

LOCAL NOTES

John Donnelly, '09, and Hall Johnston, '03, were on the Hill Tuesday.

The Soph-Junior game will be played on the new athletic field tomorrow afternoon at 3:45.

The Odd Number Club will meet at 7:30 tomorrow night in the English conference room.

The Economics Seminary met Monday night to discuss the question of municipal ownership of street railways.

Professor M. C. S. Noble delivered the address at the commencement exercises of the Guilford College public schools Saturday night.

President J. A. Fore and General Secretary F. B. Rankin of the Y. M. C. A. attended the inter-state conference of the association for the Carolinas, held in Wilmington last Friday to Monday.

Tickets for the Glee Club and Orchestra concert, tomorrow night week, are now on sale at Eubanks' drug store. This concert should be liberally patronized by the students.

At the Geological Seminary Tuesday night Professor Collier Cobb gave an illustrated lecture on "The Atmosphere as a Geological Agent," the lecture being especially for the Freshman class.

Mr. J. T. Fraley, who has acted as agent for the Southern at Chapel Hill for the past five years, resigned Saturday and went to Greensboro to accept a position with the Southern Express Company. He was succeeded Monday by Mr. M. Ellis, of Durham.

Departed!

"Colliers Collector" has gone. Undaunted by the warning adorned with the gruesome skull and crossbones he stuck valiantly to his job until Saturday. But the best of perseverance must flag at last, and he finally shook the dust of Chapel Hill from his feet in the firm belief that no such person as "Vic" Williams ever existed. Doubtless he felt to assure himself of the safety of his watch, and breathed a sigh of deep relief as The Limited started down the grade toward University. No, no more college collecting for him! Yet if he had tried the proper tactics he would probably have left the Hill with his pockets jingling with coin.

Chemical Journal Club.

At the meeting of the Chemical Journal Club Monday night the following papers were read:

"The Fixation of Atmospheric Nitrogen", Mr. G. F. Leonard.

"New Oxidizing Agents," Mr. D. P. Tillet.

"The Radio-activity of Radium Bromide at High and Low Temperatures," Mr. J. E. Pogue.

"Nitrogen in Iron and Steel," Dr. R. O. E. Davis.

A Popular Score.

Nine to five was the result again Saturday afternoon, when the Seniors defeated the Freshmen. Although the Seniors had the lead from the start and were never in any danger of losing, the game was more interesting than the one between the Sophs and Juniors the afternoon before. On the whole it was a better sample of baseball, although it might have been improved in spots. Pemberton, for '07, pitched a neat game. Wood and Hobbs, the Freshman pitchers, were hit freely. The next of the class championship series will be between the Sophs and Seniors tomorrow afternoon.

A False Alarm.

In the Charlotte Observer of the 25th, was printed a report to the effect that Dr. C. Alphonso Smith, of the faculty of the University of North Carolina, had been offered the chair of English at Cornell University. Dr. Smith says in regard to the report that he has not made any attempt to secure the position, and has never been approached on the subject. The rumor current in Charlotte is without foundation so far as he is concerned. The students and faculty are glad to learn that the statement that Dr. Smith is contemplating leaving the University is a mistake.

To Leave the Game.

Dr. R. B. Lawson, of the Medical Department of the University of North Carolina, a noted twirler on the diamond for a number of years, was reported some time ago by the Richmond dailies to have signed up for the coming season with the Danville Athletic Association. Later reports stated that Dr. Lawson had contracted with the Trenton, N. J., athletes. Dr. Lawson denies both of these reports and states further that he will play no more professional ball. While a student here Dr. Lawson was one of Carolina's crack pitchers, and for several years he has played star ball in independent Eastern leagues.

Chemical Research Club.

A Chemical Research Club was organized last week, including the members of the instruction staff, Doctors Herty, Wheeler, Mills and Davis, and the following students engaged in chemical research work: S. Jordan, F. P. Drane, J. E. Pogue, Miss Allen, R. P. Burns, W. S. Dickson, O. V. Hicks, Hampden Hill, Hubert Hill, W. S. Hunter, G. F. Leonard, and F. B. Stem. Meetings will be held once a month at which the progress made during the month will be informally discussed.

The K. K. K.

A society known as the K. K. K. has been organized recently by the members of the law school. The purpose of the organization is to promote scholarship in the law department. Its members are: Messrs. C. C. Barnhardt, William Bond, Jr., H. C. Caviness, J. B. Cheshire, Jr., C. C. Cothran, H. C. Craven, Kerr Craig, F. L. Dunlap, H. V. Heyer, Stahle Linn, T. A. McNeil, Jr., A. T. Morrison, W. K. Perritt, W. S. O'B. Robinson, Jr., J. A. Shaw, and Floyd Simmons.

The University of Virginia is to be represented by an exhibit at the Jamestown Exposition soon to be held at Norfolk.
