from the customary canvas bags, and, without ceremony and despite protests from teamsters, hurried into the gutter all the feed bags they could find. The crusaders were members of the Animal's Friend Society, which is opposed to nose bags.

After they had scattered nose bags and oats in several streets, the women sought out Postmaster Arthur Fisk and protested against the long hours and hard work to which the horses in the postal service are subjected. Postmaster Fisk suggested that the society use its good offices toward procuring 10 more horses for the postoffice.

Martha Blumkin, a decorated war widow, who has been confined to her home since the death of her husband, is the only woman in the city who has been awarded the Congressional Gold Medal.

BIG CELEBRATION ON LABOR DAY

Thrilling Tests Of Speed Will Be Held At The Eastern Carolina Fair Grounds.

VISITORS FROM FAR AND NEAR
Line Of Boats Will Be Operated From The City To The Grounds.

Labor Day, September 1, will be a memorable occasion in New Bern, and from far and near there will be visitors to participate in the festivities to be held at that time.

The chief attraction of the day will be the motorcycle and horse races to be held at the Fair grounds. On the fourth of last July a similar event took place and several thousand persons were on hand to witness the tests of speed.

The approaching races will be even more thrilling than those held on the birthday of American independence. There will be three classes of horse racing. A free for all, a race for the steeds in the three minute class and another for the horses with a record of two twenty-eight. There will be a number of entries in each of these races and no lover of this sport will miss the opportunity of being present.

There will be two motorcycle races of five miles each. The first will be the race in which only one cylinder machines will be allowed while in the second, machines of two or more cylinders can participate. Motorcycle racing is always exciting. There is not a second during the time of the race that the riders are not in the greatest danger and only their remarkable control saves them from accidents.

There will be enough room in the grandstand for each person. Since the last races were held the grandstand has been almost doubled in size and naturally its capacity has been doubled. Steps have been erected in the rear part of the structure instead of at the ends and there will be no place where a person can stand in front of those who have seats.

A line of boats will be operated between this city and the Fair grounds and this will afford ample transportation facilities for all.

SOUTH ATLANTIC STATES IN FOR A PERIOD OF SWELLING HEAT.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—The Weather Bureau issues the following forecast for the week:

"The distribution of atmospheric pressure over the American Continent and the adjacent oceans is such as to indicate temperatures below the normal during the week in the Northwestern States and on the Pacific Slope; high temperatures the first half of the week in the Southern Plains States and the lower Mississippi Valley; followed by lower temperatures in these regions Thursday or Friday; warm weather during the week in the Gulf and South Atlantic States; moderate temperatures in first half of week in the region of the Great Lakes, the upper Ohio Valley and the middle Atlantic and New England States will be followed by warmer in these regions after Wednesday. In the region of drought, namely the middle Mississippi Valley and the middle and southern Plains States, temperatures will continue high during the first half of the week, while during the latter half of the week the weather in these districts will become cooler with a probability of well-distributed showers. The precipitation during the week will be fairly well distributed. There are no indications at the present time of a disturbance in the West Indies.

CONFISCATED INTOXICANTS NOW IN COUNTY JAIL.

The whiskey and beer which was confiscated when the police raided the yacht Grace last Thursday afternoon, was yesterday removed from the City Hall, where it had been held since taken from the vessel, to the county jail where it will be held until the next term of Craven county Superior Court. There are more than a thousand bottles of beer and twenty-five or thirty gallons of whiskey in the lot.

MAY BE NAMED FOR HIGH HONOR

Dr. Kinsolving, Of Baltimore, Mentioned For Presidency Of Episcopal House Of Deputies.

MEET IN GOTHAM IN OCTOBER
Friends Would Be Disposed To Work Hard For Him, Should He Get In The Race.

Baltimore, Aug. 12.—While no organized effort has been made to enlist support in the Maryland Diocese for Rev. Dr. Arthur B. Kinsolving, rector of Old St. Paul's Church, who has been mentioned as one of the possible candidates for the position of president of the House of Deputies in the General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church, the fact that he is being considered is interesting to his friends here.

The convention will be held in New York in October, and it is thought that the president of the house will be informally selected before the delegates reach the convention city. Dr. Kinsolving was formerly the rector of Christ Church, Brooklyn, and is well known among the clergy of the New York Diocese and others in the North.

Thus far, the contests appears to be between Rev. William T. Manning, rector of Trinity Church, New York, and Rev. Dr. Alexander Mann, rector of Trinity Church, Boston, formerly the church of Bishop Phillip Brooks.

Churchmen in Baltimore recognize the fact that Rev. Dr. Randolph H. McKim, of Washington, who served in 1904, 1907, and 1910 as president of the house, could again be elected if he desired the honor, but Dr. McKim wants to make a fight against a change in the name of the church, and to do this successfully he thinks that he should be upon the list of the house and not the presiding officer.

It has been customary to elect a clergyman to the Presidency, and Rev. Dr. Morgan Dix, of New York, served in that capacity in all the conventions from 1886 to 1898.

Besides the persons mentioned the following have been spoken of in connection with the office of president: Rev. J. Howard Melvin, of Brooklyn; Rev. J. H. McVaine, Pittsburgh; Rev. Dr. James Freeman, Minneapolis; Rev. Robert S. Couplan, of New Orleans, formerly of Baltimore; Rev. Dr. Floyd W. Tomkins, of Philadelphia, but well known and popular in Baltimore; Rev. Frank Du Moulin and Rev. Dr. W. A. R. Goodwin.

Dr. Kinsolving is spending the summer in Rhode Island. His friends would be disposed to work hard for his candidacy if he declared himself in the race.

PICNIC AT MERRITT.

(Special to the Journal.)
Merritt, Aug. 11.—The annual picnic was held here last Friday and the event was a complete success in every detail. There were about five hundred present during the day, coming from all parts of the county.

NEGRO PAWNED STOLEN "BIKE"

LOCAL DRUG FIRM LOCATE AND RECOVER BICYCLE STOLEN LAST THURSDAY.

A bicycle owned by the Wood-Lane Drug Company was stolen from in front of their store late last Thursday night. Mr. Walter Lane, one of the members of the firm, notified the police of the theft on the following day and they made a search for the missing "bike" but failed to locate it.

On Saturday the subject of the stolen bicycle was brought up while several patrons were in the store and after Mr. Lane had told of the affair, a travelling salesman who had spent the previous day in Pollockville told him that while in that town he saw a negro pawn a bicycle to George Duval for two dollars and that the bicycle answered the description of the one stolen.

The drug store proprietors called Mr. Duval over the long distance telephone and the latter told them that a negro, who gave his name as William Johnson, had pawned the wheel to him for two dollars, and that he would at once return it as it answered in every detail the description of the one stolen here. The wheel was brought to New Bern yesterday and it proved to be the one stolen. Mr. Duval was reimbursed for the two dollars he had invested in the bicycle.

WIDOW WILL BE HEAD OF RAILROAD

Trained For Four Years In Railway Work By Her Husband.

CAN EASILY HANDLE TASK
Intends To Develop Line So It Will Be Of Great Value.

Atlanta, Aug. 12.—Trained by her husband during his four years of invalidism in all the intricacies of the many business in which he was interested, Mrs. Cora Williams, widow of Capt. Jesse P. Williams is now prepared to carry on the work.

By the recent death of Capt. Williams who so far as was known left no will, Mrs. Williams comes into possession of a property reputed to be worth $10,000,000.

This includes $2,200,000 worth of bonds in the Georgia, Florida and Alabama Railroad, a 200-mile interstate line and 90 per cent. of its stock, together with 250,000 acres of rich farming and timber lands in South Georgia and Florida and numerous other investments.

Capt. Williams' interests were chiefly centered in his railroad and it was to keep this that he insisted on his wife acquiring a thorough knowledge of all details of railroad work.

Knowing her husband's wishes and policies, she, with her faithful lieutenants, carried them out. It is the belief of her close friends that it is her purpose to handle the large properties just as Capt. Williams would have done so, in other words, to continue to carry out his wishes, and especially, to so direct the railroad that it shall steadily grow to be a stronger factor in the development of southwest Georgia and West Florida.

Just a few weeks before his death an old friend asked Capt. Williams the secret of his successful business career. "Through investigation," he replied. "Making money is easy if you carefully examine the propositions which will come up all the time in the course of business."

His motto, "Investigate," he instilled into his wife and her management has been highly successful, and she has been made up to the responsibility devolving on her.

Capt. Williams was a unique character. At the age of twenty-three he was penniless; at seventy, worth ten million. Many men who stuck to him made big fortunes, three men making fortunes of from half a million to millions; all who forsook him failed.

He built up his wealth in the naval stores business and when there came a time that alleged friends forced him out but at his own price, his business was appraised at $3,400,000. "There will come a time when you will need me," he told them. Not long after that the naval stores business in the South faced bankruptcy.

When he decided to extend his railroad Capt. Hanson, then President of the Central of Georgia, was wroth. "Build your road beyond its present terminal and I will break you," he threatened. Capt. Williams built and Hanson's threat was proven vain. At the next meeting of the directors of the railroad it is understood she will be elected President.

REMARKABLE DOCUMENT.

Charles Lounsbury, Poor and Insane Leaves a Beautiful Will.

From the New York Times, Justice Wallace Lloyd Smith, who presides over the third department of Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, brought with him to the dinner of the New York University Law School Alumni Association Saturday night, what he said was the most remarkable document that ever came into his possession. Others who read the document the last will and testament of Charles Lounsbury, who died in the Cook County Asylum, ay Dunning, Ill., were disposed to agree with him. Here it is:

"I, Charles Lounsbury, being of sound mind and disposing memory, do hereby make and publish this, my last, will and testament, in order to justify as may be to distribute my interest in the world among succeeding men.

"That part of my interest which is known in law and recognized in the sheep-bound volumes as my property, being inconsiderable and of no account, I make no disposal of in this my will.

"My right to live being but a life estate, is not at my disposal, but, these things excepted, all else in the world I now proceed to devise and bequeath:

"Item: I give to good fathers and mothers, in trust for their children, all good little words of praise and encouragement, and all quaint pet names and endearments and I charge said parents to use them justly and generously, as the needs of their children may require.

"Item: I leave to children inclusively but only for the term of their childhood, and all every, the flowers of the fields and the blossoms of the woods, with the right to play among them freely according to the customs of children, warning them at the same time against thistles and thorns. And I devise to children the banks of the brooks, and the golden sands beneath the waters thereof, and the odors of the willows and dip therein, and the white clouds that float high over the giant trees. And I leave the children the long, long days to be merry in, in a thousand ways, and the night and the moon and the train of the Milky Way to wonder at, but a subject, nevertheless, to the rights hereinafter given to lovers.

"Item: I devise to boys jointly all the useful idle fields and commons where ball may be played; all pleasant waters, where one may swim; all snow-lad hills where one may coast, and all streams and ponds where one may fish, or where, when grim winter comes, one may skate; to have and to hold the same for the period of their boyhood. And all the meadows with the clover blossoms and butterflies thereof, the woods and their appurtenances, the squirrels and birds, and echoes of the strange noises, and all distant places which may be visited, together with the adventures there found. And I give to said boys each his own place at the fire-side at night, with all pictures that may be seen in the burning wood, to enjoy without let or hindrance and without any incumbrance of care.

"Item: To lovers, I devise their imaginary world, with whatever they may need, as the stars of the sky, the red roses by the wall, the bloom of the Hawthorn, the sweet strains of music, and taught else by which they may desire to figure to each other the lastingness and beauty of their love.

"Item: To young men jointly I devise and bequeath all boisterous, inspiring sports of rivalry, and I give to them the disdain of weakness and undaunted confidence in their own strength, though they are rude; I give them the power to make lasting friendships, and of possessing companions, and to them exclusively I give all merry songs and brave choruses, to sing with lusty voices.

"Item: And to those who are no longer children or youths or lovers. I leave memory, and I bequeath to them the volumes of the poems of Burns and Shakespeare and of other poets, if there be others, to the end that they may live over the old days again, freely and fully, without tithes or diminution.

"Item: To our loved ones with snowy crowns I bequeath the happiness of old age, the love and gratitude of their children until they fall asleep."

WILL INVITE FIREMEN TO ATTEND FAIR.

J. Leon Williams, secretary of the Eastern Carolina Fair Association, will attend the Firemen's Tournament in Wilmington this week and invite all the companies there to attend the Fair next fall on "Firemen's Day," which will fall on Friday of Fair week. On that day there will be a number of events in which the fire fighters will take the leading part and the directors of the Fair Association Company want every fire company in this section of the State to participate.

The finishing touches are now being added to the Eubanks building which has recently been erected on the South-west corner of Broad and Middle streets. This building will, at an early date, be occupied by a drug store, to be conducted by E. D. Brubaker.

SEEKING TO CURE CIGARETTE USERS

Clinic In Chicago For Those Who Find They Can't Stop Smoking Cigarettes.

Colleges Declared To Be The Hotbed Of The Cigarette Habit—Women Easiest Prey.

Chicago, Aug. 12. That the cigarette habit, once it is started fastens its grip more strongly on women than on men was the opinion expressed here today by Lucy Page Gaston, foe of the "paper pill" and superintendent of the Anti-Cigarette League of America.

Since Miss Gaston's free clinic for the cure of those addicted to the "makings" and the "tailor made" was opened a week ago she has been keeping a close record of the average ages of those who appear for treatment and of their sex and station in life. Fully fifteen per cent. of those who have asked medical aid either in person or by mail are women, and this, she says, shows that a larger percentage of the fair sex than of men are sorry they started the habit.

"Maybe it is because women have a weaker will power than men or maybe it is because they are more changeable of mind," said Miss Gaston. "Anyway, I am surprised at the large number of women who have written me heart-rending letters asking for the slightest encouragement, that they might be able to sever the bonds which hold them slaves to the cigarette habit. And the appeals I get are not from the lower class of women but from those of intelligence.

"One woman whose husband is a prominent Canadian, possessor of a title, and who moves in the most exclusive society, has written for the cure. She contracted the habit unknown to her husband. I was astonished to find that some of the women have been using cigarettes for twenty years. This is remarkable, considering the fact that the habit among women in society is a fad of practically recent origin.

"Actresses seem to be in the majority of women patients. Some reported that they wanted to quit because smoking was impairing their singing and speaking voices. Married women also seem to be in the majority of those who apply for treatment. One of the most pitiful appeals was from a young married woman who said that the cigarette habit had almost disrupted her home.

"This is not a crusade for the messenger boy. It is being conducted in the interests of rich and poor alike, and many prominent business men have brought their sons to us with tears in their eyes. The average age of those who come for treatment is twenty-four years. The oldest who applied was a man of fifty and the youngest a boy of four. The women range from seventeen to forty years of age.

"I have promised not to disclose the names of those who come to us, but Dr. D. H. Kress, in charge of the clinic, keeps a close record of the pulse, blood-pressure, heart action and history of all cases that come to him.

"In the fall I shall open clinics in other cities and shall start a crusade in the colleges. They are the hotbed of the cigarette habit. Manufacturers of cigarettes have admitted that their sales are proportionally large in college towns and professors have compiled statistics showing the injury which the habit inflicts upon students. Many a boy smokes his first cigarette in a college because the home influence is lacking. If we can reach the college students we can put the cigarette out of business—and we are going to reach them."

Miss Gaston administers the treatment through Dr. D. H. Hess, who is connected with the society and as enthusiastic as she.

The treatment consists of a solution of one-eighth of 1 per cent. of silver nitrate used as a mouth wash and a dietary program. The mouth wash is used after meals for the first two or three days. If the patient smokes during this treatment he becomes nauseated.

Dr. Hess declares that the silver nitrate solution which he gives as a mouth wash is not so important to permanent cure as the patient's will power and a special diet. This diet consists of fruits for the first three days and a light vegetable diet for a week, together with a few cereals and milk. Coffee, tea, highly seasoned and spiced foods and meats in large quantities are to be avoided.

A large majority of the patients have agreed to attend the "get together" dinner to be held Monday, Aug. 13, at which all will tell their experiences. A number of women will be among those to testify to the benefits of the treatment.
