FOOT BALL TALK.

An Interview of Coach Olcott—Prospects Good.

The foot ball team this year will be, we dare say, stronger than any student expected before he returned to college. A remarkably good proportion of the old Varsity men have returned: Jones, G., Cox, Jones, H., Stewart, Donnelly, Fisher, Jacobs, Newton, Mann, Berkeley, Engle and Hester. We also have with us this year several men who have had foot ball experience at other colleges. Among these we may mention Roberson, Engle, R. and Ross. The quality and amount of material for the Varsity, in a word, is encouraging.

Coach Olcott, when interviewed in regard to our foot ball chances, made the following pointed remarks:

"I cannot say anything more definite than that our prospects now are as hopeful as they were at the corresponding time last year.

"Now that Hester, our old guard, has returned things look brighter. Yet there is still a lack of line men. Tackle is the most hotly contested position on the line at present, for we have back three old men who were sub-tackles, Donnelly, Young Bully Jones and Hester. It is true, too, that we have enough material for ends; but among the men there are some injuries.

"When we come to think of our back line, however, we become encouraged. Material is not lacking there. We expect to get a good full-back from the men who are working for this place. Among these are Roberson, full-back on A. and M. last year, and Engle, our last year's full-back. Engle has been too busy with his college course recently to come out on the field; but in a day or two he will be there to make the contest a little more spirited.

"And then too, we expect a very interesting struggle for quarter. The present contestants for that position are: Jacobs, Worth, Wilson, Roach, Engle, R., and Ross, who was last year's quarter on Oak Ridge. So, although our old quarter, Graves, and our sub-quarter, Carr, are not here, you may say that we expect to get a good man for the place out of the new candidates.

"Giles, by the way, says something about leaving; but we all hope that he will not do that, for we need him here."

"How about the weights of the individual men this year?"

"Well, there is Stewart, for instance, who has gained eighteen pounds, which makes a total of two hundred and thirteen. But he, I guess, is about the heaviest man on the team."

"Will you state the condition and chance of each individual player?"

"No, I can't say anything further in particular. It's too soon to tell.

"There is one thing, though, of which I do wish to speak, and that is the good that will be gained if men turn out to strengthen the scrubs. On this depends not only the development of this year's Varsity but also the strength of next year's team. For, next year most of our old Varsity men will not be back; and the best and surest way to be able to fill the vacancies thus created is through the training that is to be got by work on this year's scrub team. We lack men now, and the scrubs as a whole are not as heavy as is wished. Until these men develop, the practices each evening must be light. In a short time, however, we intend to appoint a coach for the scrubs and to have them thoroughly organized. I am very anxious for the material which I know is here among these six hundred students, to come out to the practice each evening, and give the Varsity the strongest opposition possible. The men to whom I refer—the men who have the slightest ambition to play foot ball—if they come on the field and work, will do two worthy things: help, to an incalculable degree, both their college's foot ball prospects and their own.

"The Scrubs have another considerable inducement. All faithful Scrubs, whether they have been so successful as to become a member of the Varsity or not, are going to be taken to Richmond Thanksgiving on the excursion free of charge. Here they will have the pleasure of seeing how effectively the axe which they sharpened can cut. This pleasure has been offered the Scrubs simply because the athletic association feels, and knows, that a faithful Scrub is due at least this much material compensation."

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION MEETS.

Officers of Athletic Association and Tar Heel Editors Elected Last Saturday.

The General Athletic Association met in Gerrard Hall last Saturday to organize for the year. As every student of the University is a member of this organization, the hall was crowded with the loyal, from freshman to post-graduate, all interested in the year's athletic work. Especial interest was given to the meeting by the fact that our prospects for successful teams were never better than this year. And everyone felt that to be victorious there must be a good beginning.

The association was called to order by Captain Jones, of the foot ball team, who stated the object of the meeting, and called for nominations for president. Mr. J. B. Ramsey was nominated by Mr. R. S. Stewart and received the unanimous vote of the house. Mr. Ramsey then took the chair, and, after thanking the students for the honor, proceeded with the elections. The following officers were chosen: Vice-President, A. H. Johnston; Secretary and Treasurer, T. H. Hill; Graduate Member Advisory Committee, R. S. Stewart; Undergraduate Member, A. W. Haywood; Chief Cheerer, L. S. Holt.

As THE TAR HEEL is the organ of the Athletic Association the following board of editors was elected: Editor-in-Chief, C. P. Russell; Business Manager, W. E. Pharr; Associate Editors, J. V. Howard, J. L. Moore, J. K. Wilson, J. A. Parker and W. T. Shore.

Mr. M. Ashbey Lambert, of the law class, spent Sunday in Raleigh.
