Gastonia, The South's City of Spindles

WINNING AND LOSING.
A spectacular sometimes makes it, but more often he doesn't. The man who works and saves always makes it.

Dr. A. A. McGeachy, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church of Charlotte, in his address in Gastonia a few days ago praised the work of the men of the church.

However, the work of the women is not to be discounted, and the doctor made acknowledgement of this fact. In a great many instances the success of a good woman in the home is directly responsible for the action of the man of the house.

The editor of the Petit Parisis sent the message: "From my experience I find that it is lunacy to undertake to deceive the people. In journalism, more than in any other field, honesty is the best policy."

Frederick R. Martin, acting general manager of the Associated Press, said: "May the school grow more powerful in establishing the tenets of the only efficient journalism, which must have truthful reporting as its cornerstone."

Service to the public is the real key-note of all newspaper work, and this service must be truthful if it would serve its real purpose. Speaking of the real mission of the newspaper, the Greenville, S. C., News says:

Here you have in a striking little synopsis the basic principles of American journalism today. They may be boiled down to two—the honest quest of truth and the honest interpretation of truth.

ATHLETICS IN THE SCHOOL.
Through an unusual lucky draw, coupled with some mighty good basketball, the Belmont high school of this county jumps into the limelight in today's Observer with a double column head over the story of how the Gaston county team licked the basketballers from Cabarrus yesterday in Charlotte.

attention and time given to athletics in this high school has seriously interfered with the work of the students in the classroom? For answer, we refer to the fact that the star player on the Belmont quint after scoring nearly half his team's points on the one day, represents his school the next day in an intercollegiate declamation contest at Lenoir College.

THE SURPLUS OF COTTON.
Gov. Harding's advice to the farmers to pay attention first to the corn and tobacco, and let cotton take care of itself as a surplus crop, only that much to be planted as could be gathered by the farmer himself, was timely and to the point.

THE PRINCIPLE OF THE PRESS.
On the occasion of the opening of the New Joseph Meadell School of Journalism at Northwestern University many messages from prominent newspapers and editors were heard.

Stephane Lausanne, editor of the Paris Martin, called: "That which is most essential in journalism is the love of truth. The journalist has but one ancestor, Diogenes, and like Diogenes, he goes a-baiting everywhere with his lantern searching for the truth."

Once there was a man who did a good deed and didn't brag about it. He died before he had a chance to talk to any body.

Children are whipped for two reasons: because they need it, and because they are not big enough to defend themselves.

The poor man likes to associate himself with the thought that "Easy street is but a continuation of the broad way that leads to destruction."

OPPOSE PUNISHMENT JAPANESE SENTRY WHO KILLED AMERICAN OFFICER

(By The Associated Press.)
TOKIO, Feb. 18.—Punishment of Tokyo soldiers who shot and killed Lieutenant Langdon of the United States cruiser Tanaka at Vladivostok late in December, is opposed in a resolution introduced in the Japanese diet today by Representative Zensu Tanaka, a member of the Liberal party.

As a sentry on duty in such a place as Vladivostok and under such circumstances to give rise to the Langdon affair, the resolution declared, "the conduct of the Japanese private was entirely justifiable, as he acted in self-defense." The sentry should be punished, perhaps in a Japanese soldier will in future be willing to take up the burden of the duties attaching to a sentry, much less necessary on these duties faithfully.

A regiment of former soldiers in the vicinity of Shimizu, near Yokohama, has adopted resolutions opposing the punishment of Ogasawara. Officers, especially those in junior grades, are going to Manchuria to plan the inauguration of a movement to arouse public opinion in such.
