Sewanee vs. University.

SEWANEE NOT IN IT.

36 to 4.

Bad Playing on Both Sides.

The game for the championship between Sewanee and the University was played in Asheville, Saturday, Oct. 27. The team reached Asheville at two o'clock Friday and quickly donned their suits and trotted out to the ball park and after practicing signals, they trotted back a mile and a quarter. [N. B.] D. H. tickets to and from the park were given the team by the street-car company. The Bingham School turned out en masse and were true to Carolina, offering their services if in any way they were needed. It was fine playing weather but poor crowd weather, "Blame circuses anyhow," were the words of the manager.

When the game was called Carolina won the toss. Captain Baskerville chose to run his men down hill, as the field was not level, and Sewanee had the kick off. The ball is advanced by easy and slow rushes to within a few yards of a touchdown when Sewanee secures it and tries a kick. This is blocked, Rankin falls on the ball and is dragged across the line by Collier. Baskerville kicks the goal.

Sewanee kicks off and the ball is fumbled but is Carolina's on the twenty-five yard line. It was advanced a few yards and then lost on downs. Sewanee tried the left end; Rankin tackled hard; the ball fell from the hands of the runner and into the arms of another who ran for a touchdown. The whole team was asleep and Denson and Slocumb allowed him to pass them, the former without even moving out of his tracks. Sewanee fails at goal. Score 6-4.

Baskerville now aroused by the scoring of Sewanee made a wonderful kick. The ball was suddenly hurled from the centre of the field squarely between the goal posts to the field beyond. But a goal from a kick off does not count and ball is brought to twenty-five yard line. Sewanee kicked off and by a series of short rushes, Guion by a beautiful run of thirty yards makes the second touchdown and Baskerville kicked the goal. Score 12-4.

Neither side scored during the rest of the half. The playing on both sides was unpardonably slow.

After being sufficiently raked by coach and captain during the intermission, Carolina wakes up somewhat, but is still slow, and Moore, Denson, Guion, and Stephens each made a touchdown and Baskerville kicked each of the goals, two of which were exceedingly difficult. Score 36-4. During the last ten minutes the team became thoroughly aroused, taking Sewanee entirely off her feet, they easily made two touchdowns and had the ball on the five yard line.

We cannot understand the slowness of our men. Why was there such a lack of snap in the playing? Because the game was easily won is not a sufficient cause. It would not do at all to become careless and slow against even the Freshman class team, should the two play. It is simply unpardonable on the part of Slocumb and Denson especially to allow Sewanee to score. Pugh, "steady Pugh," who is usually to be found in the most needed place every time, was slow, did not get into plays, and paid little attention to signals. There surely will be an improvement in this on the Northern trip.

The Sewanee right end, left guard and full back did the best work for them, while for Carolina Guion and Merritt played a good steady game and Stephens rushed well. Baskerville's fine kicking of goals, some of which were very difficult was a great feature of the game.

Quite a number of the boys visited Biltmore and Hotel Vanbilder and everyone tried to make their visit as pleasant as possible.

The teams lined up as follows:

The Northern Trip.

The Varsity team left for their Northern trip on Tuesday. They played Lehigh at South Bethlehem Pa., yesterday; meet Rutgers at New Brunswick, N. J., to-day, and Georgetown at Washington, on Saturday. The following were carried: Baskerville, Graham, Stephens, King, Denson, Stanly, Slocumb, Sharpe, White, Collier, Guion, Moore, Baird, Pugh, Merritt, Rankin, Gregory, and coach Irvine. They will return on Monday next.

Lehigh 24, North Carolina 6.

A telegram from South Bethlehem, Pa., last night, brought the news that we were defeated in that place, yesterday, by Lehigh. Score 24 to 6. The message also added that it was a fine game and no one was hurt.

Though this is not so good as some of the most sanguine of us expected, yet it was a considerable improvement over the 32 to 0, of last year. And when we consider that Lehigh ranks among the best five or six foot ball colleges in the country, we can well conclude that we did very well, and take much satisfaction from the game. And, when our boys put forth every thing that was in them, and did all they could, let us help, encourage, and praise them, and give them a fitting reception on their return.

Old Times at the University.

Some incidents in the life of the University eighty years ago can be appreciated by the students of to-day, even though the primitive customs of our grandfathers are things of the past.

The following is taken from Dr. Wm. Hooper's address, "Fifty Years Since," delivered in 1859.

"There being but three teachers in the College (president, professor of languages, and tutor), the Seniors and Juniors had but one recitation per day. For the Juniors this came at 11 o'clock. After that he 'was free until the next day at the same hour.' The hardest problem that he had to solve then was, what to do with himself for the rest of the day. 'Shall he ramble into the country after fruit, or shall he go a-fishing, or shall he make up a party and engage a supper in the suburbs, at Fan Craig's?' The last resource was often adopted because of our hard fare at Commons. Accordingly, a party of some half dozen would go out and engage a supper of fried chicken, or chicken pie, biscuit and coffee. It was waited for with extreme impatience, and many yawnings and other symptoms of an aching void. At length, it came upon the table, like the classical cena of the Romans, about three or four, P. M. The guests sat down, at twenty five cents per head; and if you consider the leanness of our dinners at the Steward's Hall, you will be apt to suspect that the entertainer did not make much by that bargain. * * * She (the University) dealt out a very scanty allowance to her family, either for body or mind, and treated her sons, as emigrants moving to our new States treat their horses; she turned them out at night to pick up what they could. The truth is, her mother, the State, acted a very unnatural part towards her, and, soon after she was born, seemed to take a dislike to her own offspring, and to try to starve it. Do you wish to know the ordinary bill of fare at the Steward's Hall, fifty years ago? * * * Coarse corn bread was the staple food. At dinner the only meat was a fat middling of bacon, surmounting a pile of cole worts; and the first thing after grace was said (and sometimes before) was for one man, by a single horizontal sweep of his knife, to separate the ribs and lean from the fat, monopolize all the first to himself, and leave the remainder for his fellows. At breakfast we had wheat bread and butter and coffee. Our supper was coffee and the cold bread left from dinner, without butter. * * *

You will not wonder, if, after such a supper, most of the students welcomed the approach of night, as beasts of prey, that they might go a-prowling, and seize upon every thing eatable within the compass of one or two miles.  Nothing was secure from the devouring torrent. Bee-hives, though guarded by a thousand stings,—all feathered tenants of the roost, watermelon and potato patches, roasting ears, etc., in fine, everthing that could appease hunger, was found missing in the morning."

The State Fair at Raleigh, last week, is a monument to the pluck and genius of one of the University alumni. Last year, when the Fair Association was almost on its last legs, Hon. Julian S. Carr, ex '66, of Durham, was elected its president; by his indomitable energy, perseverance, and enthusiasm, and largely by his own efforts, there has just been closed the largest, best, and most successful, fair ever seen in the State. This achievement is characteristic of Col. Carr; with the same warmth of feeling and spirit he supports and befriends his alma mater. THE TAR HEEL and the students of the University congratulate our most prominent alumnus on his latest success.
