

The Best Pain Killer.
Ruckles' Ankle Salve when applied to a cut, bruise, sprain, burn or scald, or other injury of the skin will immediately remove all pain. E. E. Chamberlain of Clinton, Me., says: "It relieves cuts and other injuries of the skin. As a healing remedy its equal don't exist." Will do good for you. Only 25c. at all druggists. (Adv.)

Mayor Gaynor is going to run as an independent and is sure of one vote.

Suffered Eczema Fifty Years—Now Well.

Seems a long time to endure the awful burning, itching, smarting skin disease known as "eczema"—another name for Eczema. Seems good to realize, also, that Dr. Hobson's Eczema Ointment has proven a perfect cure.

Mrs. D. L. Kenney writes: "I cannot sufficiently express my thanks to you for your Dr. Hobson's Eczema Ointment. It has cured my eczema, which has troubled me for over fifty years." All druggists, or by mail, 50c. (Adv.)

Costly Treatment.
"I was troubled with constipation and indigestion and spent hundreds of dollars for medicine and treatment," writes C. H. Hines, of Withlow, Ark. "I went to a St. Louis Hospital, also to a hospital in New Orleans, but no cure was effected. On returning home I began taking Chamberlain's Tablets, and worked right along. I used them for some time and am now all right." Sold by all dealers. (Adv.)

When people pay cheerfully for a photograph it is a safe bet that it flatters them.

Good Reason for His Enthusiasm.

When a man has suffered for several days with colic, diarrhoea or other form of bowel complaint and is then cured sound and well by one or two doses of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, as is often the case, it is but natural that he should be enthusiastic in his praise of the remedy, and especially in the case of a severe attack when life is threatened. Try it when in need of such a remedy. It never fails. Sold by all dealers. (Adv.)

They will cut out a great many drivers of automobiles if they make the limit the age of discretion.

How the Trouble Starts.

Constipation is the cause of many ailments and disorders that make life miserable. Take Chamberlain's Tablets, keep your bowels regular and you will avoid these diseases. For sale by all dealers. (Adv.)

Not even a woman ever liked all her relatives.

Granulated Sore Eyes Cured.

"For twenty years I suffered from a bad case of granulated sore eyes, says Martin Boyd of Henrietta, Ky. "I February, 1903, a gentleman asked me to try Chamberlain's Salve. I bought one box and used about two-thirds of it and my eyes have not given me any trouble since." This salve is for sale by all dealers. (Adv.)

What is Best for Indigestion?

Mr. A. Robinson of Drumquin, Ontario, has been troubled for years with indigestion, and recommends Chamberlain's Tablets as "the best medicine I ever used." If troubled with indigestion or constipation give them a trial. They are certain to prove beneficial. They are easy to take and pleasant in effect. Price, 25 cents. For sale by all dealers. (Adv.)

Many a man puts his foot in it when he attempts to stand on his dignity.

Remarkable Cure of Dysentery.

"I was attacked with dysentery about July 15th, and used the doctor's medicine and other remedies with no relief, only getting worse all the time. I was unable to do anything and my weight dropped from 145 to 125 pounds. I suffered for about two months when I was advised to use Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I used two bottles of it and it gave me permanent relief," writes B. W. Hill, of Snow Hill, N. C. For sale by all dealers. (Adv.)

THE NEWS OF ERNUL.

Personal Items of Interest And Other Local News.

(Special to the Journal.)

Ernul, N. C., Aug. 26.—Miss Lela Wetherington, of South Carolina, who has been visiting her sister at this place has gone to Maple Cypress to spend a few days.

Misses Ida Cayton and Ruth and Blanche Heath are visiting at Bridgeport this week.

Mrs. Affie Barrington, of Vanceboro, is visiting friends and relatives at this place.

Mrs. G. J. Ipeck, of this place, who has been visiting her son Mr. K. R. Ipeck, of Newport, returned home yesterday.

Mr. C. A. Ipeck and son, Churchill, made a business trip to New Bern Monday.

Mrs. J. R. Avery spent Sunday in Wilmington.

A large crowd from Ernul went to Morehead City Sunday. They reported a fine time.

Mrs. Jane Cayton, of this place who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. K. R. Ipeck, of Newport, returned home Monday.

Mr. Russel Lancaster, of Vanceboro was at Ernul Sunday.

PERFECTION PARAGRAPHS

C. F. Ipeck Painfully Injured By Falling Timber.

(Special to the Journal.)

Perfection, Aug. 27.—Mrs. James Ipeck was at Perfection last week visiting relatives.

Miss Susan DeBrul visited last week at the home of O. H. Wetherington at Tuscarora.

Miss Estelle Dillon, of Tuscarora, is spending a few days with relatives in this section.

Mrs. Waldron Richardson, of Bellair, Misses Florence and Julia Wetherington spent Monday at Perfection.

Mrs. Lynn Richardson and children, of Elizabeth City, are visiting relatives and friends at this place.

Mrs. Lon Taylor, of Trenton, is visiting at the home of W. W. Porter.

Z. V. Taylor, Jr., of New Bern, is at E. W. Wetherington's place doing some repair work on his automobile.

C. F. Ipeck was painfully hurt a few days ago when a piece of timber which was accidentally dropped by his son Harvey struck him on the head. Mr. Ipeck was loading a wagon at the time and his son was assisting him. His injuries are not serious.

Mrs. Grover Cox has returned from a visit to the bedside of her mother who is ill at her home at Bellair. Mrs. Cox reports that her condition is much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cox are spending several weeks on their farm at Ayden.

A. W. Davis and George Civils have returned from Kinston where they carried a load of tobacco and placed on sale on the day that the warehouses opened. The price they received from the sale of the weed was very gratifying.

There is very little doing around perfection at the present time. The farmers are grading tobacco, cutting hay pulling fudder and eating watermelons. There is very little fruit in this section this season and this fact is greatly lamented.

There is but very little sickness in or around Perfection at the present time and this is a source of much gratification to all.

The Washington correspondent of the Raleigh News and Observer tells of the visit in that city of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Foy and grand-daughter, Miss Agnes Foy. They are stopping with Senator and Mrs. Simmons. C. T. Meacham and son, C. T. Meacham, Jr., were other New Bern people in Washington Tuesday.

MINNESOTA'S NOSE.

Answers The Call

Curious History of the Jag in Our Northern Boundary Lines.

How did the United States come to get that small corner of land which juts out from the extreme northern boundary of Minnesota? History of that little "nose" which sticks out into Canada from Minnesota and which constitutes the northernmost point of the United States is very interesting.

Under the treaty of 1783 the boundary between the United States and British possessions was fixed. A certain point on the Lake of the Woods was mutually agreed to as one starting point, this being considered the headwaters of the St. Lawrence river and great lakes system.

At that time it was not known whether this point was north or south of the forty-ninth parallel, but it was known to be close to it. The understanding was that from that point the boundary should go north or south to the forty-ninth parallel, as the case might be.

Later and more accurate surveys showed that point was about twenty-five miles north of the forty-ninth parallel, and so at this place the boundary makes a jog above that line.

Uncle Sam thus has a little piece of territory of about a hundred square miles in extent north of the general boundary. And the joke of it is that any one has to go by water in order to reach this little piece of territory unless he wants to go through Canada.—Pathfinder.

There came a rap at the door and Cynthia Jones came in to ask me if I wouldn't lend her mother a quart of milk. The Joneses have the next farm to mine. There's one boy and five girls. I've often wondered what Farmer Jones'll do with all his girls. There's only one livin' at the farm, and that'll go to the boy. I went to the springhouse and got Cynthia the milk, and as I handed it to her she said:

"You're very comfortable here, Mr. Crabb, ain't you?"

"Well, yes," I answered. "I'm comfortable enough."

"Don't you ever get lonesome livin' all alone?"

"No, I don't get lonesome at all. You see, by the time I get the dishes washed it's perty nigh bedtime."

"Do you like dishwashin'? Most men don't."

"I hate it."

"Why don't you git a woman to do it for you?"

"I don't know anybody that would like to hire out for that purpose."

"You might marry some one. She could do all the woman's work—the sweepin', the cookin', the milkin' and all."

"I don't know any one that would marry me."

"You don't mean it! Why, there's lots o' nice girls would be glad of the position. I know a girl that would marry you and make you a good wife."

"Who's that?"

"Why, Mr. Crabb, you wouldn't have me tell you. She wouldn't thank me for doin' so. If she did it would be immodest of her."

"Is it Susan Park?"

"No."

"It ain't Melba Billings, is it?"

"No; I don't refer to Melba. But I won't give you any more guesses."

"Seems to me that's kind o' mean."

"I'll tell you what I'll do. Come in to our house Sunday night and I'll give you the first letter of her first name."

I made the call on Sunday evening and found all the family except Cynthia gone to church. There was a fire burnin' on the hearth, and the brass andirons shone beautiful. Cynthia had some apples and cider on the table waitin', and altogether everything looked mighty fine. Somehow I could never make my livin' room look like that, and I told her so. She said men couldn't do such things; only women could.

Cynthia made me feel so good that I forgot all about askin' her the letter she was goin' to tell me, and I went away without it. I met her on the road the next day, and I said:

"What was the letter you was goin' to tell me? I clean forgot it."

"You'll have to come for it next Sunday," she said as she hurried on.

I went the next Sunday night, and the first thing I did was to ask for that letter before I forgot it. Cynthia said she'd tell me just before I went home, only I was to remind her of it.

The family was mostly at home this time, and Cynthia took me into a little room off by the door of the livin' room. There was only one easy chair in it. Cynthia set herself down in that and left me a chair with a wooden seat. Toward 10 o'clock I got so tired I couldn't stand it any longer. I got up and walked about to rest myself, and Cynthia moved aside, and, seein' she didn't intend to be mean about it, I set down beside her.

Would you believe it? I went away without thinkin' to remind her of the first letter of the girl's name who would like to marry me! I met her in a few days in the store and asked her for it, but she said I'd have to try it again, and if I didn't remember this time she wouldn't tell me at all.

I went round the third time to get that letter and found not only the family at home, but a lot o' friends there. So Cynthia had to take me to a closet where they kept old books and magazines, and we set on the pile with our legs stickin' out into the hall. The closet was narrower than the easy chair we'd set in the second night I was there, and there wa'n't no room for my arm, so I had to put it around her. We set there that a-way from 7 till 10 o'clock.

"By cracky," I said jest as I was a-goin' away, "if I didn't perty nigh forget agin to ask for that letter!"

Cynthia laughed and said that the first letter I had missed by not askin' for it at my first call and the second I'd missed on my second call. So I was only entitled to the third letter, which was "n." I didn't like that way o' puttin' me off and went back and set down agin to persuade her to tell me the whole thing. She wouldn't, but we had our heads perty nigh together, and a lock of her hair brushed my cheek. I kissed her. Then I said I couldn't draw a rap for all the letters of the other girl's name. I wanted her to come in and do the woman's work on my farm for me.

And, laws, how we did tick up our heads at the weddin'!

REVIVAL OPENS IN BRIDGETON

SERVICES AT THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH, REV. J. R. SMITH CONDUCTING THEM.

(Special to the Journal.)

Bridgeton, N. C., Aug. 27.—A revival meeting at the Christian Church was begun Monday night by the pastor, Rev. J. R. Smith. The music is being conducted by Prof. Perry, ably assisted by his wife, and will add a great deal to the meeting. Everybody cordially invited. A new piano purchased of the Full Music House, at New Bern, has just been installed in the Christian Church here and that with the organ already in the church is being used in the meeting.

The Methodist and Christian Sunday schools of Bridgeton held their annual picnic at Glenburnie Park last Thursday, and it was a complete success in every way.

Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Taylor and Mesdames J. H. Oglesby, E. R. Phillip and H. C. Lancaster attended the organ revival meeting at Washington Sunday and returned Monday morning.

Isaac Lewis and family returned Friday from a visit to Pamlico County. Miss Eva Moringo has returned from a visit to friends in the country.

Daniel Lane, of Bellair, conducted services at the M. E. Church Sunday morning and night, and preached to large audiences.

H. E. Wyatt, who has been working in Greenville, is home on a visit.

M. D. Laughinghouse, who is working in Greenville, spent Sunday with his family here.

Miss Elizabeth Morton left yesterday for a visit at Belgrade and Swansboro.

Mrs. J. P. Taylor and children, of Columbia, S. C., who have been visiting relatives, left yesterday for a visit at Swansboro.

Miss Nellie Bray, of New Bern, R. F. D. 2, is here attending the revival services at the Christian Church.

Miss Nora Lancaster, of Vanceboro, is here attending the meeting at the Christian Church.

Miss Ruth Brinson, of Baird's Creek, is here assisting in the musical exercises at the revival services.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Willis, of New Bern, are taking a leading part in the musical exercises at the revival services.

Mental Medicine.

"Imagination," says a doctor, "must always be reckoned with in medicine—sometimes as a friend, sometimes as a foe. I know a doctor who treated an old woman for typhoid, and on each visit he took her temperature by holding a thermometer under her tongue. One day when she had nearly recovered the doctor did not bother to take her temperature, and he had hardly got 100 yards from the house when her son called him back.

"Mother is worse," said the man. "Come back at once."

The doctor returned. On his entry into the sickroom the old woman looked up at him with angry and reproachful eyes.

"Doctor," she said, "why didn't you give me the flegger under me tongue to-day? That always done me more good than all the rest of your trash."—New York Tribune.

Sharpening a Pencil.

An expert manual training man talked with the writer about so simple a thing as sharpening a lead pencil. In the first place, he says, the knife should not be overharp, but should be a little dull, as if too sharp it would cut quickly through the wood and cut away the lead. Then, again, he says, it is best to hold the pencil in the left hand with the end to be sharpened pointing away from you and to cut away with a pushing cut rather than toward you with a drawing cut, as then the point of the pencil is rested against the side of the thumb and is sharpened by a draw cut stroke of the knife blade.—Scientific American.

Told by London's Bishop.

The bishop of London told the following story to illustrate the difficulty sometimes met with by missionaries among the working class.

"A curate goes to a house," he said, "and knocks timidly at the door. He hears a voice shout, 'Who's there Sally?' and Sally replies, 'Please mother, it is 'religion.'"

"It requires a little bit of tact for a man to do what he ought to do when he is ushered in as 'religion' on washing day."—London Standard.

At the Theater.

"What! You can't see anything! Didn't you bring your opera glass with you?"

"Yes, but I can't use it."

"Why?"

"Because I forgot my rings."—London Telegraph.

Sounds Better.

"It's all in the way you word it."

"What do you mean?"

"A thing seems much more desirable with a popular phrase that it's cheap."—Louisville Courier-Journal.
