

Here This Week Demonstrations every day

Come and see America's finest and best built kitchen cabinet

Learn how to save work

WE announce that we have secured representation of what we consider to be the best kitchen cabinet made—the Napanee Dutch Kitchenet. We believe it is better equipped to save work. We believe it is better made. We believe it is almost perfection.

Our shipment of these cabinets has arrived. We want you to see and examine them. We want to have the opportunity of showing you how they save work — how they are built.

Only a few to be sold

Because of manufacturing and shipping conditions, our allotment of Dutch Kitchenets is limited to a small number. We confidently believe they will all be sold within a very short time. We therefore advise you to come soon — very soon.

Special prices

Our introductory lot of Dutch Kitchenets will be sold at attractive prices. The cost is really trifling when compared with the great change this cabinet will make in your home work.

Don't delay seeing this great convenience — the kitchen cabinet that saves work in many thousands of homes each day.

With each Napanee Cabinet sold this week we will give one of these beautiful 42-Piece Dinner Sets, worth $15. You can't afford to miss this sale.

FIND TEETH OF BIRD THAT LIVED SOME THIRTY MILLION YEARS AGO

LAWRENCE, KAN., May 18. — One of the two specimens in the world of bird's teeth was found in the chalk beds of Western Kansas and has been preserved at the University of Kansas museum, according to Prof. H. T. Martin, curator at the museum, who found the specimen. The other specimen is at the Yale University museum. The Kansas fossil is of the Cretaceous period, about 25 million years ago. Ten teeth are included with the fossil.

This is the second oldest known type of bird life, according to Professor Martin. It is the most complete specimen that has been preserved. The bird was of the Hesperornis family. It was five feet long, had a short vertebrae tail and possessed no wings. It was a marine bird and resembled the modern penguin.

"The earliest specimen of bird that has been discovered had teeth," says Professor Martin. "This earliest type lived in the Jurassic period, some 20 million years ago, and specimens have been found in the lithographic limestone beds of Germany. This type of bird was about the size of a crow and had sharp, pointed teeth and a vertebrae tail longer than the body, like the Dinosaur."

The specimen preserved at the University of Kansas is more valuable than any other, according to Professor Martin, because it gives a clear idea of the semi-plumaceous feathery covering which the bird possessed. No other known specimen gives this evidence.

Unnecessary.

"I haven't any sympathy for the man who beats his wife," said a passenger in the smoker of the 5:15.

"Well," said another, a timid, under-sized fellow. "A man who can beat up his wife doesn't need any sympathy."
