TALES OF A TRAVELLER.

[Concluded from first page.]

Borden's residence, until about one o'clock, when we visited the neat Goldsboro Club Rooms. As per previous instructions, we were all forcibly ejected from our couches the next morning at six o'clock, and soon were making for Wilmington, the last point on the trip.

We dined at the residence of Mr. Jas. H. Sprunt that afternoon and then repaired to the Opera House, where the largest audience of the trip greeted us. After the play, we attended a very pretty German, where many more victims fell to the enchanting smiles of the fair sex. But so it ever was. We have no excuses to make. Ye could not do otherwise, O daughters of Eastern Carolina. Here the trip properly ended; but we could not tear ourselves away. An "Oyster Roast" on the Sound occupied the greater part of next day and then, lead by "Cool" and "Mark Meddle" we variously returned, wiser, happier and not sadder men. Any tabulation as the foregoing cannot adequately express what a very successful trip we had. There was nothing to mar it. Finances fairly wreathed smiles on the faces of the managers. The episodes occurring were of "all kinds and conditions." We will not express them here, but anyone desiring a few minutes conversation might ask one of the following questions which occur to the writer just now:—Why and in what manner did Vick say "No, I aint!" What impressed "Cool" with the "Orton?" Was it potatoes in six styles, and did he weep because there were no more potatoes to conquer? What does Cox know about the Indian tribes? Did anyone mention "hounds?" Some of these may cause a "fracas" upon their asking. Be warned.

A Wonderful Invention.

Zoology teaches that the hairs of the head are hollow, and contain an oil that gives them life. In clipping the hair with scissors, this hollow is left open, and the hair loses its life-giving properties.

I have a Machine named the Singeing Machine, which removes the hair and at the same time closes up the hollow, causing the hair to retain its life-giving properties, and therefore stopping the hair from falling out or dying, and giving it a soft growth.

Call and examine this machine and have your hair singed.

Special attention given to dressing Ladies' hair. Cutting done with exquisite and artistic skill by the old University Barber of twenty years' experience.

The singing machine is highly recommended by scientists throughout the country. Very Respectfully,
T. D. DUNSTAN,
Professor of Tonsorial Art.

From The Exchanges.

H. T. Collier has been elected captain of next year's foot ball team at the University of Virginia.

The net receipts from the University of Pennsylvania's foot-ball games amounted to $32,401.

There is a project on foot at Harvard to erect a memorial building to Phillips Brooks. $250,000 is the estimated cost of the structure.

At Chicago University military drill has been substituted for regular gymnastic work.

The University of Texas registered 783 students in 1898.

It is understood that Georgia will put out a foot-ball team, as usual, next year.

Vanderbilt and Virginia are "fighting their battles o'er again" through their college papers. Both claim the Southern Championship. Virginia says Vanderbilt is not even in her class.

Col. and Mrs. Chas. Venable are visiting their son Dr. F. P. Venable.

Mrs. Mariatt of Baltimore is visiting her sister Mrs. Gore.

Miss Pattie Lewis of Raleigh is on the Hill, the guest of her grandparents Dr. and Mrs. Battle.

Course in Ornithology.

Mr. T. G. Pearson has kindly consented to give a course of weekly lectures, with demonstrations, on Ornithology.

Our local birds, their structure and habits, will be described, and specimens will be exhibited.

The course will include practical lessons in taxidermy, and suggestions for collectors.

The course is open to all. No fee will be charged. Saturdays, 9:45 a. m., in the Biological Lecture Room.
