Georges Clemenceau, Tiger Of France, Is Coming To America

WAR TIME PREMIER OF FRANCE IS KEEN TO BE ON TOUR UNITED STATES

Famous French Politician Once Taught French In Girls School.

MARRIED OVER HERE.

Is Coming To Help Cement Relations Between U. S. And France.

PARIS, Nov. 10. — (By The Associated Press). — Georges Clemenceau sails away for America tomorrow happy in the spirit of adventure. Today he was gay—interested and interesting—keen to be off. Considering his age—he was 81 last September—the eagerness with which the Tiger of France anticipates the experiences that are soon to come to him in the United States is quite touching to those who see him and talk with him.

What impresses his American callers the most is his youthfulness of outlook. He talks of the present and the future in the manner of a man of middle life; he refuses to be reminiscent.

"I never was much of a chap for the past," Clemenceau remarked to the correspondent, who inquired about the former Premier's earlier visits to the United States. This is not his second trip to America, as is commonly supposed, but his third.

"My father, who was exiled by Napoleon III, thought it would be a good thing for me to go to America and I went," Clemenceau said. "I had been following events of your civil war and my sympathies were with the north. Almost immediately after my arrival, however, I went to Richmond. There I met a good many Southern people and soon found out how delightful, how simple charming they were."

Clemenceau paused a moment, and then with a gesture, went on: "Shortly before my arrival Grant had taken the city, and I saw for the first time what war and bombardment meant. Then I went to Washington and later got west as far as Chicago and from there I went to Buffalo, and after a while to Boston."

In conversation Clemenceau seldom alludes to his experiences in America, first as a young gentleman of leisure reading extensively for two years in the libraries of New York, and then as a teacher in a girls' school in Connecticut. It was during his days as an instructor at the girls' school that Clemenceau met the young woman who became his wife.

At that time she was under age and her guardian refused to give his consent to a civil marriage only, insisting (Continued on page six.)

Bulwinkle's Majority Largest Ever Polled In Ninth District

Estimated At More Than Seven Thousand, Probably Eight Thousand—Carried Six Of Ten Counties In District, Though Six Are Normally Republican—Democratic Majority In State Believed Around 80,000—Came To Catawba River With Majority Of 5,000.

(Charlotte News.)

The majority given Major A. L. Bulwinkle, congressman of the Ninth district, ranges between 7,000 and 8,000 votes, the greatest majority ever polled by a congressional candidate in the district.

Major Bulwinkle spent Thursday in the city and had received authentic returns from practically all the counties in the district except those of the extreme mountain section. Avery and Madison returns were not authoritative.

Congressman Bulwinkle carried all but three of the ten counties in the district, six of which are normally republican, these being Mitchell, Madison, Avery, Catawba, Burke and Lincoln. Yancey, another one of the ten counties, has often also gone republican.

Major Bulwinkle's figures which were received from democratic leaders in the several counties show that he carried Lincoln, Catawba and Burke, by substantial majorities as well as Yancey, these four giving him a majority of approximately 9,000. His opponent, Mr. Shuford, of Hickory, carried only Mitchell, Madison and Avery, his majorities in these counties ranging between 3,500 and 4,000.

Major Bulwinkle came to the river with a majority of nearly 5,000, an unprecedented occurrence in the history of congressional fights in the district. Former Congressman Yates Webb generally came into Mecklenburg with a majority against him on account of the normal republican strength of so many counties in the district and often Mecklenburg's decisive congressional majority has given the candidate the seat.
