An effort is being made to arrange Commencement games with the winner of the Southern Inter-collegiate Association.

Mr. Robert Lassiter, ex. '98, is here, the guest of the Zeta Psi Fraternity.

Clem Wright's skirt dance was a feature of the Va. game.

Adlai Stevenson.

Adlai Stevenson, Vice President of the United States, will address the class of '96 upon the event of their graduation. He accepted the invitation which President Winston went to Washington last week to give him.

Mr. Stevenson is too well known to tell you anything of him. He is a native of North Carolina and his fluent and eloquent speeches on his last visit to his native State are remembered with pleasure by all who heard him and we anticipate much pleasure in hearing this great speaker again.

Dr. Winston is to be congratulated on securing Mr. Stevenson and the class of '96 is to be congratulated on having such an eminent man to address them.

Both President Winston and Dr. Hume report a pleasant trip to Washington and speak in high terms of the kindness shown them by our North Carolinians at the Capitol.

Dr. Hume in Washington.

The Doctor returned this week from Washington where he has been to attend the Congress of The National Society of Religious Education. He was among the brilliant speakers of the programme which numbered over thirty speakers. His subject was "Religious Education in the Home." His speech was of great interest, coming from a Southerner and from a man of such eloquence as Dr. Hume.

He dealt with education of the people through the influence of home, showing the relation around the Christian fireside, of husband to wife, brother to sister, and parent to child. He showed too, as was admitted by all present, that the higher social life of the South, was due to their home influence. His address was much complimented, the President of the Congress pronouncing it to be "philosophical" profound and artistic."

New Foot Ball Rules.

The Committee, consisting of Messrs. Camp, Moffat, Sears, Bell Dennis and Dashiell, have completed the new rules for the coming season on the gridiron. This committee, it will be seen, is composed of representatives of most of the larger Northern Universities and the rules as compiled by them will govern all foot ball contests, so that there will be no division as to the systems of playing. Several important changes have been made and the rules should insure better support than ever. One of the most important changes is in a new rule that no delay from any cause shall last more than three minutes, under penalty of a foul being granted, giving the opponents of the offending side the ball or ten yards. This rule is one which has long been needed and it, if well enforced, will stop the disagreeable and disgusting kicking which has wearied many an audience and caused much hatred between rival colleges.

The committee deserve credit for their good work and we think the rules will do much toward removing from the manly game of foot ball, those things which have put it somewhat in disfavor.

"Honi Soit Qui Mal y Pense."

We can't say whence our information, but if any of you ever notice such things, you may have seen a handsome blue silk garter, clasped with a silver daisy, in the window of a leading jeweler not far away.

If not, it is too late now, for, as the story goes, it was sent not long ago as a present to a young lady on her nineteenth birth-day. Her acknowledgement, which has just come into our hands in one in one of those mysterious ways, we venture to print—Eds.

"Honi soit qui mal y pense"
To Lady fair quoth Gallant Bold
But I'll tell you en avance
Mine is not the story old;

Mine a maiden picking cresses
Where knee-high the daisies grew;
Shaking hard her draggled dresses
Showed a band of ribbon blue.

'Twas a daisy who discerned it
(Though the sun was in his eye)
What's a secret when you have learned it
If we profit not thereby?

So this wily little flower
(Ox-eyed gossips tell the tale)
To obtain the precious dower
'Round him drew a silver veil.

Daisy—Ribbon—Maiden? Leave them
Grant them pleasure—en avance—
'Twould an outrage be to give them
"Honi soit qui mal y, pense."
