CAROLINA THE VICTOR

Farmers Fan Furiously, but Fail to Find the Ball.

SITTON'S MARVELOUS PITCHING

His Magic Spit Ball Strikes Out Seventeen Men and Yields but Three Hits.—Winston's Work Was Magnificent.

Carolina got even with A. and M. for the defeat administered by her in Raleigh last year, and with Sitton in the box easily downed the Farmers 4 to 0. Sitton pitched as pretty a game as was ever seen in Raleigh and was a complete puzzle to the batsmen, only three hits being registered off him, and one of these was a scratch. He fanned 17 of the Farmers, and that is a record to be envied, for they are a hard hitting aggregation of ball players. The hits made off him all came after two men were out, and though A. and M. got two men as far as third base, yet they never had a chance to score, for Sitton would put the spit to the ball and Winston would get the put out. Scientifically speaking, Sitton and Winston were about the whole show for Carolina. The team played well enough behind them, whenever they got a chance, but that chance was not often forthcoming. Cheshire made the only miscue for Carolina when he dropped a pop fly which was so easy it was hard. Heath was in the box for A. and M. and he also pitched a good game, giving up six hits. The four runs made off him, however, were not entirely due to errors, for Carolina managed to hit when hits were needed. Fully 2000 people witnessed the game, all classes of people being represented. Pretty college girls, excursionists, Farmers, etc., were there in throngs. A. and M. took their defeat pretty hard, but they should gather consolation from the fact that they simply went up against a better team. The cadets had a big bonfire which they intended to ignite immediately after the game, but they said they couldn't find a match. The detailed account of the game is as follows:

A. and M. won the toss and chose to go to bat first. Eskridge fanned. Hadley was out Cheshire to first. For Carolina: Winston fouled out to catcher. Stem made a clean hit to left and went to second while Cheshire was being retired pitcher to first. Worth went out on a hit to short.

Second inning. A. and M. Knox and Heath fanned. Drake singled to left, but was left on first as Lattimore fanned. Carolina. Gudger drove to left for one base. Thompson fouled out to catcher. James walked. Emerson went out on a grounder to first, advancing Gudger to third and James to second. Sitton was hit by pitched ball and walked to first, rubbing his digits. Winston tried hard for a hit but lifted a fly to third for an out, leaving three men on bases.

Third inning. A. and M. Harris and Staples fan. Eskridge out Sitton to Stem. Carolina. Stem hits one over second which looks safe, but Staples grabs it up with one hand and retires Stem at first. Cheshire fouls out to Hadley. Worth is out on a line drive to center.

Fourth inning. A. and M. Asbury flies to Worth in center. Hadley is hit by a pitched ball, goes to first and steals second. Knox is out on fly to Stem, who throws to Cheshire and doubles up Hadley. Carolina scored two runs this inning. Gudger, after hitting nine fouls, goes out on a high fly to center. Thompson hits a slashing drive to right field and stops on third, owing to the ground rule that a hit into the crowd was good for 3 bases. James hits to first, and Thompson, through slow baserunning, is caught at the plate. Emerson hits to Heath and goes to second while James scores, Knox missing the throw at first base. Sitton follows with a clean hit to left field and Emerson crosses the plate with the second run. Sitton steals second, but Winston retires the side by going out pitcher to first.

Fifth inning. A. and M. Heath is out Sitton to Stem. Drake beats out a bunt, goes to second on a passed ball and steals third. Lattimore and Harris find trouble solving Sitton's spit ball, and neither get any farther than the plate. Carolina. Stem flies to short. Cheshire is out, pitcher to first. Worth is out on a line drive to right which Lattimore nabs right on the brink of the precipice.

Sixth inning. A. and M. Staples fans. Eskridge is out, pitcher to first. Asbury reaches first on Cheshire's error. Hadley fans. Carolina. Gudger and Thompson go out on infield grounders. Winborne, who supplanted James in left field, flies out to first base.

Seventh. A. and M. Knox is out on grounder to Sitton, who touches him running down the line. Heath fans. Drake walks and steals second, but gets no further as Lattimore fans. Carolina: Emerson is out short to first. Sitton hits one to Asbury which is too hot to handle, steals second and goes to third on Staple's fumble. Winston is hit by pitched ball, and immediately pilfers second. Stem goes out on a drive to left. Cheshire, however, comes to the rescue with a solid single to right on which Sitton scores, and then Winston scores on Knox's error of the return ball. Worth is out on fly to third. Two runs, two hits.

Eighth. A. and T. Harris, Staples and Eskridge all ingloriously fan. For Carolina, Gudger fans, he being Heath's only strike-out victim. Thompson and Winborne are out short to first.

Ninth. A. and M. Asbury comes up with blood in his eye, but Sitton makes a monkey of him and

JACOB RIIS.

"The Battle With the Slums."

A large audience greeted Jacob A. Riis in the chapel Wednesday night, and were greatly pleased and edified with his lecture on The Battle with the Slums. Mr. Riis dealt with the slum problem in a very sympathetic way. He has worked in the slums of New York for twenty-five years, and should know what he is talking about. He began his work as a reporter, and his reports of the crimes of the slum district there was always an appeal for this class of people. He has written several books which deal with this problem, such as "How the Other Half Lives," and "The Making of an American." Mr. Riis spoke very touchingly of President Roosevelt and showed his great admiration for him. Mr. Roosevelt as president of the police board of New York and afterward as Governor, was closely connected with Mr. Riis and greatly aided him in his work. Mr. Roosevelt has called Mr. Riis "the most useful citizen of New York."

Mr. Riis's lecture was illustrated by a stereopticon. With his slides Mr. Riis carried his audience out into the slums of New York and showed the dirt and poverty that abound there. Mr. Riis's work has been a fight for the home with plenty of light and air, and for the schools and public parks. He has fought against crowded tenement houses. He said that all this battle with the slum meant that man is made in the image of God and we must see that he does not desecrate that body if we can help it, and God knows that we can.

Carolina 5; South Carolina 3.

Carolina worsted South Carolina College last Friday by the same score that she beat Syracuse Wednesday, 5 to 3. South Carolina was clearly outclassed from the start, and though they made three runs off Thompson in the first inning nobody worried, for the difference in the calibre of the two teams was self evident. South Carolina scored her three runs, and her only three runs, in the first inning on a single, a base on balls, a wild pitch, and a wild throw by Emerson on a difficult chance. Thompson settled down after the first and South Carolina never had another chance. Carolina tied the score in the third on singles by Thompson and Cheshire, an error and Worth's timely double to center. Another was scored in the fourth on Winborne's single and steal and Thompson's two bagger. Another was scored in the eighth on three clean hits. The feature of the game was Carolina's hitting, especially that of Cheshire and Worth, who led with 3 safeties apiece, and Sitton, Winborne and Stem trailed along with two apiece. For South Carolina Capt. Wilcox in left and Davis at short played excellent ball. Rain fell at intervals during the game. Following is the official score:

Carolina 18; South Carolina 8.

The second game between North and South Carolina was played in Durham on Saturday before the smallest crowd of the season. Manager Jones has had tough luck this season so far, and he deserves better audiences after this to pull him out of a deep rut. The game was characterized by hard hitting on both sides. Sitton retired at the end of the fourth inning in favor of Thompson. Incidentally Carolina was 13 runs to the good. In four innings Sitton struck out 8 men. Twenty-one hits speak well for Carolina's batters. Following is the official score:
