Vol. 3,

UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA, CHAPEL HILL, N. C., MAY, 23, 1895.

No. 30.

Virginia Victorious. Score, 7-0.

"We have met the enemy and we are theirs."

On Saturday, May the 18, at Greensboro, the University of Virginia defeated the University of North Carolina by the score of seven to nothing, being the first time in the history of the N. C. ball team that it has failed to score against a college team.

When the special train left Chapel Hill for Greensboro, the skies were overcast so that a comparatively small crowd went from the Hill to see the game, but as the morning passed away the sun made great efforts to drive away the clouds and when the train arrived in Greensboro an almost cloudless sky gave promise of an almost ideal day for the long expected game. All Greensboro was in gala dress to welcome the visiting teams, and white and blue and the blue and orange of the Virginians were to be seen waving side by wherever the eye could see.

Early in the forenoon the crowd could be seen wending its way towards the Athletic Park, on foot, wheel and every other means of conveyance. When the game was called at 4 p. m. every seat was taken, and lots more standing room than was convenient to some of the players.

When the umpire calls play, "Pat" Stanley steps to the plate for U. N. C. and takes 1st base on four balls. Gregory comes up next, and "Pat" steals 2nd, but Gregory hits to 2nd base and is thrown out at 1st, Stanley going to 3rd. And there he has to stay, for Collier comes up and fails to catch the ball on the trade mark and is thrown out at 1st base by Garnett. Bailey also repeats the performance and Virginia comes to the bat.

Garnett takes his base on four balls, and Neeley steps to the plate. Collier doubles up and Neeley fans the air, and Garnett and the ball are speeding on their way to second base where Garnett arrives a little too late and is out. Neeley fans wildly at the ball twice more and takes his seat, and Williams sends a nice, easy one to Graham E. way off in center, and Virginia retires.

Second inning. Slocumb hits the ball to Nelson and is thrown out at 1st base. Johnson strikes out. Graham E. drives the ball between 1st and 2nd for the first hit of the game. Graham W. steps to the plate and Graham E. goes to 2nd on wild throw by Nelson, but Graham W. strikes out, and U. N. C.'s chances for scoring in the second inning are over.

For Virginia, Allyn gets his base, being hit by pitched ball. Huger hits to right field and Allyn takes 2nd. Kincheloe tries to bunt, but bunts too far and Johnson beats Allyn to 3rd. Cochran hits an easy one to Gregory and retires, but Kern finds the ball and drives it between 2nd and short and Huger crosses the plate. Nelson goes to 1st on four balls, but Garnett flies out to Graham E. and the inning is over. Score, 1-0.

Third inning. McAlister strikes out, but Stanley hits the ball between 3rd and short, but is thrown out on trying to steal 2nd. Gregory takes base on four balls, but Collier hits an easy one to 2nd and the side is out.

Neeley strikes out, Williams hits an easy one to Collier and fails to reach 1st, as also does Allyn, and North Carolina again comes to the bat.

Fourth Inning. Bailey hits to 2nd, but makes first base by a beautiful slide. Slocumb, bunts and goes to 1st Bailey taking 2nd. Johnson can't get on to Nelson's drops and strikes out. Graham E. hits to 3rd and Bailey is out on a forced run. Graham W. hits to Nelson and is put out at first.

For Virginia. Huger takes his base on balls. Kincheloe hits to Collier and is thrown out at 1st, Huger taking second Cochran takes his place in the box and Huger goes to 3rd on a passed ball. Cochran now strikes out. Kern hits to Collier, and Huger starts from 3rd Collier tosses ball to Bailey and unlucky fumble and Huger has scored. Nelson comes to the bat and on a wild pitch and a passed ball Kern goes to third and Nelson goes to 1st on four balls. Garnett hits a good one between 1st and 2nd and Kern and Nelson score. Neeley comes to the bat and Garnett scores on a wild pitch by Collier. Neeley gets his base on four balls, but Williams fails to find the ball and the inning is done, and so is N. C. as after events prove.

Fifth Inning. McAlister makes a hit to right, and Stanley follows with one to left. Gregory hits a foul fly to Neeley and Collier strikes out, McAlister going to 3rd, but Bailey hits a high fly to left and the side is out.

Allyn gets his base on balls, Huger hits to centre, and Allyn is thrown out at home, Huger going to second. Kincheloe is hit by a batted ball and is out, and Cochran strikes out.

Sixth Inning. Slocumb hits to Garnett and fails to reach 1st base. Johnson hits to Williams with no better luck and Graham E. strikes out.

Kerne hits to Johnson but Johnson throws wild and Kern goes to 2nd. Nelson bunts to Collier and retires at first, Kern going to 3rd. Garnett hits to right field for two bases and Kern scores. Bailey gets under Neeley's foul fly and Williams hits to Stanley and is thrown out.

Seventh Inning. Belden takes the place of Graham W. in right. Belden fouls out to Neeley. McAlister fouls out to Cochran. Stanley makes a hit over 2nd but Gregory hits to 2nd and is thrown out at 1st.

Allyn hits to Gregory and is out at 1st. Huger is hit by pitched ball and goes to 1st. Kincheloe hits over 2nd; Cochran bunts to Collier and is thrown out, and Kern hits to Stanley and the side is out.

Eighth Inning. Collier hits to 3rd and is thrown out. Bailey hits to Garnett, as does Slocumb, and N. C., retires to the field.

Nelson takes his base on balls. Garnett is out on fly to McAlister and Neeley strikes out, Williams takes his base on balls and Nelson goes around to 3rd on passed ball. Allyn hits between short and third for two bases and Nelson scores. Williams cuts third and is put out.

Ninth Inning. Johnson strikes out. Graham E. hits to third and thrown out. Belden fails to find the ball properly and retires and the game is over, and Virginia is winner.

Report of the Charges Made by Murray M. McGuire against the University of North Carolina.

At the request of Mr. McGuire we have consented to act as a committee to examine into the charges made by him against the conduct of athletics at the University of North Carolina. It was suggested to Mr. McGuire that two be chosen from the faculty of the University of Virginia, or one from each institution. He adhered to his original request, however, and, though much disinclined to do so, we serve on this committee because we regard Mr. McGuire's choice as an evidence of a desire on his part to prove the justness of his accusations to those very ones who have been most interested in the course of athletics at the University of North Carolina. No other consideration would induce us to sit in judgment where matters in which we have had to play prominent parts are called into question.

We are requested to decide two points:

1. Whether Mr. McGuire was justified in what he said, taking into consideration the information that he had.

2. Whether this information is evidence strong enough to prove and sustain what he has charged.

The evidence submitted by Mr. McGuire consisted of his two articles in the College Topics and a written paper containing a statement of his charges, explanatory in a measure of his articles in the College Topics, and arguing the case still further on the basis of the articles which have appeared in the two college papers. Much of the paper is devoted to a discussion as to what constitutes an inducement to a player. Several authorities are quoted for some of the statements made by him. It would manifestly have been much better for him to include written statements from these authorities or witnesses so that the exact language might have been considered. Full weight, however, has been given to all testimony thus repeated by Mr. McGuire. No weight whatever could be given to such general statements of Mr. McGuire as that "charges were made," accusations were brought."

The evidence submitted by the editors of THE TAR HEEL was in the shape of the two articles which appeared in that paper in reply to those in the College Topics; letters from Messrs. Floyd, Stephens, Robertson, Collier, the manager of the Winston Team, the manager of the Asheville Team, the correspondence with the officers of the Southern Intercollegiate Association with reference to Mr. Stephens and all letters and telegrams sent to Mr. Collier by those who interested themselves in his becoming their fellow-student.

The result of our investigation of the evidence is:

1. That the charges against Mr. Floyd are not sustained. That such charges had been made by others clearly does not justify Mr. McGuire in repeating them unless they were true.

2. The evidence as to Mr. Lanier is faulty. Mr. McGuire says that "it is denied that Lanier received money before playing at U. N. C., in 1892, it is not denied that the charge was brought in 1892." The question, again must be whether the charge was justified and not whether one was made. The letter from the manager of the Winston Team exonerates Mr. Lanier from the charge of playing for money before he became a student of the University of North Carolina. We can scarcely be expected to pass on the question why a student enters college. Mr. McGuire says that the facts that Lanier entered college in March 1892 and had played on the Winston Team were calculated to throw doubt on the purpose of his coming to college. That he had planned to enter college in the fall but could not for financial reasons. He was forced to teach school. As soon as his school closed he entered college. He studied well. He paid the larger part of his law tuition and all of his other expenses and successfully passed his examinations.

3. In the Stephens matter the facts as we gather them are that he was challenged, his record was laid fully before the proper committee and they unanimously decided that he was eligible. We fail to see Mr. McGuire's justification in making it a matter of charge against the N. C., men that the president of the Association afterwards
