

MRS. PANKHURST IS BEING HELD

British Militant Suffragist Arrives In The U. S. A. And Finds Trouble At Once.

IS NOW AT ELLIS ISLAND

Immigration Officials Refuse To Be Rushed Into Decision On Case.

Washington, Oct. 20.—Immigration Commissioner Caminetti today declined to release Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, British militant suffragist, on bond from the Ellis Island immigration station, New York, pending final adjudication of her appeal from the deportation order issued yesterday by a special board of inquiry. Her case will be taken up formally tomorrow morning by Commissioner Caminetti and it is said a definite decision on her release or deportation may be reached during the day.

Commissioner Caminetti said today that his desire was "not to be rushed into a decision of a case nationally and internationally important," but that he had done and would do all in his power to facilitate its determination. Unprecedented finally to dispose of the case were made by the immigration officials in "clearing the decks" for positive action tomorrow morning.

Counsel for Mrs. Pankhurst were accorded an informal hearing of several hours today by Commissioner Caminetti and Dr. A. W. Parker, chief of the law division of the immigration bureau. The commissioner in accounting for a hearing held on Sunday, said his only reason was to facilitate as much as possible this proceeding. The question of whether Mrs. Pankhurst should be admitted or deported was a subject of absorbing interest to many in government circles. It became known tonight that a great many high officials favored admitting her, not because of any sympathy for the individual or her cause, but on the ground that the principle of free speech should be maintained.

Attorneys for Mrs. Pankhurst directed their efforts today chiefly toward obtaining her temporary release from custody at Ellis Island pending consideration of the case, in order that she might fulfill lecture contracts. They contended that not only Mrs. Pankhurst's personal rights were being invaded by her detention longer than was absolutely necessary, but that important and substantial property rights of the alien and of citizens of this country were being placed in jeopardy.

Commissioner Caminetti promptly made it clear, however, that he could not be rushed into a decision because of the money involved in Mrs. Pankhurst's engagements. That, he said, was entirely aside from the real issue, i. e., whether the British militant was entitled under the law to enter the United States. He refused for this reason to hear Frank S. O'Neil, as counsel for the management of the Madison Square Garden, N. Y., where Mrs. Pankhurst is advertised to speak tomorrow night. Mr. O'Neil then entered an appearance as a representative of Mrs. Pankhurst.

Just before the hearing began there came, by special delivery mail, the official record of proceedings before the board of special inquiry at New York. Commissioner Caminetti and Doctor Parker studied the record before the arrival of Herbert R. Reeves, engaged by Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, of New York, to represent Mrs. Pankhurst, and F. S. O'Neil.

The contents of this record had been unknown, as under the law proceedings at Ellis Island were secret. To what she termed the "star chamber proceeding," Mrs. Pankhurst had objected. She also protested because she was not allowed to be represented at the hearing by counsel and to the consideration given by the special board of a "certain document," to which she was not given access.

THIS POSTOFFICE DEFAULTER HELD

STOLE $11,000 IS NOW IN JAIL AWAITING THE GRAND JURY'S ACTION.

Roanoke, Va., October 21.—Edward Silberger, former assistant postmaster at Pochontas, Va., is now in the Roanoke jail awaiting the action of the Federal grand jury, which will meet in Danville, November 11. He confessed before United States Commissioner Goodloe, to the theft of $11,000 from the Pochontas postoffice September 9. Mrs. Silberger who was arrested with her husband in Cleveland, as an accessory, is here with her infant girl. The commissioner who heard her waive a preliminary hearing, allowed her to be placed in the custody of the Salvation Army pending action of the grand jury. Relatives are expected to secure bail for the prisoners.

Inspector S. recovered $10,000 money, Silberger and his captured in Cleveland early this week after a ten day's search by postal authorities. He had invested a part of the money he secured from registered packages in a coal business and when apprehended was driving a dray. Silberger said he did not make enough money to live on decently and was constantly in debt in his endeavor to provide ordinary comforts for his young wife and baby.

URGES CITIZENS TO WORK THE ROADS

COUNTY ROAD SUPERVISOR WANTS THE THOROUGHFARES IMPROVED.

(By R. E. Snowdon.)

The governor of the State has issued a proclamation making November the 5th and 6th Good Roads Days.

Let every citizen of Craven county turn out on those days and do what he can to improve the roads in this county. This county has thousands of acres of land that have never been cultivated by the hand of man; some of them as fertile as the famous delta soil, that is idle because there is no adequate means of transportation from them to the rivers and railroads and because they lack drainage.

With good highways will come more farmers. No idle land and therefore better co-operation in drainage and better schools; everything that makes life more worth while living. Good roads mean double the value of your present lands not only in selling value but also in increased profits. To gain such benefits will cost money and work, not merely voting a few cents tax, but putting the shoulder to the wheel and urging forward the wheels of progress.

Let every man and woman who wishes to give the children an equal chance with the children of other sections, come out and, by work and encouragement, show that you are in earnest. There are plenty of holes to fill, plenty of trees to cut to let the sun and wind in to dry the roads and plenty of bushes to cut to straighten the old roads and plenty of encouragement to offer in your task of getting, by your own efforts, what you should have had half a century ago; the best rural improvements in the State. Let every body turn out on November 5th and 6th and do something to help the cause.

MARRIED THIRTY YEARS.

Jacksonville Couple Keep Open House.

(Special to the Journal.) Jacksonville, Oct. 20.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thompson, of this place celebrated the thirtieth anniversary of their wedding last Friday evening between 7:30 and 10:30 and between those hours the Thompson home was the scene of much enjoyment.

In honor of the occasion Mr. and Mrs. Thompson kept open house and during the evening a large number of friends called to pay their respects. The guests were met at the door by Misses Christine Sylvester and Margaret Thompson and Leon Humphrey. They were ushered on to the receiving line in which were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thompson Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Hargett, Mrs. Nathaniel Sylvester and Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Jones, of New Bern, Miss Edna Rowe, of Hampton, Va., and Miss Shaw, of Weldon.

Miss Louise Thompson and C. Rodney presided over the punch bowl and Miss Mamie Bryant and Rev. W. N. Wright kept the book in which each guest wrote their name. Later in the evening the guests were invited into the dining room where a delicious salad and ice course was served by E. J. Wood, Miss Janie Jones, Nere E. Day and Mary Cox. As a favor each guest was presented with a pretty little basket.

PAPERS PRAISE SEN. SIMMONS

SAYS NICE THINGS ABOUT PROMINENT NEW BERN MAN.

Senator F. M. Simmons, who is spending a few days in New Bern and at his farm in Jones county, went over to Raleigh a day or two ago for a short visit. The Raleigh Times of that city has the following to say of the Senator's visit to that city:

"Senator F. M. Simmons, fresh from the greatest victory ever achieved by any Senator from North Carolina, arrived in the city today to spend a few hours with relatives and friends. As chairman of the finance committee, Senator Simmons piloted the tariff bill through the senate, lowered the reductions in the House measure two per cent., and engineered the whole thing to a successful conclusion despite a slim majority.

"From every periodical in the country, with the exception of possibly one, words of praise have come for the North Carolina leader. In his own State former opponents have united with partisan friends to place laurels on his head. North Carolinians proclaim him, judging by the press and public speakers, as the most successful of all her public men.

"Senator Simmons called on Governor Craig to day. He is the same modest man that he was before the campaign. Scores of people, learning of his presence in the city, expressed their desire to shake his hand.

"The Senator went from the Governor's office, direct to the homes of his daughters, Mrs. Graham Andrews and Mrs. Louis Mahler. He will leave this afternoon at 6 o'clock for Trenton, Jones county, where he will spend 10 days before returning to his duties in Washington.

"Senator Simmons, despite his five months of hard application to the tariff bill, kept up pretty well with the affairs in North Carolina. He thought Governor Craig had emerged like a statesman from the vantage point controversy, and he believes the question will be settled satisfactorily to all fair-minded men. He commended Chairman Travis and the Corporation Commission for their good work.

"The currency bill will be pushed through Congress at the extra session or pretty soon after the regular session convenes, and the senior Senator anticipates no great trouble in the great legislative body's ability to pass a bill satisfactory to all concerned."

Diarrhoea Quickly Cured.

"I was taken with diarrhoea and Mr. Yorks, the merchant here, persuaded me to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. After taking one dose of it I was cured. It also cured others that I gave it to," writes M. E. Gebhart, Oriole, Pa. "That is not at all unusual. An ordinary attack of diarrhoea can almost invariably be cured by one or two doses of this remedy. For sale by all dealers. (Adv.)"

A Man With Ambitions

By M. QUAD Copyright, 1913, by Associated Literary Press.

It was a hot day, and Abe Shreter sat on a chair under the awning of Skinner's grocery with his feet on the head of a barrel and his head nodding with drowsiness. Colonel Harper, who had come into town and left his male hatched in front of the postoffice, came along on his way to the drug store and halted to say:

"That yo', Abe? I declar' to goodness but I didn't know yo' at first sight. Powerful hot day in town."

"Bless me, kurnel, bless me!" exclaimed Abe in reply as he slowly lowered his legs to give the colonel the benefit of the barrel. "I was just a-thinking about yo', kurnel—just a-thinking and a-pondering. How's co'n a-getting on this weather?"

"Ought to be a little mo' rain, meb-be, but co'n isn't looking 'tall bad."

"And mewis hold their own, I reckon to consider?"

"Jest about hold their own, Abe?"

"That's good, kurnel. If I can't hold my own I'm still glad to see other folks do it. Things are looking up a bit for me, however. These yere Pike county scandalizers seem to have got tired of throwing me down and jumping on my head, and mebbe I'll get a chance to draw a long breath. Dawg-gone folks who ain't willing for other folks to get along! Has Pike county ever extended her hand to help me climb up?"

"Reckon not, Abe."

"No, suh; no, suh, 'cept by one solitary human being, whose name is Kurnel Harper."

"When the wah ended I run for office same as all the rest. They owed me an office for having laid down my life for my country, but what was my reward? Kurnel Harper, I reckon yo' can remember that I was knocked out—'histed twenty feet high—snowed under till yo' couldn't see the top of my hat. That's the way Pike county encouraged me to grab hold, with both hands and climb to the top."

"Yes, I remember about that," mused the colonel as he watched a dog rolling over and over in the dusty street.

"Then I turned to law," continued Abe as he hitched the chair over to get a brace for his feet on a post of the veranda. "Kurnel Harper, nobody on the face of this big earth will ever know how I pinched and saved and starved and worked to get that law business down to a fine point."

"Waal, I got to be a lawyer. Then what? I wanted practice. I finally got a case and went into court with it, but the pesky jury was lying in ambush to throw me down. Yes, suh, had the pubtest, ncest, cleanest case yo' ever heard tell of, and that jury was bound by law and evidence to bring in a verdict for me, but I got the cold sop instead. They brought my cleat in guilty of stealing a hawg when he was thirty miles away at the time at the bedside of his dying mother. Do yo' call that encouraging a young man, kurnel? Was that giving me a show to climb up?"

"Can't skassy call it that, Abe, but if I remember right they found fresh pork in yo' client's house."

"They found meat there, of co'se, but was it the meat of that yo' never hawp or some other? They never stopped to consider, kurnel—jest throwed the verdict agin me in order to crush me out. Same way in the second case and the third and fo'th. No matter how many witnesses I had or how plain I made my case, no Pike county jury would find for me. How many times have yo' to flop a young man, Kurnel Harper, to kill off his ambition and take the fight out of him?"

"Bont fo' times, I reckon."

"Jest about fo' times, kurnel. After that fo'th flop I realized that Pike county was agin me as a lawyer, and I went into politics. There I was flopped ag'in. I took to the lecture platform, and how many times did I lecture? Jest once, kurnel. Then came the flop."

"But yo' won't have to go to work, will yo', Abe?" queried the colonel, with a tinge of sarcasm in his voice.

"Never in this world, kurnel; never in this world. That's what Pike county wants to drive me into, but she shall never succeed. I've got ideas, sub-ideas. I've got a scheme for putting mo' water in whisky and thus doubling production. I've invented a bar'l with fo' bungholes instead of two. I've got a horseshoe with a spring to it to help start the horse off. I've got a scheme to do away with all doorknobs and save $30,000,000 a year. I've got a scheme to make all forks with two tines only and thus save every household $10 a year. I've got fo'ty different good things to work on, Kurnel Harper, and I'm telling yo' I'll yet see the day I can buy and sell this crowd that's trying to keep me down. I'll do it for shore, kurnel—do it for shore."

"I reckon yo' will, Abe. Leastwise, I never saw yo' so stirred up befo'."

"What yo' got in yo' throat to make yo' gasp and gurgle that way?"

"Can't yo' understand, kurnel?"

"Not skassy. Haven't swallowed one of these pesky horseshoes, have yo'?"

"No; it's not horseshoes. It's a half an hour over my regular time, kurnel, and I've got a thirst to me. No; I don't mind stepping around with yo' for a nip, being yo' are a man who don't like to nip alone and have had the goodness to ask me. Jest lead the way, kurnel, and I'll be along a minute late—same as if I sort of overtook yo' by accident. yo' know."

"I reckon yo' will, Abe. Leastwise, I never saw yo' so stirred up befo'."

INTERNATIONAL PHASE OF THE MEXICAN SITUATION

Uncle Sam Wants to Know Why England is Butting Into The Mexican Trouble—Looks Fishy To Those Who Know

Washington, Oct. 22.—While there was no change in either the status of affairs at Mexico City or the American policy, an international phase of the Mexican situation that attracted wide attention tonight was the formal inquiry made earlier today by Ambassador Page at London as to what was construed here as an unsympathetic attitude toward the United States by Sir Lionel Carden, the British minister to Mexico.

It is understood that the basis of the inquiry was a confidential report to the state department, the contents of which were not divulged here. It is known however, that what particularly displeased both President and Secretary Bryan was the presentation by Sir Lionel of his credentials to Provisional President Huerta the very day after the latter had proclaimed himself dictator. The American government felt that Huerta's nullification of the Mexican constitution, was only by his arrest of the deputies, but by his assumption of legislative powers, had altered affairs in the Mexican capital that the British minister might well have withheld his presentation of credentials.

Inquiry was directed to determine whether the British foreign office had instructed Sir Lionel to present his credentials notwithstanding Huerta's assumption of powers.

The explanation of the British foreign office noted in dispatches, that the presentation of the credentials was merely a coincidence and not antagonistic to the American point of view was not commented on by officials tonight.

Diplomatic circles interpreted the new development as strongly intimating to Europe the desire of the United States to have a free hand in dealing with the Mexican problem.

Secretary Bryan, when asked today whether he would comment on the letter of resignation of Henry Wilson, former ambassador to Mexico said:

"I do not care to discuss it and do not intend to."

President Wilson had no comment to make on the letter beyond saying that he had read it when it was presented last August.
