It is to be regretted that so many new-papers are printing the details of the Diggs-Caminetti case. There is undoubredly on the part of newspaper readers a morbid appetite for that sort of thing, but newspaper managers ought not to cater to such appetite For them to abstain from doing so little, but who wants to make a livelihood selling filth?

HUERTA'S ULTIMATUM.

General Huerta: who claims to be the ad of affairs in the republic of Mexico, otified this government Monday that he wants no friendly mediation, and that unless his government was recognized by last midnight all relations with this country would be severed.

There is no record of his government having been recognized, so presumably it's all off. What Washington will do has not been decided. With characterstic prudence President Wilson is taking time to weigh difficult and trying questions carefully and to get the advice of the Senate as well as ascertain how public opinion will align itself.

Of course this delay is not to give pportunity to decide whether or not Huerta shall be recognized. That has been settled already. The problems that will be considered now are whether to permit both factions in Mexico to import arms from this country or neither faction as now and what course to pursue with respect to endangered American lives and property in Mexico. night reduce the income of their sheets Both of these questions will receive the careful deliberation the Wilson dministration gives to everything that it passes upon.

Meanwhile the bold and defidat attitude of General Huerta will command attention. That there is a certain shrewdness in the course that he has taken is not to be doubted He believes, or at least hopes, that government will eventually recognize him. But he is reckoning beyond his host. In the Presidential chair in Washington there is a man who can be every whit as firm as Huerta and there is hardly the remotest possibility that President Wilson will abandon his position that this government cannot afford to recognize a government with beginnings like those of the Huerta

THE BANANA TARIFF.

It would appear that much sympathy has been wasted on the banana con sumers of the country on account of the proposed tariff of a tenth of a cent a pound. It has been charged that such an increase will mean an advance in price to consumers of five cents a dozen. It is inconceivable get away will not be so regrettable. We have no idea that the increase will be anything like that much. As for the is somewhat Thaw-sick, though it truit being so nutritious and digestible, has to be admitted that his latest exploit had enough of the daring and dramatic in it to lift it, in point of interest, quite above the common run of Thaw stuff that has been dished out millions materially.

Unfortunately Thaw's escape simply meant more Thaw. He was recaptured in Canada and now there will be an interminable quantity of title of an informing and suggestive good newspaper space used up in recounting the struggle for an against extradition. Just suppose all the time that will be spent in reading and talking about Thaw were spent on some important undertaking.
