

BAPTISTS PLANNING TO COMPLETE $75,000,000 CAMPAIGN IN SUMMER

Intensive South-Wide Campaign to Be Launched at Nashville June 20-21—Every Organization in the Church to Be Enlisted.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., May 19.—Plans for completing the $75,000,000 fund of the Southern Baptist convention will be outlined in an intensive south-wide campaign launched at a conference of Baptist leaders in Nashville, June 20-21, it was announced at the convention here today.

Plans call for forming of an organization somewhat similar to the one that obtained the original subscriptions and in addition to members of the conservation commission including the State and general secretaries, the president and secretary of the women's missionary union, secretaries of other auxiliary organizations and a few representative pastors and laymen, invitations also will be extended to the executive committee of the convention and of the women's union, state secretaries of the union, editors of Baptist papers, the executive committee of the laymen's missionary movement and others.

While the meetings of the women's union were devoted largely to reports on its work toward the $75,000,000 fund with election of officers set for late in the day, the convention turned its attention to home missions and Sunday schools and the reports of those boards were made public.

Statistics on Southern Baptist work since the last convention show large gains for the convention year of 1922. The total contributions amounting to $38,856,082, a gain of $993,999, and the value of church property $102,701,208, an increase of $1,671,078.

Reports from the women's union also showed increases in all lines of endeavor and the annual address of Mrs. W. C. James, of Birmingham, president, declared the organization is growing year by year. The Union has presented a banner to the Maryland branch in appreciation of its activities in further work. A number of loving cups were given other state organizations of the union.

ROTARY CLUB PLANS TO BUY A CAMP SITE FOR BOYS

If Project Can Be Properly Financed Club Will Buy Tract of Land and Establish Boys' Camp and Playground Site—To Help in Employment of Boys' Work Man.

Deciding to take preliminary steps toward the purchase of a tract of land to be used for a camp site for boys and the adoption of a motion to help in the securing of a man to take charge of boys' work in Gastonia were the main features of the Thursday week's Rotary luncheon held at the Country Club. Two new members, Harry Adams and Clyde Rixens, were received into the membership of the club. Plans for the Rotary Kiwanis baseball game next Tuesday at Loray Park were announced.

Chief interest centered in the boys' work plans, a proposition that has been sponsored by the Rotary club since its organization in Gastonia. In one way and another the boys of the city, but not in a way that is tangible. For some time the club has been considering the purchase of a small tract of land near the city which can be converted into a suitable camp site, where swimming, boating, fishing and athletic programs might be enjoyed. Options on two such sites have been secured by the club. One of these is in close proximity to Crowders Mountain and affords excellent opportunities for all these various phases of boy activities.

Another forward step taken by the club was the decision to help in the employment of a man who shall devote his whole time to activities among the boys of Gastonia. The Community service organization is planning such a step and it is planned that the Rotary club shall co-operate with this organization in this movement.

Dr. J. H. Henseler presented the cause of the Rotary and the opportunity to sign up for season tickets for next year's program. Many of these tickets were taken.

Mr. John L. Beal presented the report of the committee from the Rotary club which met with other civic organizations a few days ago relative to the matter of a soldier memorial for the county. The recommendation of the committee was adopted and the committee was continued.

GEORGIA MOB DISPERSES AFTER BURNING NEGRO; NO FURTHER TROUBLE

Mob Decides That Tarver Negro Was Not Guilty and Give Up Search For Him—Body Was Partly Burned and Then Riddled With Bullets.

DAVISBORO, Ga., May 19.—Following the killing of Mrs. Elizabeth Kitchens, 22, a mail carrier, yesterday morning and the burning alive, despite the pleadings of the Washington county sheriff and a minister of the gospel, of Charlie Atkins, a 15-year-old negro boy, who is alleged to have conspired to the crime, everything was quiet in this section, today, and officers do not anticipate any further mob violence.

Members of the posse that joined in the mob hunt yesterday are apparently satisfied the killing of Mrs. Kitchens and the burning alive, despite the pleadings of the Washington county sheriff and a minister of the gospel, of Charlie Atkins, a 15-year-old negro boy, who is alleged to have conspired to the crime, everything was quiet in this section, today, and officers do not anticipate any further mob violence.

As the sun set yesterday the body of Atkins hung suspended from a tree at the scene of the crime, bullet riddled, with the markers of earlier floggings and only the stumps of the legs left to show where the flames had done their work.

The appeal of Sheriff English was lost in the mob clamor. Rev. A. P. Rogers made a futile appeal to the mob to "listen to the voice of reason" and admonished the men to be sure that they had the guilty man. There was a quick swirling forward of the mob, a few sharp expletives, and in less than a quarter of an hour the mob had completed its work and the scene was deserted.

The desire to own an automobile is said to have influenced the mob to commit the crime to which, it is reported he confessed.

Acting on the dying statement that Atkins is said to have made, declaring that John Henry Tarver shot Mrs. Kitchens, officers today are making efforts to find Tarver, a 19-year-old negro. Officers are using track dogs.

Early this morning Jim Atkins was taken to Sandersville and lodged in jail on suspicion. He is a brother of the dead negro. Sheriff English succeeded in getting Gainer Atkins and his wife, father and stepmother of the mob victim. Fears were expressed that the couple might have been dealt with by the mob if they had not been taken quickly to Sandersville.

DAVISBORO, Ga., May 18.—Following his confession that he robbed and murdered Mrs. William Kitchens, 22, rural mail carrier, of this city, Charlie Atkins, 15-year-old negro boy, was burned at the stake at 6 o'clock tonight.

The lynching occurred at the scene of the murder, more than 2,000 persons from several counties witnessing or taking part, according to witnesses.

For 15 minutes, the mob loosened the track chains that held Atkins to a pine tree and placed his scalded body in the middle of the main highway. He was conscious, crying in pain. The mob demanded to know if there were others connected with the murder.

Atkins, it was said, named John Henry Tarver, another young negro boy, who he said was the only other person connected with it. He had previously connected his brother with the case.

Members of the mob raised his body again, fastened it to the pine tree in an upright position, rekindled the fire at the base of the tree and then stood off giving those in the crowd opportunity to fire shots into the body.

Undertakers who obtained the body following the lynching, say that more than 200 shots entered the charred body. Immediately after completing the lynching the mob set out to find Tarver, determined on lynching him if he can be found.

The results in this section were checked with automobiles, more than 300 cars being at the scene of the lynching.

VALENTINO'S MARRIAGE TO BE PROBED BY THE CALIFORNIA OFFICIALS

Will Go to Mexico in Lower California Where Marriage Was Performed Last Saturday—Walthall, Another Actor, Is Under Suspicion.

LOS ANGELES, CALIF., May 19.—Investigation of the marriage of Rodolph Valentino, film actor, to Winifred Hudnut, known professionally as Natacha Rambova while, according to California laws, he still was the husband of Jean Acker, film actress, was to be carried today to Mexico, Lower California, where the ceremony was performed last Saturday.

Thomas Lee Woodline, district attorney, and Tom McCalland, one of his deputies, planned to go to the Mexican border town, learn all possible facts in the case and determine whether criminal proceeding on the charges of bigamy should be taken against Valentino.

On the way to Mexico the officials expected to make stops at Palm Springs and El Centro, where the actor and Miss Hudnut are said to have passed some time after leaving Mexico and before returning to Los Angeles. Valentino is believed to be in Los Angeles, but Miss Hudnut is believed to be on route New York, to her father, Richard Hudnut, a perfume manufacturer.

At the district attorney's office, emphasis was laid on the "intent" of Valentino.

"If he left this country a few days after getting a divorce," said Mr. McCalland, "was married in Mexico and then returned to the benefit of the laws here, he clearly intended to evade the law here. It makes no difference if the woman he married has left for the east."

The district attorney concurred in the informal opinion recently given by judges of the Los Angeles Superior court that Miss Acker from whom Valentino obtained an interlocutory decree of divorce January 10, 1922, would be his legal wife until the decree was made final a year after that date.

Valentino, who, at the trial of the divorce action, gave his true name as Rodolph Dolomieu has been seen in public only once since his marriage to Miss Hudnut. That was Wednesday at Pomona, 30 miles east of Los Angeles, where he escorted his bride to the east bound train she boarded there. Movie "fans" recognized him at the depot. It is understood the actor has engaged legal counsel, although there is no charge against him. Federal authorities also are investigating his marriage. Frank M. Stargis, of the Department of Justice, said the department desired to know, whether in bringing Miss Hudnut back into California, where he already had a legal wife, after the ceremony at Mexico, the actor had violated the Mann white slave act.

Mr. Stargis stated also the department was interested in the marriage at Tijuana, Lower California, October 3, 1921, of Frank Mayo, motion picture actor, to Dagnair Godowsky, daughter of Leopold Godowsky, the pianist. Four days after obtaining an interlocutory decree of divorce.

A marriage contracted by Henry B. Walthall, actor, is said to be under investigation by Federal agents.

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIF., May 19.—Henry B. Walthall, screen star, who is playing in Vallejo here, expresses no worry as to the proposed investigation into his marriage.

"There are absolutely no grounds for an investigation into my second marriage," he said last night.

"I married my first wife, Isabelle Penton, actress, 15 years ago. We could get along and separated. I obtained a divorce at Chicago five years ago. I was given a final decree with the provision that I would not marry again in the State for a year.

"Ten days after my divorce I married my leading lady, Miss Mary Charleson, Indiana. At that time the legality of my act was thrashed out by the Indiana judiciary and it was decided I had done nothing outside of my legitimate rights."

LINCOLN GIRL WHO MARRIED CAMP GREENE SOLDIER IS DESERTED

Suing For $50,000 For Alienation of Affection—Married Into Wealthy Family Which She Did Not Suit—Story Told on Stand by Wife of Camp Greene Soldier Creates a Sensation.

WINDSOR, VERMONT, May 18.—"She said I was swarthy, skinny and homely and a disgrace as a slaughterhouse."

A little girl, with lonely eyes shaded by a floppy hat, drowned in a soft southern accent in federal court. Few in the crowded court room knew her, but her words caused a sensation.

Fashionably garbed women rubbing elbows with farmers' wives straightened out and bent forward, the gaze of each other in amazement. For the little girl, who was Mrs. Nellie R. Nelson, of Lincoln, N. C., was speaking of Kate W. Nelson, wife of Thomas R. Nelson, the millionaire state king and social leader in the state of Vermont. The little girl is the wife of the son of the proud Mrs. Nelson. Bomeya W. Nelson, noted Harvard athlete. She is suing her husband's parents for $50,000 for alienation of her husband's affections.

As the young Mrs. Nelson, a typical southern beauty, related the pictures of her short but hapless romance, the stern visaged country jury was visibly stirred, while even Judge Sterns wiped the tears from his eyes.

It was a story of kaleidoscopic emotion, a secret marriage at Charlotte, N. C., a home made with her husband's shocked and perturbed parents, the inevitable clash and the broken-hearted little wife's final and pathetic return to her own shabby suffering parents' lack among the Carolina hills.

The young student married her in North Carolina in 1917, and a year later, she charged, ordered her out of his father's home in Pawlet, because "she wasn't suit the family."

Mrs. Nelson, she charged, on the witness stand, had been cruel to her, ever since her continually snubbing her and while in the state king's mansion making her life miserable.

"She told me that I was a great disappointment as a daughter-in-law," she said. "When I cried, she merely laughed sarcastically and walked away."

The young Mrs. Nelson said she met her husband in her home town in North Carolina in 1914.

"He made ardent love to me," she said. "When he came to me, a military cadet at Charlotte in 1917 he showed his loving and proposed that we marry. 'Mother will love you as much as I do,' he said.

"I consented almost at once, after he had come his wife and was married in Charlotte in 1918."

"He brought me to Vermont immediately and for months my husband's hands were continually snubbing me and I suffered from his parents. A few months after I had reached the home, Bomeya told me one day that I had better pack up and go back home. 'I didn't suit his people.'"

"I left and never returned to him since."

A letter which the young girl said her husband soon after she returned to her southern home, but after he had started suit for divorce, was the subject of a bitter legal battle in a superior court. It was addressed to "Little Husband (G. M.) Mined" and the girl bride wept continuously as she mentioned it. Decision on the question was withheld until morning.

Despite Its Disappointments Lloyd George Is Pleased With Results Of Genoa Conference

Warns Russia That She Must Change Her Attitude If She Expects Any Further Aid From Europe—Must Not Repudiate Debts If Expecting to Borrow More Money—Fine Results From Conference.

GENOA, May 19.—The Genoa economic conference adjourned at 1:15 o'clock this afternoon.

GENOA, May 19.—Prime Minister Lloyd George, of Great Britain, in his salutatory speech to the Genoa economic conference today said the conference had gathered "fine crops," namely the meeting to be held at The Hague, the non-aggression pact, and the reports of the finance, transport and economic commissions, which he said also justified the holding of the conference.

These results must be incorporated into living practice, however, the Premier added, in order to aid in restoring European vigor and prosperity.

"We are now at the end of the most remarkable conference ever held in the history of the world," he said. "The Genoa conference will forever be an inspiring landmark in the pathway of peace."

Mr. Lloyd George called attention to the fact that the Russian memorandum had not been accepted by the British, and he warned the Russians that if they desired to win success at The Hague it would be better for them not to enter eloquent presentations of the doctrine of repudiation of debts. Such a course was unwise when one wanted to borrow more money, he remarked.

Europe, he said, was anxious to help Russia, but Russia must accept the code of honor which Europe had as an inheritance from centuries of hard work and honest industry.

The British Premier warned Russia that Europe was gradually filling up the gap left by Russia's decline, but said he saw millions of Russians in despair and starving.

When a man sells goods, declared Mr. Lloyd George, he expects the buyer to pay for them; when a man lends money he expects the borrower to repay, and when a man asks a second loan he must repay the first one. He argued that "the Russian torpedo" had not torpedoed these basic laws of the world's business, and declared the Russians must accept them if they wished the world's cooperation.

Foreign Minister Tshetsherin, of Soviet Russia, responding to Mr. Lloyd George's remarks, regarding the Russian memorandum and the appeal from the British Premier to the Russians to modify their economic views, said:

"Even Mr. Lloyd George's brilliant eloquence cannot convert the Russian people, who have other prejudices. For instance, if one's neighbor burns down one's house he should pay for the damage. The Russians, however, will continue their efforts for peace."

Premier Facta, of Italy, made the closing address of the conference, which adjourned at 1:15 o'clock.

LLOYD GEORGE OPTIMISTIC. GENOA, May 19.—The economic conference ended today with a plenary meeting in San Giorgio palace after 39 days of efforts to solve Europe's manifold problems. The period since the beginning of the Congress on April 19 has been one of disappointment in many ways for Mr. Lloyd George and other enthusiastic supporters of the conference, who hoped when they came to find that the Soviet government has altered economic policy sufficiently to make possible an agreement for the reconstruction of Russia, which would meet with the approval of France and the United States.

But Mr. Lloyd George went to San Giorgio palace today full of optimism for the outcome of the experts' negotiations with the Russians at The Hague in June, an announcement of the present meeting. He cannot announce a two-year truce for Europe as he had hoped, but there is the eight months' non-aggression pact, a gentleman's agreement as yet unsigned, but probably more effective than many signed documents.

San Giorgio palace and the royal palace were still brilliantly decorated with flowers and the flags of all the nations when the delegates gathered for the last time. Immediately informed soldiers were on duty everywhere, having gotten well during the night. The case will probably go to the jury Friday afternoon.

Jeffords' testimony was aimed at proving that Harrison had been the instigator of the crime and not himself, warned Harrison and Treves, on the stand yesterday. Both had laid the blame for the murder plot on Jeffords. Jeffords stated that Harrison had tried to cover up the bloodstains, had been a bad man, but a scoundrel to let Jeffords put out the fire and had had a larger part in killing Arnette, striking the first blow. He also stated that his relations with Arnette had not been all pleasant, in so far as Arnette left him most of the work about the place of business and was often absent for long periods. He stated that the partnership insurance had been arranged by Arnette. He admitted, however, that he had a part in the killing of Arnette and would be regretted what he had done. Jeffords was submitted to a grueling cross-examination. He said that he had not struck Arnette at all; that it was Harrison who killed him; that Harrison had been the instigator of the crime, and that he did not know of the plot at all, until after the killing. He said he had wanted to get rid of Mr. Arnette as a partner and had often referred to "getting rid of the old man," meaning in a legal way, but partnership dissolution, but that the two younger men, Harrison and Treves, with whom he had talked, thought he meant to get rid of him in a bodily way. He said they planned the murder of Arnette.
