Clean Cut Advice to Graduates.

And so on and on and on. And then with some clean cut advice to the graduates to adopt the proper standard by getting themselves right with God and to get their polities fixed straight and especially to stand up strong against the reds and "bolsheviteism" the governor sat down and the exercises turned again to the solemn award of the honorary de grees and other academic matters.

But the things had been said and the debate had been held and the arguments. had been heard. As to who won the debate the community has not yet decided. The graduates were puzzled but they all knew that something exciting was going on and they enjoyed every bit of it. And as for the alumni and the crowds of state officials and the secres of legislators and politicians, they sat back and ate up every word of it and had the best time they have known in years.

Rumor has it that the infate between the former secretary and the governor continued in entirely friendly fashion long after the exercises were finished, with other matters being brought into the discussion, such as the Southern Power Company and corporations and place on the platform. The crowd would SHOT FOUR POLICEMEN have enjoyed that too. On every side have enjoyed that too. On every side the question was heard "why in the home of John Fallis, who late last night world didn't somebody arrange for a rejoinder on both sides." But there was no rejoinder and the debate must stand on the first speeches.
