ares That He Doesn't Think It a Good Thing

me to be affireding more attention than the European War, I have decided to submit to the people just a few facts conterning this law.

The advocates of this so-calle stock law claims that it will cradicate the tick which we all know is impossible to do. I think if they will examine the ditch banks in their fields, where at this time of the year no stock are allowed, they will find quite a supply of ticks.

In the last Thursdays afternoon paper, one stock law man said that even now with all our advantages we do not grow enough to supply our home demands, which is an admitted fact, and if deprived of this advantage which we already have, how can we raise any at all, and our eity friends will have to pay three times as much for the cold storage meats as they are now paying. For instance visit the meat markets of New Bern, and ask the proprietors of those markets where their best meats come from and they will quickly tell you, they come from the open ranges, they buy very few cattle from the dairymen, as they buy and exchange from one to the other, and don't have very many for the market, and they are apt to be failing on account of age, and if you would hear what the cook would have to say, I am afraid it would sound very bad. Now, I don't mean to to say that this is always the case, but it is reasonable they are not going to put their best stock on the market, and keep the worn out ones for their own use. Now, lets use just a little common horse sense about this thing. We all know that stock are more healthy when they can roam the open ranges to their own free will. feeding on the kind of grasses they like best, and drinking from the pure and cool streams, which are hard to find in the pastures, and even now the prices of meats are almost beyond the reach of the laboring classes, and I am quite sure that this would cause a meat famine in a very short while, we must remember that we live in a county with a rapidly increasing population, and that these people must be fed. But if 90 per cent of these people are cut entirely out, how can 10 per cent of these people raise even half enough to supply the increasing demand, they will certainly have to do more than they have ever done. Now, these are plain facts and can't be disputed, and again I would like to say that if put to the test. I believe it would be found unconstitutional for the people who already have stock law in this proposed territory to again vote on this question, for instance, suppose we were living in a stock law territory, what business would we have to vote for a law that we al ready had, it looks as if it might have been a concocted plan to put it on the people whether they wanted or not. If people can raise more better meat in stock law terrisorles, why do they come from Pitt, becoir, and other stock law counties. here in Craven every autumn to buy hogs? Why don't they raise have some to sell? New laws are being made all the time, and I think they have about gone their limit, it reminds me of what Mr. Jas. A. Bryan of your city said at a political speaking at Cove City a few years ago, he said: "that it would only be a question of time when the people would have to rebel against oppressive government," and I think the time is about here now.

enough for their own use, and then

I trust the people will see the trick in this thing before it is too late, and will turn out in full force and vote gainst this nuisance.

* WOMEN SHOULD USE PRE-VENTION

(From Columbia (S. C.) State) To the Editor of The State:

I have been interested in reading the different expressions of correspondents in your today's (Saturday's) issue of the Winnsboro tragedy. Also your splendid editorials in the same

The question that is uppermost in our minds at this time, and as a result of that terrible tragedy, and also one that has been paramount in the South for years, is the one of how to prevent assault and its consequent. result-A "lynching party."

Now, as a woman, one who was raised in a rural district, and whose life, for the most part, has been spent unong farming people, I want to peak plainly and unapologetically of what I know, from actual observation, to often be the provoking cause subject, and, as a woman, meaning no reflection whatever on myself, I make this statement. From actual observation and a knowledge of facts, in 90 cases out of 100 of assault, you will find that it has been brought in food. Oftentimes she is required to with what carelessness and indifference on the farms are required to with what carelessness and indifference on the farms are required to with what carelessness and indifference one farmers allowed their wives and doesn't hold—no condition can excuse men. I tell you, unequivocally, Mr. believed to thus work in counter with a negro man Editor, that if you will study cases of hands his meals or prepares of assault, you will find that nine his food. Oftentimes she is required to one farmers allowed their wives and doesn't hold—no condition can excuse men. I tell you, unequivocally, Mr. believed to thus work in counter with a segon when with a pound of cure."
