

But Little Interest Was Manifested In Yesterday's Election--Vote Was Small

THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS PROBABLY CARRIED--NOT CERTAIN

Less Than a Thousand Votes In Craven County--Eleven Out of Twenty Precincts Show Vote Less Than Six Hundred. Majority of Northern and Western States Went Republican "Solid South" Stuck By The Party.

Owing to the fact that the Democrats seemed to manifest but little interest in yesterday's election in North Carolina, a light vote was polled all over the State. In New Bern, the vote was less than four hundred and out of eleven precincts heard from last night out of the twenty, the vote was but little more than five hundred. In the Democratic vote on the State ticket in the eleven precincts heard from in Craven county the vote was 454 and the Republicans vote 71. The constitutional amendments carried here by a fair majority. Whether the amendments carried all over the State is a matter of speculation. J. W. Bailey, chairman of the committee on amendments, at midnight gave to the News and Observer a statement in which he said that he was not able to tell whether they had carried and that this would not be known until there was a count of the votes. Many counties voted against them, in others the majorities were not as large as had been expected. In Craven county, out of the eleven precincts heard from, Dover and Cove City voted against them. While the "Solid South" held valiantly to the principles of Democracy, the North and West, according to reports, gave majorities to the Republicans and Progressives. In some States outside of the South the Democrats polled up a handsome majority and many of their nominees won out. The following reports from the various parts of this and other States give the full votes in each State.

BELIEVE LATEST GERMAN MOVE WILL BE FUTILE

Confidence Grows in Paris That the Latest Offensive Movement of the Teutons Will Prove A Failure

THEIR ATTACK SHIFTED FROM THE NORTH

Ypres Front Expected to Be the Storm Center of the Fighting for a Time

PARIS, Nov. 3--Confidence is growing here that the latest offensive movement of the Germans in Belgium whereby they hope to gain a clear route to the French channel ports will fail. All reports here are that the Allies have successfully withstood repeated and violent attacks.

The official statement of the Belgian general staff indicates a shift in the scene of the German attack from the north coast, where they fought so hard and stubbornly to the vicinity of Ypres. This region it is declared, already has been the scene of violent attacks and counter-attacks in which both sides lost heavily.

The expectation here is that the Ypres front now will be the storm center of the fighting, for a time at least, as the German objective appears to be the route to Saint Omer, in the department of Pascalais, twenty-two miles southeast of the port of Calais.

The news of the french success around St. Marie-Aux-Mines and St. Die, in the Vosges region, was eagerly received here. The developments in this quarter assured the French of a solid position in a difficult region where, it is expected, they will win a greater success.

President Poincare's visit to the battlefield in West Flanders where, at Furnes, while practically under fire, he and King Albert of Belgium reviewed the French and Belgian troops, caused some fears for his safety, but also admiration for his bravery. The President and Belgian King, together with the French Minister of War, Alexandre Millerand, reviewed the troops from the town hall at Furnes while a short distance away the railway station was under the heavy shell fire of the German artillery.

At each of these places a few hogs will be treated free of charge. The time for this work has not yet been named, although Dr. Flowe stated that it might be the last of the year, as he has a number of counties in which to give the treatment before he will be able to get to Craven.
