A Generous Gift.

The members of the Phi Society very generously gave to the Athletic Association last Saturday night the fifty cents rebate on the library fee that was coming to each member. The other fifty cents was given in the spring to the librarian for the purpose of carrying on the cataloguing of the library. Instead of making the gift to the Association a matter for the majority to decide by vote, each individual member gave his part as a personal contribution. There were only seven men in the society who did not join in the movement. The praiseworthy act of the society has helped the Association very much, for the total of the contribution will amount to about seventy-five dollars.

Presentation of Baskerville Cup.

The loving cup which was ordered some time ago to be presented to Dr. Baskerville has come, and the presentation will take place next Saturday evening in the chapel at 8 o'clock. The subscribers to the movement will be delighted to know that the cup is a very beautiful one.

The programme for the occasion has not been definitely arranged. It is known, however, that President Venable will preside over the meeting, and that Prof. Williams, who made the first suggestion of the movement, will make the presentation. Every member of the University is expected to be present. Music will be furnished by the orchestra.

The Moore County Club.

The students from Moore County have organized the Moore County Club. The object of the Club is to make the men acquainted. The officers are: E. M. McIver, President; L. M. Kelly, Vice-President; Secretary, W. R. Clegg; Treasurer, W. A. Ray.

UNIVERSITY DAY.*A Great Celebration by University Men Here and Abroad.

We celebrate to-day the most significant anniversary in the University. Happily there promises to be a celebration worthy of the occasion. This morning in the Chapel there will be a meeting of all the faculty and students. This assembly will be addressed by President Venable and Prof. C. Alphonso Smith. Music will be given by the orchestra and the University songs will be sung, with a practiced chorus leading. It will be an occasion to thrill the heart and swell the pride of a loyal son of our alma mater.

The title of the President's address has not been announced. Dr. Smith's will be on the subject "Literature in the South." This is a subject which could not be more interesting to any body of men than to the students of this University. It is one which is vital to them. The treatment of it at Dr. Smith's hands has been widely commented by leading scholars of the country. In addition to these an address was expected to be given by Chancellor Hill, of the University of Georgia. It was impossible, however, for him to be here.

This evening a reception will be given by the faculty to the seniors, graduate students, and the second year men in the professional schools. This reception will be given in Commons Hall and will last from nine until eleven o'clock.

Another feature which, while it is not strictly a part of the celebration, is very opportune on such a holiday, is the football this afternoon. Two games will be played. The Sophomores and Freshmen will play at two o'clock the cheapest game on record. Five cents will be the admission price and a good game is expected. At four o'clock the Varsity will line up against Bingham. This game will, of course, not be a first-class one, in fact, it is a twenty-five cent game. It will, however, be well worth seeing, and will be a good opportunity to take the afternoon off.

So much for the celebration here, where we have always observed the anniversary in various ways. But this year alumni associations throughout the State and in other States will have a special observance. This has not been a custom heretofore, and it is a pleasant sign to see that the alumni are making a start in this direction. It will no doubt add very greatly to the pleasure and usefulness of the associations. These sons who have gone out into the world will feel nearer to the old home as they celebrate in other places the day they used to celebrate here as students.

Those of us who celebrate here to-day the birth day of our alma mater will soon be celebrating as alumni. The enjoyment we get out of to-day and the spirit we put into it will have not a little to do with determining the pleasure these days of the future will bring us. So let us enjoy the anniversary of the birth of the institution that makes us brothers.

The North Carolina Society, of New York City, gives a reception in honor of Dr. Baskerville tonight.
