All communications for this paper should be in the hands of the Editor-in-Chief by Monday at noon to insure publication the same week. We shall be glad to publish pertinent discussions of college topics. The Tar Heel will welcome news items, and hopes the whole college will aid it along this line.

The TAR HEEL has been persistent in its efforts to stir up a good healthy college spirit. While such efforts have been, perhaps, tiresome to some we trust that the majority, realizing our motive—which has always been love for our alma mater—have appreciated them.

It seems to us that, first of all, it is necessary that this spirit make itself apparent on all sides during this last week; that it supplant every other feeling and make us strive diligently for the success of our team in these last few days.

The example set by our alumni cannot but excite us to do as they are doing.

We must make persistent and organized rooting a feature of every evening's practice from now on. We must besides give the team a glorious "send-off" when they leave us next Friday; such an one as will let them see what an interest we have in them.

Such efforts on the part of all to help and encourage our representatives can only result in good and when Saturday comes they will most certainly give a good account of themselves.

There is, however, something else to be remembered. When, after the battle, our team returns, be it as victor or as vanquished,—let us not forget that they are still our representatives and show them in a manner unmistakable the appreciation we feel for what they have done.

In this, the last issue of the TAR HEEL before the Virginia game we wish to bring before the student body the efforts of our alumni and others to help us in our final preparations and to remind this same student body of some of its duties which should be looked after during the coming week. There should be, at this time, one thought paramount in the heart of every loyal son of Carolina and that is on Saturday next our team will meet Virginia and we must do what we can to help it.

This game is always looked upon as the climax of the season but we feel that circumstances justify us in saying that at no time before in the history of our beloved institution has there been such an amount of interest displayed in regard to a like contest by people throughout the State.

It is indeed gratifying for us to know that during the week we will have as many as eight of our alumni on the Hill to assist in the coaching.

This is evidence enough that they will do their part. What are we, as students, going to do?

In this issue of the TAR HEEL we print two of our most popular college songs. At the game next Saturday Virginia will have more than two hundred students to cheer and sing for their team. The seeming improbability of a special train being run from here will limit the number of students who will attend the game but there is no reason why those who do go should not organize and show our Virginia friends that we, too, know how to root. Last year there was total absence of such organization. Let us hope that such will not be the case this year.

A notice of a mass-meeting appears on another page. We trust that every student of the University will make it a point to be present at this as it is of vital interest to all.

Exchange.

A faculty football team has been organized at Illinois, and the Senior class has challenged them for a game.

Until their recent game Princeton and Cornell had not been scored against. Both scored, Princeton winning by a disputed safety.

A site has practically been decided on for the Carnegie Institute at Pittsburg. These grounds are sixty-five acres in extent and will cost between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000. The cost of the buildings as estimated will be $8,000,000, and the institution will be endowed by Mr. Carnegie with $25,000,000.

Among the season's innovations in football is the boomerang kick introduced by Pennsylvania. It is used only on the kick-off. The ball is placed sideways—not horizontally but obliquely—and when kicked it twirls like a veritable boomerang.

The West Point Cadets and the students of the Annapolis Naval Academy, who have for the past two years played football on the Franklin Field of the University of Pennsylvania, will again meet in Philadelphia on November 30th, which will be the third time the Army and Navy have met on Franklin Field. The first contest resulted in a victory for West Point, but last year the laurels fell to Annapolis in one of the most beautifully contested games ever witnessed on an athletic field.

Admission to the game is by invitation only. As in former years over 30,000 people will witness the game. There are only twenty-five thousand reserved seats, seven thousand of which are reserved for the guests of Annapolis, seven thousand for West Point, and eleven thousand for the University of Pennsylvania.

There is perhaps no other athletic event during the year that draws together a larger and more distinguished gathering of prominent statesmen, army and naval officers, and public officials. The event is always looked forward to with great interest by many, and the request for tickets in the last two years has always exceeded many times the number of reserved seat tickets which the committees were able to supply. No tickets are sold.

All Hail, Carolina!

All hail, Carolina!
There ne'er was a finer,
More noble college history than thine;
We'll sing to thy glory
So far-famed in story;
And garlands of sweet music for thee

twine.
Chorus:
Shout, sing, let it ring!
Shout Carolina o'er and o'er.

The welkin above her, with Saint, Sage and lover
Shall sound the swelling chorus evermore.

With Virginia or with Princeton,
At home or at Winston,
The sturdy athletes fight a winning game.

On gridiron or diamond,
(A bad word in rhyme on.)
The white and blue will triumph ere the same.
