Monticello, N. Y., Dec. 24.—Relations of fact more strange than fiction have followed the sudden death of Melville H. Couch, for 15 years District Attorney of Sullivan County and former partner of Alton B. Parker.

In the custody of the police is a strange, frightened woman who lived for 15 years in the seclusion of a bare little room that opened from Mr. Couch's office.

The door that led from the office to the living quarters of this strange bond servant was always locked and no one save Couch and his queer companion passed through it.

Within a few feet from the busy office with its daily stream of clients the woman huddled in silence throughout the day.

During the excitement attending the discovery of Couch's body on a lounge in the room some one climbed upon a chair and peered through the transom into the secret room.

Although Mrs. Couch was a frequent visitor at the office of her husband, she never suspected what the secret room contained.

Society BELLS OF YULE.

The Christmas Eve fell clear and cool and merrily chimed the Bells of Yule:

"Peace—O peace! Good Will! Good cheer! Ah, how the tones rang full and clear.

For Christmas Eve brought the Peace-King's rule; And royal bells were the Bells of Yule.

"Love—O Love! Good will to men! Rang the gladstone notes o'er brake and fen

And the starlight whispered to dimpling pool, "List ye now to the Bells of Yule!"

The mountains called to the billowed sea, "Oh, hear the Yule Bells wild and free!"

And earth was filled with heavenly notes Pouring forth from the Yule Bells' silvery throats.

"Hark! What is that?" said a king to his fob! Who sat at his feet on the Jester's stool.

"Ah, sire, they're the bells of the King of Kings, And the stars all dance when his music rings."

And the king said: "Ring me the palace bells To honor the realm where the Christ King dwells."

So they rang them wild and they rang them long Till the winter's eve o'erflowed with song.

Then the plague that hastened to smite the land Vanished at the touch of a hidden hand.

And the smile of the Peace-King, passing gold, Fell far and wide o'er croft and wold.

And the king 'en yet is called "the Good" Who heard the bells and understood.

For long he ruled in a prospered land; And even the bells rang at his command:

"Peace—O Peace! Good will! Good cheer!" Pealed the Yule Bells full and clear.

Petersburg, Va., Dec. 23.—R. W. Vincent, a young man from North Carolina, about 19 years old is in jail in this city on a charge involving forgery and attempting to pass a counterfeit check.

Presented at the National Bank of Petersburg a check for $170 drawn by and made payable to himself on the First National Bank of Roanoke.

S. A. SCHLOSS DEAD.

Prominent Theatrical Man Passes Away

Wilmington, Dec. 23.—All Wilmington and friends and business acquaintances throughout the whole country will be shocked to learn of the death of Mr. S. A. Schloss, prominent theatrical owner and operator of this city, who passed away at his residence, No. 214 North Fourth street, last night, at 10:30 o'clock.

Although Mr. Schloss had been in ill health for two years or more, his death came as a painful surprise, even to his family and those who were close to him. He had been very weak for the past few weeks, but seemed somewhat stronger yesterday, and he was sitting up last evening when overcome by a fainting spell.

From this he never rallied, and 30 minutes later he was dead.

NEGRO KILLED.

Was Attempting To Escape From Policeman.

(Special to the Journal.) Goldsboro, Dec. 23.—West Hines, colored, was shot and instantly killed here this afternoon by Jack Fulghum, a member of the local police force.

Hines had been arrested by the Chief of Police on a charge of gambling. He broke away and ran and the Chief fired at him. The bullet took effect and the negro was taken to his home for treatment. While there he made another break for liberty and was shot by the policeman.

NORTH CAROLINA, CRAVEN COUNTY.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in that certain judgment entered in the Superior Court of Craven county, North Carolina at the May term, 1913, in that certain action entitled George P. Anderson against W. H. Harrington and Missy Harrington, we the undersigned commissioners appointed by the Court, will sell for cash to the highest bidder at the Court house door in New Bern, Craven county, North Carolina on the 5th day of January, 1914, the following described real estate, to wit:

Beginning at a stake on the Vanceboro and Greenville road, Lizzie Powell's second corner, and running north 73 east with Lizzie Powell's line 120 poles, Lizzie Powell's third corner, then North 15 West 36 poles to a stake, then south 73 West 120 poles to a stake on the Vanceboro and Greenville road, thence down said road 36 poles to the beginning containing 25 acres, and being the tract of land conveyed to said Addie Waters by E. A. and Louis Forrest, by deed recorded in the office of Register of Deeds of Craven county in Book 176, page 240.

W. D. McIVER, Commissioner. D. L. WARD, Commissioner.

This the 25th day of November, 1913.

REBELS WILL ATTACK TORRENS TOMORROW

ARE WAITING FOR NEXT MOVE OF FEDERAL BEFORE CHANGING POSITION.

Juarez, Dec. 23.—A waiting attitude was assumed by General Francisco Villa and his rebel troops today, to learn what action, if any, the federal forces at Ojinaga, on the border, intend to take.

As long as the bulk of the federal army in the north remain at Ojinaga, more than 100 miles from striking distance of any of the rebel strongholds, General Villa said he was content to let them remain there. While the federals have been provisioning their commissary as if preparing to march into the interior, they are without any train or telegraphic communication south of the border. They have among them ten generals, or one for each 400 soldiers.

General Villa, at Chihuahua, began to turn his attention toward developments southward. The nearest federals in that direction are at Torreon, about 200 miles south. As soon as he is sufficiently advised of conditions, General Villa intends to send a large force toward Torreon.

Skirmishes between federals and rebels at Gomez Palacio and Lerdo near Torreon have taken place, but they were insignificant.

ROBINSON PURDY CORPORATION.

Rapids, N. C. Under his indorsement on the back was that of the "Robinson Purdy Corporation," a prominent firm of this city.

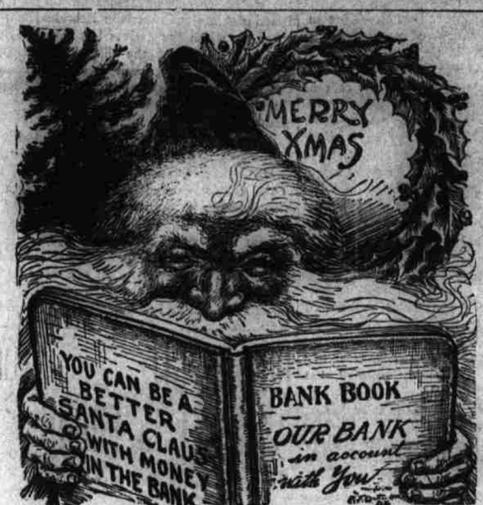

The check was not cashed because it was discovered that the indorsement of the Robinson Purdy Corporation was forged and the firm denied all knowledge of the check.

Chief of Police Ragland was notified of the case and Vincent was arrested. It later developed that the young man is prominently connected in North Carolina. He is said to have left Roanoke Rapids on Thanksgiving Day, since that time he has spent six hundred dollars.

Police Justice Plummer this morning continued the forgery charge against Vincent until January 2nd.

Every body will favor the economy program by the first of January.
