ANOTHER TIE.

Freshmen vs. Juniors

The game was called at 3:30 o'clock, the Freshmen having the ball. Emry catches on the kick off and advances the ball 20 yards before being downed. Then the fun begins. On the first down the Freshmen foul giving the Juniors 10 yards. Brem tries the line for two good gains, and Powers loses 2½ yards on a run around end. Graham makes a 35 yard run around the right end, and Brem bucks the line again twice for gain. On off side play by Lake and Ferguson the Juniors get another 10 yards, and after a rush or two Brem goes over the goal line for a touch down, but fails to kick goal. Time 7 minutes. Score, 4-0.

Ball is again kicked off by the Freshmen who hold the Juniors for the next three downs forcing Brem to kick, and Sams falls on the ball. Then begins a series of fumbles mainly inexcusable by Sams, the Freshman quarter back, who misses the ball twice in succession, losing a yard each time, on this down the ball is lost but Seigle regains it. Then the Freshmen keep the ball for a little while, making short gains through '96's line, but the Juniors take the ball again on four downs. Captain Graham then tries a trick but loses 5 yards. But on the next down this loss is made up by an off side play by Newland, giving '96 10 yards. The Freshmen soon take a brace and hold '96, for four down getting the ball on a fine tackle by Seigle but lose the ball immediately by foul interference, and Brem then punts for 40 yards. '98 now takes the ball for short gains through the Junior's line, Sams fumbles again but Ferguson falls on it, but on the next down he again fumbles and Peace falls on it. The Juniors lose ground on the next four downs and Brem kicks over the goal line when Rodgers secures it. The ball is kicked off from the 20 yard line, but the kick is blocked and Newland falls on it. The next few minutes of the game are uneventful except that Rodgers is hurt, but keeps on playing after a little while. The Juniors regain the ball on four downs. Brem again kicks over the goal line where Sams get it. Ball is again kicked off from the 25 yard line, and time is called with the ball near the center of the field. Score, 4-0.

Brem kicks the ball from center of field and Sams catches, and advances ball 5 yards before being downed. Sams then fumbles some more, and the Juniors take the ball on four downs. Rodgers then makes a pretty run for 40 yards through the line and after a few more rushes Peace goes over the goal line for a touch down, and Rodgers fails to kick goal. Time 5 minutes. Score, 4-4. The rest of the second half was very uneventful, being marked only by fumbling on the side of the Freshmen. Neither side scores again in this half and time was called with the ball on the Juniors' 12 yard line.

Time of game, 2 twenty five minute halves. Umpire, Mr. Baskerville. Referee, W. A. Graham. D. Lindsey linesman.

Score, Freshmen 4. Juniors 4.

The Schubert Concert.

As was announced through the columns of this paper a week ago, the Schubert Symphony Club gave an entertainment in the Chapel on Friday evening, Nov, 16th. The concert was given for the benefit of the Athletic Association, and was well attended by the students and faculty. The principal attractions of the concert were a Lady Quartette and Master Tommie. The Quartette and little Tommie were frequently encored and as often responded. The solos of Misses Dyer and Purcell were highly applauded, as was also the last recitation of Miss Kellogg. The concert was quite a musical treat for the University boys, as well as a source of revenue for the Association.

The Magazine,

Of late, the University Magazine has set for itself a high standard, and the November number as a whole, comes fully up to this standard.

The opening article is by Prof. Collier Cobb, on Methods of Illustration. In a clear and attractive style, and in a popular way, the author gives many facts that a reader wishes to know about the making of the pictures that add so much to his enjoyment of a book or magazine. Illustrations of artistic merit accompany the article.

Truth and Life, by Hermann H. Horne, takes as a key-note the spirit of unrest in our national life and discusses the proposition, "If truth comes to the individual only through his thoughtful experience, then the only rational thing for him to do is to seek for his own truth for himself."

Yoshijuro Kurokawa continues his Recollections of a Japanese Boy, who has passed beyond the period of babyhood, and is now at school. The present article sustains the interest excited by the former; but lacks something of the quaint originality and power of expression to be found in that.

Is Esther Wake a Myth? Dr. Battle, under this question, publishes a letter from Mr. James W. Bryan, written to Gov. Swain, in 1848. Mr. Bryan takes the ground that no such person as Esther Wake ever lived. Dr. Battle discusses the letter briefly; but is unable to answer the question. That can be done only after a search through the genealogical records in London. It is hard to be called upon to surrender a romantic and cherished tradition; yet, in the interest of truth, we hope Dr. Battle will at some time be able to give us a positive answer, even though Esther Wake should be consigned to the place to which so many of the heroes and heroines of our childhood days have been sent.

Under Anecdote and Reminiscence, the same writer is more successful in establishing the mythical character of the Dromgoole story. He decides that the only foundation which it has, is the fact that a man named Dromgoole come to the University, did not enter, soon "disappeared and was never heard of afterwards."

In the same department Dr. R. H. Lewis, '52, gives some incidents in the inner life of the University at that time. The late Senator Vance's part in this gives it added interest.

The verse of this number is superior to what is usually found in a college magazine. Neighbor Brown, by "J. W. E.," has decided merit. If "poetry is a criticism of life—of life in its broadest, noblest sense," then the author of this, in spite of the adverse criticisms that can be made, need not be ashamed of it.

The thought in Fra Angelico, by L. C. Van Noppen, is a noble one, and its expression is not without credit to its author. We believe, however, that he would have done it better in prose.

J. A. Bivens gives a metrical version of Vergil's Aeneid, IV., 693-705.

Worthy Love is unsatisfactory on account of its vagueness, and the questionable relation of a number of individual passages to the whole poem. Judging by an absolute standard, we cannot commend it; yet it is the equal of the great mass of magazine poetry, and is superior to some things that have been given to the public by men of some reputation as poets.

The Book Notices and review of the college magazines have their usual interest and are valuable.

Under Current Comment Mr. Holland Thompson makes some pertinent remarks on "Selling Books," "North Carolina History," "Snob-bishness," "The Undergraduate and the Magazine," and "Library Notes."

The non-college Magazines for November are reviewed; and the College Record department is a decided improvement over that in the October number.

A few typographical errors, while in themselves unimportant, are too plain, and detract too much from the general excellence of the magazine, to have any excuse for their existence.

The design for the cover is quite appropriate; but the effect as a whole is not pleasing. The lines are not clear-cut, and the various parts are not as distinct as they should be. The feeling aroused at first sight, that the mechanical work is inferior, is not removed by close inspection.

All the students that are able to do so should go with the team to Richmond. Very little time will be lost, as the game will be played on a holiday; and enthusiastic cheering is very encouraging.

Eye-witnesses say that we won our second game with Lafayette last Spring by the "rooting" of a few 'Varsity boys, and if we can have a crowd to cheer our team in the contest with Virginia, we shall have a better chance of winning the game.
