THE GAME WITH GEORGIA

First Game of the Southern Trip Played in Atlanta. Carolina

Loses. Score: Ga. 24, N. C. 16.

The game with Georgia occurred in Atlanta last Monday, resulting in a victory for our opponents. Three thousand people witnessed the game which, on account of darkness, was called nineteen minutes before the time was up. This calling of time was disastrous to North Carolina, for she was gaining ground rapidly and at every rush. We question whether this can be considered a championship game, because the halves agreed upon were not played to a finish.

Captain Wright won the toss and chose the north goal. Lovejoy kicked to Carolina's twenty yard line. Seagle and Moore advanced the ball, but Haywood failed to gain and Belden kicked thirty yards to Lovejoy. The ball was fumbled, however, and it was Carolina's ball. Georgia's line resisted the assaults of Carolina and Belden was forced to kick. Lovejoy made a fair catch on Georgia's five yard line. By a series of good rushes, Georgia forced the ball to Carolina's thirty yard line, where the quarterback kick was tried. Georgia was unable to gain and the ball went over on downs. Carolina was equally unfortunate, and Georgia regained the sphere on the 'Varsity's twenty yard line. Successive rushes by Blanch, Lovejoy, Nally and Cothran placed the ball on Carolina's eight yard line, when it was given to Price who scored the first touchdown of the game. Lovejoy kicked goal; time, ten minutes.

Belden kicked to Nally who advanced the ball fifteen yards. Georgia tried the line for no gain and Lovejoy kicked to Green, making a fair catch on Georgia's forty-five yard line. The signal was then given for a mass on left tackle, and Haywood made Carolina's first touchdown. Belden kicked goal. Score Ga. 6; N. C. 6.

Lovejoy kicked to Belden who advanced the ball fifteen yards. Belden kicked over Georgia's fullbacks' head and Wright fell on the ball across goal line, scoring touchdown. Belden kicked goal. Score, Ga., 6; N. C. 12.

Lovejoy kicked to Haywood, who passed to Belden and the ball was returned to Georgia's forty yard line. Rapid gains were made by Blanch, Nally and Kent, forcing the ball to Carolina's thirty yard line. Again the ball was given to Blanch, who made a beautiful run of thirty yards for a touchdown. Lovejoy kicked goal. Score: Ga., 12; N. C. 12.

Belden again kicked off, and Georgia by short rushes carried the ball across the line for the third touchdown. Carolina never had an

The Second Game.

The second game of the southern trip was played Monday with the Charlotte Athletic Club. A good crowd witnessed the game and everybody expected the 'Varsity to win, although the Charlotte colors predominated in the crowd. The unexpected often happens, however, and at the end of the second half the score was 8-0 in favor of Charlotte. The 'Varsity played under disadvantages but the game should have been ours. Charlotte's line was very weak but the vigorous rushing of her backs made up for this defect. Carolina was suffering from the results of the Georgia game and in addition lined up without Wright and Moore. A safety by Green and a touchdown by Durham in the first half is the story of the scoring during the game. In the second half neither scored and when time was called the ball was on Carolina's 25 yard line.

Mr. Steele's Gift to the Di Society.

It is always pleasant to be remembered by one's friends, and when that friend resides hundreds of miles away it is doubly pleasant. Mr. Thos. W. Steele, of Arkansas, has recently sent, to the Dialectic Society, a unique and valuable gift in the shape of an elk horn chair. The chair is made of three large horns, and is valuable from a money point of view, but the Society has other reasons for appreciating it.

Mr. Steele is an old University man, and received his diploma from the Dialectic Society fifty years ago last commencement.

He is a brother of the late Walter Leak Steele, and also a brother of Robert L. Steele, who distinguished himself in this State as a successful manufacturer.

Dr Battle, on behalf of his old friend Mr. Steele, presented the chair to the Society and made a short but interesting talk on the life of the donor.

The chair is now in the Dialectic Hall and those who may be interested can see it there.

Captain of Scrubs.

Mr. F. O. Rogers has been elected Captain of the "Varsity Reserve" again this year. This is a just recognition of Capt. Roger's energetic efforts to give the 'Varsity good practice. That the team has not been so successful this year does not reflect on Captain Rogers at all, for it was recognized last year that the strength of the team of '95 was largely due to his zeal,

Capt. Wright.

Mr. Joel Whitaker, on account of his injuries, has resigned the Captaincy of the 'Varsity and Mr. R. H. Wright, who has taken his place, will henceforth lead the Carolina cohorts to victory. We rejoice at the team's selection for we believe a better one could not have been made. While we regret that an accident has made it necessary for our old Captain to resign, we are nevertheless delighted to know we have a man so thoroughly able to assume his duties. Ever since his connection with the University Mr. Wright has been an earnest, conscientious, and enthusiastic football player. In his Sophomore year he played a good tackle for the scrub eleven; and the following season made a record for himself and the University by playing right tackle as few men in the South are able to play it.

Penton, Virginia's heavy-weight Captain, like John L. Sullivan, admitted that he had played foot ball once too often when he met Wright, and he retired from the game immediately never to enter it again.

With the same enthusiasm of former years, Mr. Wright entered the game this season and quickly gained his old position. He has been the life of the team, for Captain Whitaker has been disabled the entire season, and under his leadership we are confident of winning many victories.

Shakespeare Club.

The meeting of the Shakespeare Club was held on Thursday night, November 5. This was not the regular time for the meeting but it was thought best to change the time in order to avoid conflict with other societies. There was, however, a large attendance.

The following papers were read: 1. Shakespeare's Handling of Metre.—Mr. W. S. Myers.

Mr. Myers has been making a special study of this subject so that his work embodied a very full treatment.

2. Did Voltaire Understand Shakespeare?—Mr. Sam'l. May.

The contention of the paper that Voltaire did not understand Shakespeare was established in two ways. First. By showing that Voltaire weakened his characters and plots by failing to follow Shakespeare's method of treatment in that way evincing a lack of insight. Second. By certain direct expressions taken from Voltaire's correspondence in which the opinion that Shakespeare was a barbarous buffoon, emitting only sparks of genius from a dreary waste of rubbish is clearly stated.

3. Dramatic Irony in Richard III.—T. L. Wright.

4. Marlowesque Features in Richard III.—D. Eatman.

Both the above papers were well prepared, the one showing Shakespeare's consummate skill in handling Dramatic Irony and Nemesis, the other, by historic and comparative evidences how the Marlowesque in this play is due to the fact that it was written just after Shakespeare's intimate association with Marlow in the preparation of certain other plays.

Class Foot-ball Contests to Begin.

For several weeks an enormous amount of interest has been shown by the various classes in the development of their foot-ball teams. The games, of which were published schedules in last week's issue, are to be begun this week. The applicants for all the teams together will probably number about eighty, which is a fine thing for next year's Varsity eleven.

On Friday the first contest will be between Juniors and Sophomores. At present the odds are in favor of '98, who have had the advantage of more training than any other class players. Their team will consist of the following men:—Ends, Gold (Captain), Best and Foscue; tackles, Abbot, Walker and Lake; guards, Parker and Simpson; Center, Brogden; quarter backs, Follin and Webb; half-backs Johnston, Sams and Pinnix; full back, Whitaker.

The Sophs line up as follows: Ends, Hardin, McEachern, Daggett and Connor; tackles, Swink, Patterson and Elliott; guards, Sykes and Kittrell; quarter back, Ross; half-backs, Hume, Davenport, Harris and Davis; full-back, Winston.

On the next day, Saturday, the Seniors and Freshmen are to play, and this promises to be a close game. Each class will back its team, but neither is so very certain of victory.

The line-ups of these classes is not yet decided, but the principal candidates on each side may be named as follows:—Seniors, Allen, Whitener, Wright, Underhill, Nichols, Crinkley, Kluttz, Boddie, and Canady; Freshmen, Woodard, Shuford, Guion, Plummer, Adams, and Hearn.

The winner in the Academic Department is to play the "Meds." and the latter have a first-rate chance for the championship. Their team averages 159 pounds and lines up as follows:—Ends, Weaver, Wright and Dughi; guards, Robertson and Munk, tackles, Winston and Price; center, Heathman; quarter back, Nixon; half-backs, McKinan, Williams and Zackary; full-back, Mechling. Other applicants are Messrs. Smith, Copple and Newby.

Accounts of these games will appear in later issues of the TAR HEEL; Let all the boys turn out at the cost of ten cents, and aid the boys in meeting debts incurred in buying uniforms and other implements of foot-ball warfare.

A ticket for the series may be had for fifty cents.

University of Texas has made dates for its eleven to meet several of the prominent Southern colleges. We have a peculiar interest in Texas University and would be glad to meet her team in a friendly contest.

Let every one see the class games of foot-ball! Ten cents.
