

CLEVELAND CULLINGS.

The Star. Dr. Peter Mull, son of Mr. Zero Mull of Casar, was here last week on a visit from Coco Solo, Canal Zone.

The Star continued Dr. Mull while he was here and a week later the continuation of the story was given.

Prof. W. D. Barnes, principal of the Piedmont high school, was a special visitor Saturday and he always takes a great pride in telling of the success of former Piedmont high school graduates.

Mr. Will C. Lattimore, a native of this county who has been representing H. Robinson and Co., of Charlotte, N. C., for the past 8 years, left Tuesday for the State of Texas where he will open an office for his company.

Mr. Charlie Young, of the well known hearted thing yesterday morning when he built a snow machine and cleared the streets on West Warren that city of the community are boasting him as mayor.

The many anxious friends of Mrs. Claude B. McBrayer will be glad to know that she is now resting very comfortably at the Rutherford hospital, where she was taken last week in a very serious condition.

CHERRYVILLE CHAT.

The Eagle. The Eagle is requested to announce that the Gaston County Baptist Singing Convention will meet with the Alexis Baptist church, Sunday, January 23, 1921.

Dr. W. P. Mull, junior Lieutenant in the United States Medical naval corps at Panama Canal, left Sunday for Panama after a visit here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Zero Mull.

Mr. Zero Mull one of the most influential citizens of Casar, Cleveland county, has disposed of his holdings there and moved to Cherryville. We welcome this good family to our town.

Mr. C. W. Beam, a prominent farmer of North Brook, was a business visitor in town Monday. Mr. Beam was taking home several hundred vigorous-looking cabbage plants which he will transplant as soon as the ground gets in fix.

All the cotton mills here, with the exception of the Gaston, are now running on full time. The Gaston we understand will start up again in a few days. The Rhyme Houser new mill recently installed with all necessary machinery has not started up yet.

Mr. S. S. Harrelson, a prominent farmer of Panhandle, was a business visitor in town Monday. Mr. Harrelson has in his possession a souvenir hammer once owned by his grandfather. He doesn't know the exact age of the hammer, but it is considerably past the century mark.

TO WELCOME FLEET.

CALLAO, Peru, Jan. 29. Six and Peruvian warships sailed out of this port today to welcome the United States Atlantic fleet, which is en route to visit Callao. Several vessels of the fleet have also sailed to visit the port. The advance guard of the United States warships arrived here on Tuesday and on completing the maneuvers before Prometheus, Bridget, Bristle, Nereid and Proteus.

YORK AND YORKVILLE

The Enquirer. Clem Crawford, negro desperado of the Smith's Turn Out section of York county, who showed up at Rollman, Chester county, last Saturday after he had been vainly sought by York and Chester county officers on charge of issuing false checks, selling liquor and resisting arrest, is still at large. Officers expressed the opinion that the only way Crawford will be brought in will be by a trap.

Crawford, it will be recalled, engaged in a pistol tussle and revolver battle with York and Chester county officers several weeks ago and in the fight he was shot in the leg, the bullet, presumably being from a rifle bullet, which wound was in the hands of constable H. L. Johnson, who was in the fight.

Crawford is alleged to have told police at Rollman last week that he has since been lying out around his home ever since the battle with the officers. Sheriff Fred Quinn said yesterday that he has good reason to believe that this statement is true, but that Crawford had been to Charlotte, N. C., and Philadelphia, Pa., since he undertook to resist the officers of the law.

The idea of a common lunch for the school children is entirely practical. It is not only a good thing for the children, but it is also a good thing for the parents. The common lunch is a good thing for the children, but it is also a good thing for the parents.

HE'S NOT SATISFIED WITH 115 BUSHEL CORN FROM ACRE.

N. C. Extension Farm News.

Raising 115 bushels of corn on an acre of land at a cost of 42 cents a bushel is what T. R. Hodges, of Washington, N. C., R. F. D., did last season, according to C. R. Hudson, State Farm Demonstration Agent. The land was surveyed and the corn sown by J. F. Latham, O. P. McCarty and county agent B. T. Leppard.

Details of how the yield was obtained follow:

- 1. He has selected his seed corn from the field for seven years.
2. It is a white, two eared variety, and is now known as Hodges' Produce.
3. Alfalfa was grown on the land five years ago.
4. Clover and oats were grown on the land three years ago, and cut for hay.
5. Last year fresh potatoes were grown on the land and followed by soy beans for hay.
6. Land was broken and harrowed last fall.
7. Two tons of stable manure broadcast, and harrowed in last fall.
8. Fertilizer program: 300 pounds 2-3-1 put under corn; 100 pounds 16 per cent acid phosphate as side dressing; 100 pounds kaffir; 200 pounds nitrate of soda.
9. C. R. Hudson says that Mr. Hodges was striving to produce 125 bushels on an acre of ground, and he still means to reach that figure. Next year he will use some plant to grow with it. He will expect to have help in the field selection of his seed corn this year. He has remarked that he could not be satisfied until he had made his point of 125 bushels to the acre.

1920 WAS GREATEST CORN YEAR IN HISTORY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. 1920 was the greatest corn year in the history of the country, according to the records of the Department of Agriculture. In 1920, growing a record crop of 2,292,307,000 bushels, the farmers established a new record for average yield per acre with 50.7 bushels, the second highest in history, the country's average yield being 35.7 bushels.

The total plantings of corn last year were 100,000,000 acres, which was smaller than the 1919 planting of 102,000,000 acres. The total yield of corn in 1920 was 2,292,307,000 bushels, or 22.7 bushels per acre, compared with 1919, when the yield was 2,292,307,000 bushels, or 22.7 bushels per acre.

The average yield per acre of corn in 1920 was 50.7 bushels, compared with 35.7 bushels in 1919. This was a record for the country, and it was due to a number of factors, including the use of better seed, better cultivation, and better weather.

CAREFUL STUDIES GIVEN OIL PROPERTIES IN MEXICO

(By The Associated Press.)

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 31.—U. S. oil studies are being given the latest United States government note regarding oil properties in Mexico and the Mexican government will probably answer it during the present week. Washington, demanded, according to The Enquirer, a revision of permits to drill oil wells granted by Jacinto R. Trevino, former minister of industry and commerce, and included with it a note a list of oil companies whose interests would be seriously affected if the permits were allowed to stand.

COTTON MANUFACTURERS APPEAL FOR PROTECTION.

Washington, Jan. 27.—Cotton manufacturers, north and south, appealed to the house ways and means committee today for immediate relief from a "flood" of importations. They urged restoration of the Payne-Aldrich tariff schedule, modified only to provide for American valuation at the port of entry instead of basing the tariff on foreign quotations.

During the discussion, the investigation of the Arkwright Club, an association of New England cotton manufacturers, made 14 years ago, was brought in by Representative H. T. Rainey, democrat of Illinois, who attempted to read findings of the department of justice. Chairman Fordney objected, also preventing Mr. Rainey's attempted cross-examination of A. H. Lowe, of Pittsburg, Miss., who filed the brief asking protection for the industry.

Mr. Lowe told the committee that more than 1,500,000 persons were dependent on the cotton manufacturing industry for a livelihood, adding that a shrinkage in values of the manufacturing plants would follow a failure to supply adequate protection.

"We do not believe it wise," he said, "to stop our industry, throw our labor out of work and turn over our market to the foreigners even if they do save upwards of $12,000,000,000."

The speaker said that had the war not practically shut off imports the cotton manufacturing industry would have been bankrupted by the Underwood tariff. Signing the brief with Mr. Lowe were Nathaniel P. Ayer, Boston; Stuart W. Chaney, Philadelphia; J. L. Bousmanian, New York; and William P. Ogden and Robert Anney, both of Boston.

COTTON EXPORTS WERE LARGE LAST YEAR

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Cotton exports last year were valued at over $1,000,000,000, according to a report of the Department of Commerce. The report states that the total value of cotton exports for the year ending September 30, 1920, was $1,000,000,000, or an increase of 10 per cent over the year ending September 30, 1919, when the total value was $900,000,000.

The report also states that the total value of cotton exports for the year ending September 30, 1920, was $1,000,000,000, or an increase of 10 per cent over the year ending September 30, 1919, when the total value was $900,000,000.
