

BEAUTY AND POWER: ATTRIBUTES OF CANADA'S WATERFALLS

Wapta Falls

Twin Falls, one of the wonders of Yoho Valley

Light and power for Fort Arthur and Ft. William consumes but a trickle of the power latent in Kakabeka Falls

Those who follow the progress of development in Canada are aware that she has vast potential water-power resources. A governmental report issued late in 1920 gave an estimate of the total available water power at from 13 to 20 millions of horse power. At that date turbine water wheel and turbine horse power had been installed to the amount of 2,417,896 h. p., capable of being expanded to 3,384,808 h. p. This power is cheap and is attracting American industries to locate branches in Canada.

flowing toward the Atlantic, St. Lawrence, Great Lakes, Pacific and Arctic Oceans and Hudson's Bay. In their rapid descent these rivers take many spectacular leaps and form tremendous waterfalls. Up till now these falls have been viewed from the utilitarian rather than the scenic viewpoint, but now they are beginning to attract visitors in greater numbers as their majesty and beauty become known. Canada possesses an unique attraction in the Reversible Falls at St. John, New Brunswick, on the St. John River. This river empties into the Bay of Fundy, noted for its 40 ft. tides, and when it is high tide the water from the bay upstream reversing the falls.

from Quebec City, while not nearly so great in volume as Niagara are almost twice as high. The water falls almost perpendicularly in a 274 foot leap. Kakabeka Falls, 20 miles west of Ft. William in Ontario, on the Kaministiquia River are ten feet higher than Niagara and of great volume. A good motor road stretches between Ft. William and these falls. Innumerable falls are scattered through the Canadian Pacific Rockies, some of the best known are those in Johnson Creek near Banff, the Giant's Steps at Lake Louise and Twin Falls and Takakkaw Falls in the Yoho Valley. Bonkney Falls on the Kootenay River are very beautiful seen by moonlight and supply the whole Kootenay Valley with power.

LANDERS CHAPEL NEWS (Correspondence of The Daily Gazette) LINCOLNTON, Sept. 26. — The cool weather of the past few days is making the cotton open and the farmers are very busy gathering cotton and picking cotton and getting ready to sow wheat. Everybody interested in the community fair to be held at Mount Beulah school house October 4th is asked to be present Monday, October 2nd, to make preparation. Tuesday, October 3rd, will be entrance day. Everybody having anything to exhibit please bring it Tuesday. Lunch will be served on fair day for the benefit of the fair. Everybody come and let's make it a great success. Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Alexander spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jim Manney. Mr. Sam Rhyne and Miss Odus Payne took their friends by surprise Wednesday night when they were quietly married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Payne, by the bride's pastor, Rev. Carl Lippard. The groom is a prosperous young farmer of Kings Mountain, route one. The bride is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Payne and is a young lady of many excellent qualities. Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Alexander and little son, Charles, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Alexander. Miss Verain Mae Carpenter spent Saturday with Miss Audrey Kieft. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lynch spent Sunday with Miss Bertha Alexander. Mr. Andrew Lynch is right sick at present. Mr. J. T. Carpenter, who has been right sick, is able to be up and about again.

CHERRYVILLE CHAT. (Correspondence of The Daily Gazette.) CHERRYVILLE, Sept. 27. — The Mothers' Club met at the home of Mrs. D. R. Mauney last Thursday afternoon. Mrs. O. G. Falls, of Kings Mountain, district president, was present and gave a very interesting and instructive talk on the work of the Women's Clubs in North Carolina. The attendance was good. Several visitors were present. Mrs. E. E. McDowell, president, is now a member of the Cherryville school faculty and asked to be relieved of the president's duties during the school year. Mrs. Julia Hall, vice president, will have charge of the work during the winter. The Club, according to the usual custom, will entertain the Cherryville teachers at an early date. Miss Bunco Bumgarner, spent the week-end with homefolks at Caser. Mr. and Mrs. L. C. McDowell and family visited relatives in Spartanburg last Sunday. Messrs. Everett Dellinger and Forest Houser left for Chapel Hill Tuesday morning to resume their studies at the University of North Carolina. Mrs. Julia Hall left Sunday afternoon for Petersburg, Pa., to attend a meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Evangelical Church of America. She will be gone about ten days. Mr. and Mrs. Ben Dellinger and children, John Bennett and Blair, have gone to Florida for the winter.

PROHIBITION OFFICER HOUSER SELLS LIQUOR CAR. (Lincoln County News.) Prohibition officer Houser was in Lincoln Friday, and at noon at the courthouse sold a Ford runabout, recently captured in a whiskey raid at public auction to the highest bidder. Half a dozen men bid on the car, starting at $25. The highest bid was $75.00, Chas. Sain of this county being the last and high bidder. The sale began at noon, and at 12:07 Mr. Sain had paid in the cash to Officer Houser and drove away to dinner at his home in the county. The young man who formerly owned the car had just one lonesome quart aboard, when he was arrested and his whiskey destroyed and his car confiscated and sold. PLAN RESTORATION OF FIRST WHITE VILLAGE BELLEVILLE, ILL., Sept. 27. — The town of Cahokia, 15 miles southwest of Belleville, said to have been the first white settlement in the west, may be restored to its appearance of more than 200 years ago. The St. Clair Historical Society has been urged to ask the next legislature for an appropriation to restore the village and create there a state park. Cahokia was founded in 1700 by French pioneers. It was the seat of the first court house in Illinois, and of the first church. The church is still standing. In 1769, Pontiac, the famous Indian chief, was assassinated at Cahokia. The old court house is now on display in Lincoln Park, Chicago, having been moved there from St. Louis, where it was exhibited at the World's Fair in 1904. Cahokia has a number of great historical points that are unmarked.

ORGANIZING FORGET-ME-NOT CLUBS CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 27. — Women war workers and wives, mothers, sisters and sweethearts of disabled war veterans are organizing Forget-Me-Not clubs in almost every city throughout the country as part of the plan of observing Forget-Me-Not day on November 4, according to national headquarters. That day has been designated as the one on which the clubs will sell Forget-Me-Not, the proceeds of the sale to be used for the general relief of the disabled and wounded American veterans of the world war throughout the country. As a preparation for this nationwide campaign, club members are devoting spare time to the manufacture of the papers flowers they will distribute on the streets on that day.

WOMAN CIVIL ENGINEER. CLEVELAND, OHIO, Sept. 26. — More than one-fourth of the delegates attending the triennial convention here of the Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic fraternity, were women. One of the leading figures of the convention was Miss Olive W. Dennis, of Baltimore. Instead of designing hats she plans bridges, being a civil engineer and one of twelve women in the United States actively following that profession. She is employed in the head office of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. Jude Florence E. Allen of Cleveland was another of the women delegates.

TWO CHARLOTTE MEN KILLED AT CROSSING SPENCER, Sept. 26. — George J. Blum, aged about 48, and Robert G. Hayes, about the same age, both of Charlotte, are dead as a result of a grade crossing accident six miles north of Spencer shortly before noon today. It is said an automobile occupied by the two men approached the crossing on the engineer's side, just as No. 37, the fast mail train southbound and running several hours late, dashed across the road. The engine is said to have struck the automobile a terrific blow, knocking it into splinters, while the two men, the sole occupants, were killed instantly, the bodies being badly mangled. So great was the impact that the pilot of the locomotive was smashed back against the pony trucks causing a delay to the train of an hour, reaching Spencer with a flagman walking in front to prevent another accident. The automobile is said to have been completely ruined. The dead bodies were taken to a Salisbury undertaker to await instructions from relatives, now en route here. Mr. Blum, who is said to be a native of Winston-Salem and who has been residing in Charlotte for some time, was distributor for the Triumph Electric company of Cincinnati, and leaves a family. He is well known in this state, having been engaged in the electric line for a number of years. Mr. Hayes, who has been making Charlotte his headquarters for several years, was special agent for the National Fire Insurance company and was also well known to the business men in this section.
