Next step is the big fair. If we had the income we would cheerfully cough up the tax on it.

However merciless the cross-examination, Sulzer, if innocent, will not hurt his cause by going on the stand.

Japan keeps sending us notes, but Uncle Sam doesn't seem inclined to accept them at their face value.

If it will lessen his labors we don't understand why chairman Travis should oppose a new commission to deal with the railroads.

Since Underwood has thrown his hat into the ring we hope that Alabama will elect him to the Senate. He is too valuable a man to be out of public life.

If Em. Pankhurst butts into that New York police force the chances are that she will learn a few new wrinkles about rough treatment.

We don't see why Sulzer's lawyers want to keep him off the stand. Innocent men are not apt to incriminate themselves.

We see no reason why Craig should not get into the senatorial race if he thinks he can win. There is no law against running.

Many a case of domestic infelicity would be averted if hubby would spend his evenings at home instead of hanging around a hop joint.

Uncle Joe says he is coming back. If he does we shall have no more skepticism about the subject of resurrection.

We suspect that Mr. Taft, remembering what happened to him, thinks Wilson was awfully reckless in calling this the best tariff ever.

While race segregation may solve the race problem, what about the labor problem? Some advocate securing foreign labor if possible, but we had as soon live beside a negro as a crusty dago.

All hands are joining in praising our distinguished citizen, Senator Simmons. The critics and knockers of a year ago are the most profuse.

The corporations seem to think they can do just as they please with this State. While we meekly submit to it they have good reason for thinking so.

King George who is ruler over more people than any other man in the world, is said to be the worst hen-pecked husband in all England; still woman is not satisfied and wants more power all the time.

The most delightful weather in the world is this right here in New Bern. Why some simps insist on going to Italy when they could come here, we never did understand.

Don't send your money to a mail order house when you can buy what you want right here in New Bern. By trading at home you get your goods just as cheap and help build up your home town at the same time.

We hope the Norfolk Southern will run that spur out to the fair grounds; we need it and it ought to pay the railroad. The present means of transportation to the fair grounds are a great inconvenience to the many thousands of people who visit there every year.

After our lecture we thought that our Bayboro contemporary would become converted, but it is still obstinate. We may find it necessary to invite the brother over and let him view the silk shirt in all its glory; then, of course, he will see his mistake.

As long as the State can do without the money it had better hold on to the A. & N. C. railroad. There is little likelihood of the property deteriorating in value soon.

The chances are that Carl Duncan and his crowd are not feeling with this proposition for their breath; they doubtless figure that $75 per share the stock is a bargain. In that case the State should demand more or refuse to sell.

Your Shi had was elected president of China a few days ago. Shunk for the new Republic. No checks, no medals.

Congress should adjourn till the world's series is over.

Just a few more days till the opening of the greatest fair ever held in these parts.

Whether the new tariff gives us any relief or not we got just what we were promised.

Show that you are interested in good roads by going out and helping to do something on good roads day.

All the big measures are yet to be acted upon by the legislature and the twenty days are nearly gone.

Nobody wants to keep the Bible from being read in the public schools; we just don't want any legislation on the subject.

At the rate Judge Whedbee is cancelling 'em now, we will soon have a first class road force.

Now they have discovered that Justice never knew anything about railroad rates, at all. Funny, how he kept them fooled so long.

Officially the members of the legislature don't know that they can go and come from Raleigh for less than ten cents per mile.

Vice-President Marshall has picked the Athletics to win. Not wishing to be without a vice-president we advise that gentleman to keep out of Gotham for a few days.

It is reported that the State Fair will be the greatest ever held in Raleigh. This is good news to the people of the State. The State Fair has been the source of much good and deserves all the success that is coming to it. It is not run for private gain; all the profits go back into making the fair greater next year.

The Charlotte Observer of last Sunday carried a write up of our neighbour town, Oriental. Many nice things were said about its advantages as a health resort, the fine hunting territory nearby, etc., all of which that town deserves.

NIGHT AIR FALLACY.

The interiors of many homes are breeding places for disease because of the difficulties in the way of and the objection to admitting fresh air. Foul air full of poisonous gases exhaled from the lungs of the inmates is frequently the atmosphere of the home, and it cannot be otherwise when our houses are built to be closed as tightly as possible.

Fresh air today is a recognized remedy for pneumonia and tuberculosis, and it is also known to be a preventive of diseases generally. For this reason it is necessary to make arrangements for obtaining it in every enclosed space used as a shelter. Buildings should be ventilated so that it will be impossible for those who occupy them to rebreathe the air that has been expelled from their lungs.

There seem to be three causes which have contributed to the shut-in existence of the human family: Need for warmth and comfort in the winter; fear of night air; necessity during ages past of building a home to withstand attacks of enemies.

Protection against cold has been gained by excluding fresh air. Even in this day, with all our inventions, we cannot produce proper ventilation without losing a large percentage of heat, make their living rooms as nearly air-tight as possible.

In malarial countries millions of people still believe that night air is the carrier of deadly diseases, and they use every means to keep it out of their houses, closing doors and windows as soon as the sun disappears in the west.

Of course the discovery that the mosquito, and not innocent night air, is the carrier of tropical fevers should banish this prejudice. Today it may be stated with authority that man may breathe fresh night air with impunity if he protects himself from insects. Outdoor air is much purer in a given location at night than it is during the day.

Fresh, gold air stimulates and tones up the body and induces healthy sleep, which is normally followed by renewed strength and fresh mental outlook upon life.

SIMMONS OF NORTH CAROLINA.

When Furnifold M. Simmons, of North Carolina, became Chairman of the great Committee on Finance of the Senate, which sometimes rewrites tariff laws, he was said to be a reactionary. Democrats who admired him in other respects said he was hopelessly conservative. Sincere tariff reformers did not conceal their fear that when the House bill reached his hands it would receive unfriendly treatment.

The event has proved that all these forebodings were groundless. Time has shown that Mr. Simmons is well placed at the head of the Finance Committee, and that no other member of the Senate was better qualified to cooperate with Representative Underwood in formulating a much needed reform. Both have been equal in their determination to uproot wrong. Both have exhibited the true conservatism that is grounded in knowledge, caution and justness.

Taking things philosophically is easy if they don't concern you.

POPULAR YOUNG COUPLE WED

MARRIAGE CAME AS SURPRISE TO FRIENDS OF THE CONTRACTING PARTIES.

Charming in every detail was the wedding of Miss Mamie Hunter Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Alonza Richardson, and Mr. John Dodson Kinser, of Tampa, Florida, which was solemnized last night at nine-thirty o'clock, at the family residence.

The wedding, which had presumably been set for this morning, came as a surprise to the friends who had been invited to an informal ante-nuptial affair. Hardly had the guests arrived when the bride entered the parlor with her father by whom she was given away. She was handsomely gowned in white charmeuse, trimmed with duchess lace and pearls and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and fern. Her tulle veil was arranged in a cap effect, being held in place by a coronet of lilies of the valley. She wore the groom's gift, a cluster ring of diamonds. Miss Sara Richardson who attended her sister was a dainty gown of pink charmeuse and a wicker hat and carried an arrangement of pink bride roses and fern.

Mr. Mitchell Rountree was the groom's best man. The ceremony was impressively performed by Rev. Bartholomew Huske rector of Christ Episcopal church the ring service being used.

Miss Maud Mungler, who presided at the piano, softly played "Tranmere" during the ceremony. Following the ceremony an informal reception was held.

Following a color scheme of white and green the lower floor was artistically decorated in palms, ferns, simlax and white roses and carnations. The windows and doorways were outlined with Southern smilax, while the chandeliers were entwined with the green and butterflies.

The dining room presented a scene of loveliness as the guests entered. A lovely Japanese lace cloth covered the table and a silver vase filled with white carnations and fern formed the centerpiece. From the chandeliers above, ropes of simlax extended to the far corners of the table, and were caught and held in place by bunches of carnation; lighted tapers surrounded the centerpiece.

At one end of this picture table, fruit punch was served by Misses Bessie Summerell and Myrtle Disoway while Mrs. David Congdon cut the bride's cake at the other.

Amid much merriment the bride's cake was cut and the bride and groom were toasted.

Mr. and Mrs. Kinser left on the night train for Atlanta and St. Augustine on their way to Tampa, their future home. They carried with them the best wishes of a host of friends.

The bride's travelling gown was blue and velour with hat and gloves to match.

The happy couple were the recipients of hundreds of beautiful wedding gifts.

RUSSELLS CREEK ITEMS.

Interesting Jottings From Journal Correspondent.

(Special to the Journal.) Russell's Creek, Oct. 8.—Our town is situated near the beautiful Newport River. Our streets are not lighted by electricity because we have plenty of lightning bugs and "jack-o-lanterns."

Sometimes we go fishing for trout, mullets, etc. We also catch clams, oysters and scallops.

Crops in this section were badly damaged by the storm. Cotton is cut off about one half.

There is nothing doing much in our town and hasn't been for some time. Fish have been scarce, especially the menhaden or fat back. Guests they have gone to Europe or somewhere for protection.

Mosquitoes are plentiful enough both day and night, singing the several parts of music just before and after they present their bills for collection. Low tariff suits 'em O. K.

No other town on the globe, if globe it is (we think its flat), can boast of any more mosquitoes than ours. They sing with the understanding and bite like Tommy's pet 'coons.

We learn with regret that we are to get no freight rate reduction, no State-wide stock law and that the compulsory school law only reaches children under the age of 12 years.

EDDY GIFT NOT OVERTIGHT.

Estate Must Be Administered For Church By Trustees.

Concord, N. H., Oct. 8.—Under a decision of the Supreme Court today Josiah E. Fernald, of Concord, was ordered to hold as administrator the property of the late Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, the founder of Christian Science, until trustees are appointed by the Probate Court.

The court held that Mrs. Eddy created a public trust to be administered by the First Church of Christ Scientist under the court's supervision.

The trustees of the church in Boston had contended that the property should be turned over to them without further proceedings. The Court ruled, however, that Mrs. Eddy did not intend to give her estate outright to the church to be administered as part of its corporate assets.

VISITING MASONS GIVEN RECEPTION

LOCAL MEMBERS OF THE ORDER HONOR VISITING BROTHERS.

A reception was yesterday afternoon given the visiting Scottish Rite Masons who are in New Bern this week attending the annual reunion of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite Masons.

The reception was given in the parlors of Centenary Methodist church and was in charge of Mrs. Jane Meadows and Miss Sara Osgood. The affair was a brilliant success and was thoroughly enjoyed.

The reunion which began Tuesday, will come to a close tonight at which time the thirty-first degree will be conferred upon a number of Candidates.

We congratulate our afternoon contemporary, the Sun, upon the forty-eight page Fair edition which they issued yesterday afternoon. The edition is not only replete with useful information about New Bern and the approaching Eastern Carolina Fair, but the typographical appearance is also beyond the least criticism.

STORM WARNINGS ARE POSTED

ANOTHER HURRICANE SAID TO BE HEADING IN THIS DIRECTION.

Warnings were sent out yesterday morning by the Weather Bureau that a hurricane was raging along the South Atlantic Coast and was coming in this direction and would probably strike North Carolina within twenty-four hours.

With the recent storm and flood standing out vividly in the memory of hundreds of New Bern citizens, there was naturally some uneasiness felt during the day and many lost no time in getting their property and goods in "ship shape" order to withstand the storm's ravages if it came this way.

The weather was very unsettled all during the day and a strong North-east wind caused the water in Neuse and Trent rivers to rise rapidly, but the hurricane has so far failed to reach this section, and it is hoped that it will blow itself out before arriving.

Of course the fellow who has nothing to sell never advertises.

After the series is over we will know who is the finest citizen of the land.

We feel sorry for you fellows who stacked your bones on the wrong team.
