SENIORS OUTPLAY SOPHS. (Continued from First Page.)

McLean gained most of the Seniors' ground, making his distance whenever called on. Wadsworth and Montgomery played well for the Sophs.

The line up was as follows: Seniors Sophs. Pemberton Wadsworth 1. e. Noble Yokely 1. t. Grier Rankin l. g. Hardin Parker C. . *Montsinger Seymour Leonard r.g. Spruill McManus Meredith r. t. McLean Cannady г. е. Tillet Bagwell q. Winborne Montgomery Turner 1. h. Stem r. h. Stevenson Blalock Craker Morrison f. b. Umpire. Story; referee, Coach Simmons. Halves, 20 and 15 minutes.

The result of Monday afternoon's game leaves the class championship thus: The Juniors have lost one game and won two; The Seniors Friday night well repaid those who and Freshmen have each won one game, tied one, and lost one; the Sophomores have lost twice and agine, from a mere reading, that as won once. The Sophomores are thus entirely eliminated from the series, and the Juniors, having the highest percentage are champions. The Freshmen and Seniors at present tie for the second place. The tie is scheduled to be played off on the 24th.

A Suggested Custom.

Owing to the fact that the two lower classes have, from time immemorial, evinced such an abnormal appetite for a mixture of kerosene oil and lampblack, a certain publicspirited citizen of the college community has submitted the following suggestion for an inter-class custom: That each year on the fourth does today. Saturday in September the members of the Freshman and Sophomore classes, each man armed with a whitewash brush, resort in a body to the atheletic field, where an adequate supply of blacking has been supplied beforehand by the authorities, and that, having hung their duddies on the fence, the members of the said classes then proceed to decorate each other to their heart's desire.

"Everyman"

The performance of "Everyman" at the Academy of Music, Durham, took the journey from Chapel Hill to witness it. No one could immuch life could be infused into the dry bones of the text of this XV century morality play as is given it by the Ben Greet Company. Their interpretation makes it a thing of living interest.

The theme of "Everyman" is universal mortality. Its presentation impresses one with the power that the morality play must have exerted in mediaeval times. Even to-day, as staged by Mr. Greet, "Everyman" is a stronger appeal for thought than any sermon that could be preached. How great must have been its influence at a time when the objective played even a greater part in life than it

The work of the players was of the highest order, keeping the attention of the audience from firs to last. This the nature of the play rendered especially difficult, as in it the interest of the onlookers' depends almost entirely upon the ability of the actors. However the audience remained for two hours in the atmosphere of the XV century. Only once, when a passing engine shrieked an almost immediate echo to the sounding of Dethe's trumpet. was it called to the XX century reality of things. On the whole the play merited a much larger audience than it gained from the University.

The Minnesota Way.

If we are to believe certain Chicago papers it is the fashion out at Minnesota for the Minnesota students to celebrate an athletic victory by spanking the Minnesota co-eds. That may be all right where there are plenty of co-eds so that no one may be denied the right of giving proper vent to his feelings, but for ours, give us the plain old bonfire and yackety-yack yet awhile. We have not yet developed enough at Carolina to take to ourselves the strenuous ways of the "wild and woolly" West.
