The Savings Department of this Bank is where dollars are taught self-support.

It will set your money to work and pay a regular wage for stipulated service.

How much of your income is wearing overalls? Old age is vitally interested in the matter. Youth and health don't foot the waster's bills. Extravagance collects from invalids and threadbare gray-beards and pitiful old crones. Every gay calendar has its rainy days—and its bleak and hungry ones, too.

Stretch your "good times" over a greater number of years—RESERVE A FEW COMFORTS FOR "SIXTY."

THREE BALLOONISTS TO REACH ROCKAWAY FRIDAY

(By The Associated Press.)
TORONTO, Jan. 13.—When the three American balloonists, Lieutenants Kloor, Farrell and Hinton, arrive here by rail late today from Mattice they will be welcomed at the railroad station by Com. Troler Maguire, on behalf of the city, and a delegation from the Aero Club of Canada. The program of entertainment simply calls for an informal reception at the Aero Club headquarters, the Jan. 13 quiet having been called off on account of the altercation between Farrell and Hinton at Mattice, upon their arrival there after their perilous flight into the wilds of the Hudson Bay region. They are expected to reach Rockaway on Friday.

UNIVERSITY A DISGRACE SAYS P.C. WHITLOCK

Is Speaking, of Course, Only of Its Physical Condition—Governor's Law Partner Goes to Chapel Hill to Investigate at Request of State's Chief Executive.

(Correspondence of The Daily Gazette.)

CHAPEL HILL, Jan. 13.—Paul C. Whitlock, of Charlotte, former law partner and personal friend of Governor-elect Cameron Morrison, recently spent a few days at the University of North Carolina at the request of Mr. Morrison to get a first-hand glimpse of conditions at the institution of which the new governor will be chairman of the board of trustees.

Mr. Whitlock made a personal inspection of many of the university buildings, went into students' rooms, saw them eat, watched them line up to get at the shower baths, walked through class rooms, visited professors in their offices and talked with President Chase.

As a result of his visit he wrote: "The university as it is today is a disgrace to the State of North Carolina." He was speaking only of the physical condition of the university plant. He thought well of the teaching, of the caliber of the professors and of the spirit which kept them at work when many of them could get more money at other institutions.

"Although I was familiar with what was being said about overcrowding and lack of facilities of all sorts," wrote Mr. Whitlock, "I give my word I was absolutely astonished at what I saw. The people of North Carolina do not realize the conditions at Chapel Hill and how one can without going and seeing for himself." I visited the real rooms where I used to study. It made me sick.

He told of a room which he estimated to be twelve feet in size with three students living in it, with beds piled on top of each other, with trunks crammed into corners, with all kinds of fixtures jammed together as they necessarily had to be in such a room, and he concluded that "I do not see that it is a crime to take a less fitly with ambition to acquire an education, whose young mind has visualized the university as a great and noble institution, able to satisfy his aspirations for higher things and stick him in a hole like that."

Mr. Whitlock mentioned a visit to the law building. They have taken the old library building and by board partitions cut its one big room into two class rooms and a law library. Moreover, it is a little oblong candy box used by Professor Mitchell as his office. We found the good professor in the far end, next to the dingy window, for all the world like a big rat crouched back under the eaves of the barn. There was never a one-horse lawyer who had a more uninviting office than the corner provided by the State for this great teacher. There is not a high school in any town in North Carolina that is not very much better equipped to do what it is intended to do than the university to carry on its work.

"The boys don't need to be surrounded by luxuries, but they do need to be comfortably and safely provided for. Their physical needs must be taken care of. Then the equipment and teaching facilities should be provided to afford them the educational advantages that the good university implies in this modern age."

LIQUOR IS THE CAUSE OF KILLING IN BURKE.

Pink Brittain Killed at Home of Dick Williams, Who, With His Wife, Is Arrested.

Morganton, Jan. 12.—Blockade liquor was directly responsible for the killing about four miles from Morganton last night of Pink Brittain, a white farmer, Dick Williams, an alleged notorious blockader, and wife, "Mary Dick" Williams, almost as well known as a liquor dealer, are charged with the murder. Brittain and his son, Ed, a youth probably not over 18, it is said, stopped at the Williams place for liquor on their way home from their work, woodchopping.

Young Brittain's story is that when they called from the outside for something to drink they were cursed and fired upon, the lead penetrating the closed door, one of the heavy bullets passing through the chest of the elder Brittain and killing him almost instantly. When the two Williams were arrested later at the home of a brother-in-law, Mike Branch, they had with them three quarts of liquor and an extra heavy Swiss made rifle, the bullet from which corresponded with that taken from Brittain's clothing. They were brought here to jail and their hearing has been set for Friday afternoon.

FARRELL WILL BECOME SECRETARY TO LANDIS

(By The Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—John E. Farrell, of Astoria, N. Y., for twenty years secretary of the National Association of Manufacturers, is slated to become secretary to Federal Judge K. M. Landis, commissioner of organized hospitals, it became known today.

Secretary Farrell, a pioneer in hospital work, has received a tentative offer from Judge Landis, but the question of salary and the terms of office has not been decided. It is known, however, that Farrell will decline unless the terms are for twenty years at a salary of $12,000 a year as secretary of the same hospital.

Judge Landis probably will enter upon his duties in a few days.

BEONA DEAL DOES NOT KNOW OF FATAL TRAGEDY

(By The Associated Press.)

Living on the salt water, but at St. Paul's Hospital and receiving the best possible medical attention, Beona Deal, 11 years old, child of the tragic fire which killed her father, sister, and grandparents, is now in a critical condition.

Beona knows nothing of the crash because the Southern freight train and her father's automobile at the Boarding crossing nearly three weeks ago that snuffed out the lives of E. M. Deal, her 12-year-old sister, and Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Deal, her grandfather and grandmother.

It is not known by hospital attendants when the little girl will be told of the accident, fearful of the result the dreadful news will have upon her nervous condition.

Worth Considering

This question is not so much how you contract a cold, but how to get rid of it with the least loss of time and inconvenience. If you will consider the experience of others under similar circumstances, who have been most successful in checking their colds, in their beginning, you will secure a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy without delay and use it faithfully. There are many families who have used this preparation successfully for years and hold it in high esteem. It is excellent.
