ATHLETICS.

Base-ball.

Rain during the past week prevented practice of any kind until the last two or three days. Every opportunity is taken advantage of by the players and whenever the field is in condition and the weather permits the athletic ground is filled with men working hard to improve their condition.

A good spirit is shown and if hard work counts for any thing (as it certainly does) the best results may be expected.

Tennis.

Some time during the fall a meeting of the tennis players was called and a Tennis Association was organized and officers were elected. This was a good move and will be productive of much good in our athletic life if carried on as it should be. Let the President call a meeting and make some kind of arrangements for a tournament this spring. This tournament should be to determine the championship of each class and then a contest should be held between the class champions for the championship of college. In this way interest may be stimulated in this sport which may perhaps bring out a few good tennis players who can represent our University in contests with other colleges.

A number of years ago we sent off such representatives and they represented the University in a very creditable manner. Why not try this again? First, however, let us have the class tournament. Arrange the schedule of contests so that it may be followed out just as soon as the weather and tennis courts permit.

Gymnasium

During the winter months, it has been with a great deal of satisfaction to those in charge that they noted the good attendance at gymnasium. Mr. Calder is doing things in a systematic manner and those who do their part in attending regularly derive a great deal of good from the exercise. Regularity is an important factor in this. After the regular exercises it is noted that a number of men remain in the gym. and make use of the opportunities there afforded for developing the muscles.

Basket Ball

Those who have not learned this game and are anxious to take part in an exciting and also scientific exercise would find that it is to their interest to go to the gym. and take part in this sport. While our gymnasium does not afford room for everybody to play at once you will find that everybody has a chance. Try basket-ball. There may be something in it for you. It is played with interest else where and why not here too?

Track Team.

This is something which will come later we hope. That is later in the Spring. Some kind of stimulus is needed for this thing. What will furnish this stimulus? Perhaps the Advisory Committee can devise some plan to arouse enthusiasm.

The February German

In spite of the unfavorable weather (such weather usually attends our intermediate dances) a number of most charming young ladies were on the Hill for the regular February German which took place last Friday night. The number of dancers was not unusually large but under the graceful leadership of Mr. J. D. Grimes with the able assistance of Mr. Kornegay and Mr. Joyner many beautiful figures were executed.

In addition to the natural charms of the young ladies the beauty and variety of their dresses was noticeable. The german began early and to the inspiring notes of "The Charleston," "A Campmeeting in Georgia" etc. the hours flew swiftly past. The dancing continued into "the wee sma' hours" and all too soon were heard the strains of "Home, Sweet Home."

The dance was in every way successful—beautiful ladies, excellent leadership and sweet music by the Raleigh band.

The following couples were on the floor: Mr. Patterson with Miss Pace of Raleigh, in red silk with black cut. Mr. Lewis with Miss Morson of Raleigh, white organdie. Mr. London with Miss Bunn of Rocky Mount, white satin and chiffon. Mr. Makely with Miss Latta of Raleigh, blue mull and white silk. Mr. Neal with Miss Grimes of Grimesland, blue taffeta. Mr. E. Alexander, Jr. with Miss Moses (University) green skirt and changeable blue taffeta waist. Mr. Battle with Miss Primrose of Raleigh, white organdie over yellow silk. Mr. Chadbourne with Miss Wright of Portsmouth, Va., blue satin with white lace. Mr. Carmichael with Miss McCaull of Greensboro, white satin with lace, Roses and carnations. Mr. Victor Graves with Miss Thurman of Mississippi, Spanish yellow taffeta with black trimmings. Mr. R. H. Graves with Miss Eliza Busbee of Raleigh, heliotrope faille pearl ornaments and bride roses. Mr. May with Miss Biggs of Raleigh, in black organdie edged with white crimson. Dr. Mangum with Miss Ahern (University), white silk net over blue, Pink roses. Mr. Taylor with Miss Nell Hinsdale of Raleigh, pink silk with over piece. Mr. Vick and Miss Holt of Burlington, old rose and black.

Visitors: Messrs. Higgs, of Raleigh, Victor Graves of Burlington and Carmichael of Durham.

Stags: Messrs Grimes, Woodward Wood, A. M. Carr, Biggs, Howell, Moore, Clark, Rogers, Kornegay,

Cook, Hinsdale, Joyner, J. S. Carr, Berkley, Buxton, M. Bellamy, J. R. Carr.

Chaperones: Mrs. F. H. Busbee and Mrs. Sherwood Higgs of Raleigh, Mrs. Gore and Mrs. McRae of Chapel Hill.

The Choral Society Concert.

The concert by the Chapel Hill Choral Society next Friday night promises to be the chief musical event of the season. The program is unusually rich in variety and in the character of the music to be rendered. Music-lovers will anticipate the chance to hear such well known choruses as the Damascus March from "Naaman," and Garrett's "O My love is like a red, red rose." Mendelssohn never wrote a choral number of more sustained power than the "O great is the depth" from the oratorio of "St. Paul," nor a motet in which the turmoil of earthly passion dies away more perfectly into Heavenly peace than is the case in "Hear my prayer." Spice will be lent to the program by such lighter numbers as Bishop's melodious "Daughters of error," and Mossini's gay "Carnavale." A very attractive feature of this season will be the singing of the ladies' chorus, which on this occasion will render Nincedt's beautiful vocal waltz, "Blow, Soft Winds."

The soprano soloist, Miss Eva Lawson, a well known Richmond soloist, has never been heard in Chapel Hill, and much interest has been awakened in her appearance at this concert. Besides her work in connection with the chorus, she will sing an arioso from Bemberg's "Jean d'Arc, and songs by Chadwick and Tosti.

Professor Dauer, the violinist, at present in charge of the musical department of Elizabeth College at Charlotte, is a native of Charleston S. C., and a graduate of the Leipzig Conservatory of Music, where he studied under the well known master Schradieck. For many years he has been the leading solo violinist of Charleston. He will perform one of De Beriot's concertos, and Leonard's Grand Fantataise Militaire, which will offer him an opportunity to exhibit his brilliant technique and complete mastery of the most wonderful musical instrument of man's invention.

Visitors from such places as Durham, Raleigh, and Hillsboro, have already announced their intention of attending this concert, as the interest in such a musical opportunity is not confined to the limits of our own little village. It is a pleasure to recognize truly good music as one of the manifold influences that make for culture which our students at the University have offered them in a way not often found elsewhere in the State.

Who is Foot Ball Manager for next year?

Fresh Election.

It seems to be the style to have at least two presidents in every Fresh Class. It shows a woeful want of something in the class that prevents them from being willing to submit to a majority rule. Until recently this having two presidents was unknown. If one crowd gathers for an election without the consent of the other then those who were not at this election find their men and proceed to have another election.

This shows a weakness in somebody—somewhere.

We leave it for the College to decide this contested election, and simply give below the officers—of each side—

The following are the officers elected in the English room last Wednesday night:

President	E. D. Sallanger
1st Vice Pres.	G. B. Strickland
2nd " "	J. E. Swain
Secretary	D. C. Ballard
Treasurer	W. E. Crews
Historian	H. M. Robins
Prophet	W. H. Hadley
Poet	L. Goodman
Orator	P. D. Stern
Essayist	R. R. Williams
Statistician	J. E. Everett

The following is a list of the officers elected last Saturday night while every body was at supper.

President	A. H. Vann
1st Vice Pres.	Ivey Lewis
2nd " "	J. C. Nash
Secretary	R. S. Hutchinson
Treasurer	J. C. Allison
Historian	H. A. Lambeth
Prophet	P. S. Fetter.
Poet	F. Nissen
Orator	O. S. Thompson
Essayist	J. H. Alexander
Statistician	J. C. Exum

Yea verily, they should have a new election law.

Senior Photographers.

The picture committee of the Senior Class has selected Messrs. Cole and Halladay of Durham N. C. to take Senior pictures, groups etc. this Spring. This firm comes to us with high recommendations and the pictures on exhibition at Yearby's drug store well substantiate such claims.

Mr. Cole has been upon the Hill several days making arrangements and will return week after next to begin work.

Mr. Victor M. Graves ex. '97, attended the dance here Friday night.

Dr. Pratt, who gave a course here last Spring known as "Geology 8 a," has rented the residence of Dr. F. K. Ball, a former Professor of Greek in the University, and will be with us the rest of the session. He will offer the same course in Geology that he did last year except that it will count more hours.
