

BUDGET OF LIVE NEWS ITEMS FROM BELMONT

(By Mrs. Adelaide S. Beard.) Queen Of Hearts Club With Mrs. Stowe. The Queen of Hearts Club met on Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Lester H. Stowe, and a very enjoyable meeting held. Bridge was played at three tables. The members present were, Mrs. Stowe, Mesdames C. P. Linsinger, R. J. Stowe, J. M. Armstrong, F. P. Hall, J. A. Gullick, A. S. Beard, C. H. Sloan, Misses Edith and Pearl Linsinger and Clara Crawford. The next meeting of the club will be held on July 3rd with Mrs. R. L. Stowe. Miss Hall Entertained High School Class Of 1921 At First Reunion. Miss Laura Hall was hostess to the class of 1921 of the Belmont High school at the first class reunion the class has ever had, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Q. Hall, on Tuesday evening. The young folks eagerly enjoyed being together and exchanging the experiences they had had during the past year. Progressive croquet was played. A fruit salad course with accessories of sandwiches, olives and ice tea were served. The members of the class present were: Misses Hall, Katherine Stowe, Nell Hall, Seanna Garrison, Annie Lee Frazier, Ethel Foster, Melva Tate, Virginia Armstrong, Marcus Reese Patrick and Isaac Howe. Junior Department Of Central Methodist Sunday School On Picnic. The Junior department of the Central Methodist church Sunday school enjoyed a picnic at the New Hope church grove on Tuesday evening. The children from the following classes were in the party: Mrs. J. W. Gaston's class, Miss Clara Armstrong's, Miss Mary Armstrong's, Miss Clara Foust's, Mrs. Ella Hoffman's and Miss Jessie Hoffman's. The chaperones were, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Horsley, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gaston and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stowe. Mrs. E. T. Richardson has returned to her home in Raleigh after visiting her mother, Mrs. Margaret Mellon, for several weeks. Miss Melva Gullick has returned from Charlotte where she attended the Christian Endeavor Convention and remained over for a visit with Miss Annie May Pharr. The many friends of Mr. W. A. Nichols will hear with interest that he is improving some after being quite sick for several weeks. Mr. Nichols had a new Confederate uniform and all arrangements completed to attend the reunion in Richmond but was taken ill. Miss Mary Ida Armstrong has gone to North Wilkesboro to attend the Epworth League Convention as a delegate from the Epworth League of the Central Methodist church. Born, to Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Lawing of the Climax village, on Monday, June 19th, a son. To Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Chapman at their home in East Belmont, a daughter, on Thursday, June 20th. To Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Garner, of the Chronicle mill, a daughter, on Tuesday, June 20th.

OLNEY LOCALS.

(Correspondence of The Daily Gazette.) OLNEY, June 22. The evangelistic meeting which was to have been held in July, beginning the second Sunday, has been postponed until the fifth Sunday in July. This eight day meeting is to be conducted by Rev. Leonard Gill, one of Synod's evangelists. We feel sure the latter date will suit the farmers much better than the former. Mr. Tate and daughter, Miss Mabel, of Old Fort, visited the former's son, Rev. T. G. Tate, last week, returning home Monday. Olney's delegates to the Christian Endeavor Convention which met in Charlotte last week, were Misses Mary Howe and Leslie Robinson. They report a grand meeting and a delightful time. Every Christian Endeavor is urged to be out next Sunday night, to hear their report of this convention. Quite a party went over to Steele Creek Saturday afternoon to the convention, which had as afternoon session at this old historic church. Those going over were: Mr. and Mrs. Ed Huffstetter, Mr. B. Q. Howe, Rev. T. G. Tate, Miss Mabel Tate and Misses Janet Choate, Thelma Davis, Alma Huffstetter, Katie May Huffstetter, Isabelle Davis, Aline Huffstetter and Mr. Robert Huffstetter. On last Sunday Mr. John Dixon, of Rock Hill and Miss Leslie Trebble, of Baltimore, were the guests of the family of Mr. H. S. Dixon. Most of our sick people are improving. Mrs. L. C. Torrence is now much better, also the child of Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Strigman and the children of Mr. M. C. Davis. We regret to note that Mrs. J. H. Dixon continues unwell. Also Thomas, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Olin Hunter. On Tuesday, Rev. T. G. Tate and Mrs. Tate and Mrs. M. L. Griffith and little Misses Mary L. and Lillian (greenlee) were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Robinson. The ladies of Olney nearly always are well represented at the market and are much pleased indeed with the curb market. The boys pig and poultry clubs and corn club, had a meeting in one of the Sunday school rooms at the church Wednesday night and gave a little program. A splendid rain fell Wednesday afternoon which was much needed for gardens and crops. Pretty cards are being received today announcing the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Robinson, June 21st, 1922. Little Misses Phoebe May and Edith Pearson are spending some time with their aunt, Mrs. W. S. Torrence on the Union road. Easy to Remember. Wife (after returning from church)—You should have been there this morning. We had a beautiful sermon. Husband—I'll bet you can't repeat the text. Wife—Yes, I can. It was from Ezekiel, 16:10: "I girded thee about with fine linen and I covered thee with silk." Husband—Hub! It's no wonder you remember it.—Boston Transcript. Should it prove true that somebody has discovered a way to run an automobile 200 miles on a gallon of oil, that proposed tax on "gas" probably would not encounter much opposition.—Boston Transcript.

CHERRYVILLE CHAT.

(Correspondence of The Daily Gazette.) CHERRYVILLE, June 22.—Mr. George T. Jarrett spent Tuesday afternoon in Gastonia on business. Clerk of the Superior Court Hon. S. C. Hendricks, was in Cherryville, Tuesday. Mr. C. L. Beam, active vice president of the Farmers' Bank and Trust Co., and Mr. C. H. Harrelson, one of the directors, spent Tuesday evening in Charlotte. Miss Vada Beam was a Lincolnton visitor Tuesday. Prof. A. C. Warlick, superintendent of the Cherryville schools, left Tuesday morning for Wake Forest, to attend the summer school. Miss Ruth Dellinger is spending this week with friends and relatives in Bluff. Mrs. E. E. McDowell and little daughter, Annie Sue, are visiting Mrs. McDowell's parents, Dr. and Mrs. B. F. Falls, in Laurinburg. Mrs. S. J. Millikin, of Hamlet, spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. T. Stivers. Mr. Platt Beam is in Blacksburg this week. Messrs. Johnathan Gullick, of Belmont, Forest Houser and Ralph McClure, left this morning for Bridgewater, where they will spend a week or more camping and fishing. Mrs. Marge Boile and little daughter of Nashville, N. C., are visiting relatives here. Mr. C. W. Beam, one of the most successful farmers in this part of the state, has changed the order of threshing wheat in his community by providing sufficient teams to haul the wheat to his barn, where the same is threshed without stacking or otherwise storing. Mr. Beam claims this is necessary on account of the size of the crop and the heavy expense of handling even at our more places; if gathered together before the threshing begins. The straw is of the finest appearance and he made nearly two thousand shocks of wheat and will make upward of fifteen hundred bales of straw. The straw of his twenty acres of land will sell today for about nine hundred dollars, he says, for quite as much as the wheat. At this writing the threshing is not completed, but it is evident that the yield will not be half a crop. A great many of our farmers are having their threshing done at this time which is earlier than usual. Most of the crops reported so far average about one-third to one-half the usual yield and all the wheat is of a very low grade.

MACADENVILLE MATTERS

(Correspondence of The Daily Gazette.) MACADENVILLE, June 22.—Rev. B. L. Hoke, of Blacksburg, S. C., who has been conducting a two-weeks meeting at the Baptist church in North Charlotte, passed through town Thursday en route to Gastonia to visit Rev. E. S. Ivory, who is very seriously ill there. He was accompanied by Mr. J. D. Turner and family, Miss Beulah Reeves and Miss Essie Skidmore. Confederate veterans here were rejoiced when they received their fifty dollars pension on the 15th. Mr. and Mrs. Will Lethco, of Belmont, were the guests Thursday of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Adcock. Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Benjamin, of St. Petersburg, Fla., spent the weekend here with Mrs. H. F. Garrett. Mr. G. A. Baker, an aged man of Macadenville, was knocked down by a public car on the highway here Friday and was badly injured. One of his legs was broken between the knee and ankle and he sustained several other bruises. Mr. Bud Kinsey was run over by the company's dump car which is used in transferring cotton from the warehouse to the mill but was not seriously injured. J. L. Webb left Monday for West End, Moore county, where he will teach a singing school. He began with fifty scholars. Mr. Webb writes that Moore county is a great country and that there are plenty of fine peaches there. Ex-service men and women who should be considered for medals of honor, distinguished service crosses and distinguished medals for meritorious services during the world war will be considered for the awards until April 1923, by a special act of Congress passed upon the recommendation of the Military Affairs Committee of the American Legion. An island in the Maunee river twenty miles from Toledo, Ohio, will furnish the setting for many Robinson Crusoe outings of a Toledo post of the American Legion. The post has bought the island outright and is erecting thereon tents and barns so that Legionnaires and their families may spend their weekends and vacations there. A squad of her comrades of the American Legion fired a last volley over the grave of Lillian Russell world famous opera star at her burial in Pittsburgh. By official warrant in the world war Miss Russell held the rating of gunnery sergeant. Anything in the office can be supplied by Brumley-Walters Printing Co. Phone 359.

How to Banish Piles

Thousands Bless Dr. Leonard, the Physician Who Discovered This Common Sense Remedy. If you think that the surgeon's knife is the only method of escape from the misery of piles, it's because you haven't heard of the new treatment known as Dr. Leonard's HEM-ROID. The Doctor's treatment is internal. By experimenting for years, he discovered the exact cause of piles and then went further and compounded a remedy that would remove the cause. Dr. Leonard wants every sufferer to benefit by his discovery and so that there will be no doubting or delay J. H. Kennedy Drug Co. and all drug stores are authorized to sell HEM-ROID with guarantee that it will do as stated or money back. On that honorable basis every sufferer should secure a package of Dr. Leonard's HEM-ROID today.

"WE'RE FOR CLEAN SHAVE!" CRIES CITY OF BEARDS

(By GENE COHN.) SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 20.—You men who've been complaining about the hardship of the daily shave— Who've been wishing you'd lived in cave-man days when razors and shaving cream—and cuts and slashes—were unknown. Who've just about made up your minds to grow a gorilla brush— List to a lesson from Sacramento. "There's nothing like a clean shave," says Sacramento, which, until the other day, hadn't had one in 12 weeks. To give honor to the "Days of 49" celebration here, the 6000 adult males of Sacramento were ordered to grow beards in emulation of the hardy pioneers. They obeyed—the chief of police as chief whisker enforcement officer, with 12 cops as aid, saw to that. And now—with the celebration and the ban on beardlessness over—6000 razors—safety-sets and otherwise—are scraping 6000 chins—and Sacramento is happy. "There's nothing like the comfort of a shave," says Joseph Stephens, banker and Chamber of Commerce director, who grew a luxuriant crop of underbrush. "Yes, the world is sold on a clean shave program," agrees City Manager Clyde M. Seavey, who had a good set of Lord Chesterfields.

IN MEMORIAM.

NELLIE GRIFFIN MARTIN. (Born January 9, 1890; Married October 13, 1908; Departed June 9, 1922.) In Dallas, N. C. at her home on The Hill Heights, just as the afternoon of June 9th, 1922 began to fade, the sweet gentle spirit of Nellie Griffin Martin, wife of Albert R. Martin took its everlasting flight. The shining glory of the western sky which faced her dear little room was but the radiance streaming from the doors of heaven flung wide open to receive its blessed visitor. It was well that if death had to come to one so fair, and young and beloved, it should have come when the day was little more than half over. While the happily mated little birds were filling the air with their sweet jargoning and the afternoon breeze was wafting the aroma of the many beautiful flowers which her own precious hands had planted around the sweet little home. It was as she herself would have wished it. About his death there should have been no somber trappings, no gloomy environments. As she had lived, bright, pure and sweet and winsome—so to her end should should have come as it did amid the carol of birds and the glory of the afternoon sun and fragrance of blossoming flowers. About the death of a young, sweet wife and mother who has just begun to really live in that mystic realm of womanhood and motherhood, there is always something infinitely pathetic, but in the death of her, whose pure young life these lines are written to commemorate, there was a pathos, a boundless grief, a heart break beyond words to describe. No executor, more modest or unselfish life than hers, ever blessed the earth with the blessing of its living. She had learned the luxury of doing good. So it seems only human that to all of us her going away is "A frown upon the atmosphere. That had no business to appear." Yet it is said that the world's greatest violin makers would break and mend, crash and rebuild again. Oh, yes, there are nights when the stars refuse to shine there are hours when the poor heart is left bleeding and torn. Who knows? It may be that we must be shattered, but the skillful hand that broke the instrument can rebuild it. He shows us a way that shall bring out of life its sweetest harmonies, its softest melodies. The devoted love and admiration of parents, brothers and sisters, husband, children and friends, a love and homage that denied her nothing, nor refused her any wish, was not adequate to spoil her or make her vain. She was utterly unconscious of the delicate yet potent charm of her person and manner. Mrs. Martin was a vivacious little blonde. Her sweet dimpled face surrounded by a wealth of golden tresses, smiling from beneath a rose faced hat which she was wont to wear, and her quick sporty little walk was a familiar scene to us all, as she hurried here and there thinking and doing for others. It is said of her that in her last sickness when the scorching fever was drying up the fountains of her vitality and death was drawing closer and closer, her thoughts were ever of others and almost her last words to the faithful and devoted husband were, "Have I made you happy?" Her spirit was ever optimistic and she died as she had lived, smiling. In the living room so full of tender memories of her, she rested but one night and following the funeral services at the First Baptist church at 3 o'clock next afternoon was taken by loving reverent hands back to Greenville, S. C., her childhood home which she loved so well and on Monday, June 12th at 11 o'clock was borne to the cemetery and laid in a grave so placed that some day husband and children can sleep on either side of her and bear her company. The red earth of the newly made grave was hidden out of sight by the rich profusion of rare and beautiful flowers that bearded loved ones had sent as tokens of remembrance. Beneath billows of flowers she sleeps and the universal mourning of her adopted home town, Dallas, attests the love and esteem in which she was held. "Say not 'Her work is done' No deed of love or goodness ever dies But in the lives of others, multiples Say—"It is just begun." MABEL CRAIG WILKINS. WILL McCALL RUN? (Raleigh News and Observer.) "If Massachusetts wishes to make the Indiana and Pennsylvania primaries look like the dreariest routine," says The New York Evening Post, "all she has to do is to carry into effect the story that ex-Governor McCall is going to run independent candidate against Senator Lodge. Discussing this matter, a political writer for The New York World said the other day that there were about two chances to one that Governor McCall would run, not with the expectation of being elected but from a sense of duty to accomplish the defeat of Senator Lodge. Senator Lodge ought to be defeated. No man in public has exhibited a partisanship so narrow and bitter as he showed in regard to President Wilson. Indeed it was fanaticism rather than partisanship, and it would be a service to the republican party if McCall would run and thus bring about the retirement of Lodge. For Lodge is a liability rather than an asset. McCall is an able man and a man of very positive convictions and beliefs. He does not hesitate at the daring and the unusual. He has no love for Lodge on more than one occasion. But his main incentive, it is said, would be to punish Lodge for his activity in keeping the United States out of the League of Nations. Chairman Whipple, one of the greatest lawyers in the country, is spoken of as the most probable Democratic candidate. With McCall in the race Whipple or any other good Democrat, possessing the necessary qualifications, would have a walk-over. Dr. Felix Schelling says the college man is more earnest than he used to be. "The war seems to have been effective in teaching the young idea to shoot."—Philadelphia Record.
