

UNION LOCALS

(Correspondence of The Daily Gazette.)

UNION, April 29. — On Monday night, the school had its commencement. In the exercises were pupils of all ages to the oldest boys and girls at school.

Particularly charming was a little recited recitation of the "Three Bears," by three small boys and a girl.

The goodnight drill was also by very small pupils, all the little girls had on nighties, and night caps, and carried tiny bed-room candles. There were many other interesting features, too many to name. The play of Hiawatha, was particularly interesting, with trees and a tent with camp fire. The stage looked quite woody. And the Indians, with feather war-bonnets, bows and arrows, and Indian suits, and beads, were very charming. And it is really wonderful how many pages of Hiawatha, those boys and girls recite. The exercises were under the management of Misses Maulden, Leeper and Bares, the three teachers of the school.

COLLEGE STUDENT, IMPLICATED IN MURDER, A SUICIDE (By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 29. — Charles Shloss, nephew of Daniel Guggenheim, banker, and a classmate of Elmer C. Drewes, Dartmouth College freshman who was murdered in Philadelphia about eighteen months ago, killed himself yesterday by drinking poison in the room of David K. Este, a friend. No explanation of his act could be learned.

The young man's suicide recalled his connection with the unsolved Drewes murder mystery investigation, which brought out that Shloss had paid Drewes $100 shortly before he was slain on a lonely road.

Drewes was motoring back to college from Atlantic City, after having made a quick trip to New York to collect the money from Shloss. He gave Drewes a check which was cashed by the murdered student's father. Shloss hurried to Philadelphia when investigators brought his name into the mystery, and his explanations satisfied the authorities. He related the interview with the money, at which he had paid him the money and that he had spent the night at Atlantic City.

W. F. Brines later was tried for the murder but was acquitted.

BELIEVE WYMAN IS SLAYER OF GERTRUDE HANNA. (By The Associated Press.)

HOOPSTOWN, Ill., April 29. — Information obtained through a night of grilling of John Wyman, 36, a well to do farmer, in connection with the mysterious death of Gertrude Hanna, 25, whose body was found Thursday in the basement of the unattended parsonage of the First United Presbyterian church here will be placed before the grand jury May 15. During 34 hours of almost constant questioning Wyman stubbornly insisted that he was innocent of murdering the young woman, but admitted that he was the father of her child, which would have been born in a few weeks.

Wyman has been trapped in a network of lies, the State's attorney continued, "and we have gained sufficient information to warrant a grand jury investigation of his connection in this baffling case."
