Y. M. C. A. BUILDING.

Work Will be Uninterrupted This Summer—Contract Given Mr. Waring, Who is Building the Bynum Gymnasium.

From now on work will be uninterrupted on the Young Men's Christian Association Building until after the roof is put on, and if the present summer plans are successful the interior work after then will not be delayed.

The same contractor, Mr. Waring, of Columbia, S. C., who is building the Bynum gymnasium, has also been given the contract for the Association building. From now on the two buildings will vie with each other to see which can get up first. The brick for both buildings are being made west of the depot, near Chapel Hill. The company making the brick was delayed in May in setting up its plant, but for several weeks now it has been turning out a kiln a week, about 75,000 brick per week.

To those who have not been to Chapel Hill during the past year and have had no opportunity of looking over the plans, a short glimpse into the interior of the building will be opportune.

The building as seen in this cut is hardly done justice. No shading could be used, and only the outlines giving an idea of the size, dimensions and style are given. The building will contain two stories, with an auditorium at the rear reaching to the roof. An idea of the auditorium is gained by observing a small section of it on the right hand side of the picture.

As one goes into the building through the front entrance he enters a short passage on the left side of which is a small cloak room or office, on the right a stairway. This passage leads into a reception hall having two rooms on the right and two on the left. Passing through this reception hall one enters the auditorium. On the second floor are four rooms and a Secretary's office.

The rooms on the floor will be utilized as a parlor, a reading room, a game room, and a clearing house room. These rooms will be supplied with games, with music and with many other forms of healthful recreation imbued with the atmosphere of home and home life. The last named room will be a veritable clearing house, for in this room headquarters will be provided for the University publications such as the Magazine, THE TAR HEEL, and the Yackety Yack. The Press Association and other such organizations will be greatly helped by having a place which will be the center of college life. The convenient location of the building will cause the literary societies, the fraternities, and other such prominent organizations of the University to use the Association rooms for committee meetings and conferences.

All of the first floor will be so arranged that it may be thrown into one whole room for special occasions. Folding chairs will be placed in the auditorium so even this may be used along with the rooms for receptions to men students, or to the student body and the people of Chapel Hill, or to the alumni and friends here at Commencement.

Mr. E. McDonald, '06, who has been chairman of the Building Committee, and who has had charge of the collection of notes for the building, will not return to college next fall. Mr. McDonald's systematic and faithful work in this capacity has been of much service to the University. We were just about to raise our hands in despair on account of the chairman of the Building Committee dropping out of college when Professor J. W. Gore, a member of the committee, offered to take charge of all the work.

THE Y. M. C. A. BUILDING.

Professor Gore has been given a year's leave of absence by the University in order that he may rest his voice. He will not leave Chapel Hill, however. From now until the Y. M. C. A. building is completed, Professor Gore will give the most important part of his time to this work. From the very beginning Professor Gore has been closely identified with this movement. He will now act as chairman of the Building Committee, and will also attend to the collection of the different installments of the notes when due.

The hearty cooperation of the friends of the building movement is especially essential now, since the work which is being done is dependent upon the prompt response of those who have generously made subscriptions.

The contract given Mr. Waring is for all the brick and wood work to be finished and the roof put on. Between now and about October first this work is expected to be done.

As the building will cost about $13,000 when completed, more funds are needed yet. The subscriptions made up to date are enough to finish the work as planned so far. About $11,000, including a special $1000 gift which we shall mention later, has been subscribed up to date. In order that there may be no break in the work an earnest effort will be made this summer to secure in subscriptions the remaining amount.

To this end Mr. Z. V. Judd has responded to our appeal and will devote two months this summer in traveling in the interest of the building. The generous cooperation of University men and all who are interested in this work is especially asked now so that the building may be completed without delay.

An unknown donor, through Mr. W. D. Weatherford, Student Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association of the South, has agreed to give $1000 toward our building provided we secure $8,000 in cash by October 1st, 1904. This is practically a gift, since we have sufficient subscriptions due between now and that time to bring the cash fund to the required amount. If during this summer those who have already given subscriptions make a prompt response to the notice telling when the first installment is due, we shall have no difficulty in securing this $1000.

SUMMER LAW SCHOOL.

Very Gratifying Opening June 8—Several Prominent Lawyers to be Here This Summer.

The University Law School opened on the 8th under favorable auspices, twenty-five answering to the roll call on the first day—which means a probable attendance of about fifty.

These students hail from Currituck to Clay. Many of them are graduates and many others alumni of the University. Judge MacRae and Dr. Ruffin after a week's rest appear to be in good form, and lectures began on the 9th with increased attendance. These students are very much in earnest, having before them a searching examination by the Supreme Court on the last Monday in August. The hot weather has no terrors for them. Indeed the weather is remarkably fine, the shade of the magnificent oaks of the campus affords pleasant studios, the lecture rooms are commodious and well ventilated, and, in short, every incentive is offered to the making of a busy and successful review of a two years' course. An attractive feature of this summer term is the attendance of members of the bar who seek change of air and at the same time an opportunity to refresh their memories in the first principles of the law.

Judge Geo. H. Moore, Jr., is expected to spend part of the summer in Chapel Hill, and the students hope to hear from him more than once during his stay. Former Superintendent of Public Instruction Mebane expects to be present at this term. A. M. Simmons, Esq., of Currituck, is here for the summer. And Lieutenant S. T. Ansell, one of the instructors in law and history at the Military Academy at West Point, is here attending the lectures for the purpose of acquainting himself with the laws of his native State.

Among the students on the first day are R. B. Chastain, of Clay Co.; J. M. Umstead, of Durham; T. J. Gold, of Shelby; G. M. Patton, of Elon; D. P. Stern, of Halifax; J. D. Mallonee, of Franklin; Harry Skinner, Jr., of Greenville; J. R. and O. A. Barbour, of Johnston; F. S. Hassell, of Williamston; H. S. Boggan, of Anson; E. M. Rollins and D. G. Fowle, of Wake; Harry McMullan, of Pasquotank; T. G. Brown, of Greensboro; W. H. Phillips, of Lexington; T. D. Meares, of Wilmington; Wm. Dunn, of Newbern; S. W. Klutz, of S. C.; C. E. Taylor, of Brunswick; F. L. Black, of Davidson College; and J. G. Carpenter, of Stanley County.

Summer School.

The Summer School promises to be well attended this summer. More than double the number of rooms of last year have been engaged already by the lady teachers. This year both the Carr and Mary Ann Smith buildings will be utilized for this purpose. A unique course to be given this summer is the library course. This instruction in the essentials for managing a library is perhaps the first of its kind in the South. As the demand is gradually growing in our Southland for trained librarians this kind of instruction must necessarily be pushed to the front. Mr. L. R. Wilson, A.B. has charge of this work here in the Summer School.

Class Record for 1904.

One of the last acts of the Class of 1904 was the decision to publish a class record similar to the Class of '99. This '99 class is considered one of the best organized and strongest that has left the University. W. P. Jacocks was elected to get out this publication. A. H. Johnston was elected permanent secretary of the class, and was authorized to call the class together in 1909 for its first reunion.

Dr. Charles Lee Raper.

On Wednesday, June 8th, Miss Henrietta Frost Williams, of Paterson, N. J., and Dr. Charles Lee Raper, of the University faculty, were married at the home of the bride's parents. Miss Williams has a host of friends in Chapel Hill, as she has visited at Dr. Wheeler's. All of Dr. Raper's friends join in giving them a welcome, yea, a thrice welcome to Chapel Hill.

Rhodes Scholarship.

The following students from North Carolina have passed entrance examinations for the Rhodes Scholarship to which North Carolina is entitled: Messrs. Wm. A. Arrowood, Thos. P. Sprunt, Henry Trantham and J. Horner Winston, '04, of the University.

A committee from several of our educational institutions in the State will meet soon to decide which two of these four shall receive the scholarship.
