WILL STUDY TOBACCO AT SHORT COURSE

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 2.—Grading farm crops so that the owner may receive a price based on grade is becoming more important in North Carolina. Farmers know more about grades than formerly and they demand to be paid according to the quality of material that they put out.

Little is known, however, about tobacco grades. The best growers, of course, grade their weed and by grading it get a much better price than the man who dumps his weed on the market without any attempt to separate the best leaf from the poorest. There are definite grades of tobacco now established by the United States government and each grower who wishes to get the most money from his tobacco crop should know something of these grades.

To aid in this, the State College of Agricultural will hold a three-day short course in tobacco grading on February 8, 9 and 10. The course is free of charge, meals are reasonable in price and rooms may be had convenient to the college campus. The course will be in charge of Prof. J. B. Cotner of the Department of Agronomy. He will be assisted by Prof. E. G. Moss, superintendent of the Tobacco Branch Station near Oxford. The actual grading instruction will be in charge of Frank B. Wilkerson, tobacco specialist of the United States Department of Agriculture at Washington.

Mr. Wilkerson will explain the new tobacco grades, will give practical instruction in grading to all students attending and will describe and grade all the various samples of tobacco that will be used in the course.

At the close of the course on February 10, a tobacco grading contest will be put on with suitable prizes offered to the successful students. It is expected that many growers will take advantage of this course and those who plan to come should write at once to Prof. Cotner or to Dr. Z. P. Metcalf, director of teaching at State College.

WEST OF 35

Emmerson Hough wrote "North of 36," a thrilling story of the west. Our story is entitled, "West of 35," which means on the west side of 35 years of age. When a man gets west of 35 he always wishes he had taken out all the insurance he could have carried—say $5,000.00 or $10,000.00. A policy taken out at the age of 20 will mature when the policy-holder is 40. And if the policy is purchased in February the premium comes due each year when tobacco money is in hand with which to pay it. Lay the foundation for a good settlement in life "West of 35" by taking out a Life Insurance policy with
