STORE UP NO TREASURES FOR YOURSELF

(From the Sermon on the Mount) Matt. 6:19-24.

Store up no treasures for yourself on earth, where moth and rust corrode, where thieves break in and steal: Store up treasures for yourselves in heaven, where neither moth nor rust corrode, where thieves do not break in and steal. For where your treasure lies, your heart will lie there too. The eye is the lamp of the body. So, if your eye is generous, the whole of your body will be illumined, but if your eye is selfish, the whole of your body will be darkened. And if your very light turns dark, then—what a darkness it is!

No one can serve two masters; either he will hate one and love the other, or else he will stand by one and despise the other—you cannot serve both God and Mammon.

Therefore I tell you, do not trouble about what you are to eat or drink in life, nor about what you are to put on your body; surely life means more than food, surely the body means more than clothes!

KIPLING'S "RECESSIONAL"

Instead of putting our trust "in reeking tube and iron shard," as the heathens do, and thinking that our safety rests on the arbitrament of arms, we should on the celebration of our independence day lay the message of Kipling to heart, and cultivate "an humble and a contrite heart."
 These boastings, that
 " * * * * * loose
 "Wild tongues that have not Thee in awe," will not get us anywhere. Let us be done with "frantic boast and foolish word" and call on Him to guard.

God of our fathers, known of old,
 Lord of our far-flung battle line,
 Beneath whose awful hand we hold
 Dominion over palm and pine,
 Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet,
 Lest we forget, lest we forget!

The tumult and the shouting dies;
 The captains and the kings depart;
 Still stands Thine ancient sacrifice,
 An humble and a contrite heart:
 Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet,
 Lest we forget, lest we forget!

Far-called our navies melt away,
 On dune and headland sinks the fire,
 Lo, all our pomp of yesterday
 Is one with Nineveh and Tyre!
 Judge of the nations, spare us yet,
 Lest we forget, lest we forget!

If, drunk with sight of power, we loose
 Wild tongues that have not Thee in awe,
 Such boasting as the Gentiles use
 Or lesser breeds without the law,
 Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet,
 Lest we forget, lest we forget!

For heathen heart that puts her trust
 In reeking tube and iron shard;
 All valiant dust that builds on dust,
 And guarding calls not Thee to guard;
 For frantic boast and foolish word,
 Thy mercy on Thy people, Lord!
 —Rudyard Kipling.

IN MEMORIAM

Joseph T. Ware.
 Mr. Joseph T. Ware was born at Yanceyville, N. C., in the home now owned by Mr. Lenn Hodges, on April 14, 1850. Having lived at his birthplace only a few years when his parents moved to old Locust Hill, where he lived for some years. He received his early education at the old Rock Academy, which site was near the Cobb's Memorial High School. Having gone to Missouri when he was 20 years of age, there he lived until his marriage on March 26, 1872, to Minerva Sue Gunn, whose parents were reared in Caswell county. Mr. and Mrs. Ware came back to North Carolina to make their home. They lived at that time at Eastland, being engaged in farming and mercantile business, also postmaster. Their home was burned in 1884 and they went back to Missouri for three years. When he returned to North Carolina he was associated in merchandise with the late Stephen Rice. Mr. Ware rebuilt on the old home site one of the largest and most palatial homes in Caswell county. Having cut all of the timbers and lumber from his own farm. This home has rooms in it furnished with different kinds of timber, native to old Caswell.

Mr. Ware joined Camp Springs in his young manhood and was for many years its most faithful member, having been Sunday school superintendent for 45 years. His life was such that everybody loved him and especially children, to whom he was perfectly devoted.

Mr. Ware has missed the district and annual conferences only when sick for the past 40 years and that has been only once or twice. The preachers and their families made his home kind of headquarters when in his church. Mr. and Mrs. Ware have four children now living and ten grandchildren. Their children are: Dr. S. A. Ware, of Conyers, Ga.; Mrs. D. L. Waynick, and Mrs. J. B. Matlock, of Greensboro, and Mr. Frank B. Ware, of Caswell. One of the grandchildren, Claudia Ware, has lived in the home all of her life, her mother having died when she was a baby.

Mr. Ware was sick for three months, though not confined to his bed all the while. He was a most patient sufferer, stating that he suffered very little. Many of his friends went to see him while he was sick and he was always so glad to have them with him and was glad to have the young people and children in his home.

He died on June 28, about 6:30 a. m. of heart failure. At the time of his death his nephew, Dr. John Paxton, of China, a Presbyterian missionary, was visiting in his home and had been with him for two weeks.

The burial was at Camp Springs Methodist church, the services being conducted by Rev. E. G. Overton, of West Burlington, a former pastor, and the pastor, Rev. L. V. Harris.

Honorary pallbearers: Messrs. J. F. Watlington, Ruffin Harris, Dr. M. H. McBride and R. B. Chance.
 Active: Messrs. E. W. Walker, W. J. Waynick, M. H. Waynick, T. S. Neal, T. H. Slade and A. G. Thompson.

We who knew Mr. Ware and loved him as we did know that we have indeed lost a true friend and countryman. Mr. Ware's popularity was attested by the many hundreds who attended the funeral and the many beautiful flowers.

The church, state and Caswell county has lost one of its most beloved men. His beautiful life should be a benediction to all who knew him. He was in the truest sense of the word, "A man who lived by the side of the road and was a friend to man."
