CAROLINA PLAYS NICE BALL.

DOWN GEORGE WASHINGTON IN PRETTY GAME.

Thompson Pitches Well—Team Does Heaviest Hitting of Season.

Carolina cleaned up the boys from George Washington here yesterday afternoon by a score of 6 to 2. It was very cold, too cold for baseball, and the wind was high, making the game hard on the outfield. Only a small crowd ventured out to shiver on the bleachers, but the courageous ones were rewarded by the witnessing of a pretty game.

Carolina won the game in the second when, on two hits, an error, and a base on balls the home team netted three runs. For the three successive innings one run each was added and then our scoring ceased. At first it looked like a shut-out for George Washington, but Carolina borrowed an air ship temporarily in the seventh and the visitors took two on two hits and an error.

The biggest feature of the game was the batting of the home team, which piled up 12 hits. The fielding of Carolina was superior to that of the visitors. Towards the end of the game the Washington boys did their share of hitting too, touching Thompson up for 7, which were well scattered, however.

For George Washington, Stevenson, catcher, played a star game, in spite of his acrobatic stunt on the wire fence. His handling of "pop" fowls was especially good. For Carolina, Fountain did some nice work in the field and his full share of stick-work. Whitaker stopped some hard ones, and old Romy pulled in his quota of flies.

	R	H	E
G. Washington	0	0	0
Carolina	6	12	2

Batteries: George Washington, Carr, Hester and Stevenson; Carolina, Thompson and Rogers. Umpire, MR. Stem.

Today's Game.

The game with V. P. I. this afternoon should be an interesting one, although it should result in Carolina's favor, taking comparative scores into consideration. The A. & M. team defeated the boys from Blacksburg 15 to 4 the other day and Delaware College, in one game, shut them out, 3 to 0. At all events there should be some good baseball this afternoon, the weather permitting.

Philological Club.

At the meeting of the Philological club Tuesday night the following topics were discussed:

"Note on the Independent Character of Ulfilas's Translation of the New Testament," Mr. E. E. Randolph; "Esperanto," Dr. C. Alphonso Smith; "The Character of Victor Hugo's Lucrezia Borgia," Dr. J. D. Bruner.

GLEE CLUB AND ORCHESTRA.

RECITAL VERY CREDITABLE TO MUSICAL ASSOCIATION.

Some Favorite Numbers — The Association Takes Eastern Trip.

The University Orchestra and Glee Club gave a most enjoyable recital in Gerrard Hall Friday night, making its first appearance for the season. The Musical Association had been training hard for several months in preparation for the event and was well repaid for its pains by the warm reception that it received from the student body. The house was crowded, and each number on the program received enough applause to have warranted an encore, but the musicians were chary of their selections and came back only a very few times. The Carolina and Georgia baseball teams, the guests of the Association, occupied prominent positions in the audience.

The program for the evening was as follows:

Two-Step "In The Lead"	Orchestra.	Frantzen.
The Prettiest Girl In Borneo	Glee Club.	Witmark.
Golden Scepter Overture	Orchestra.	Schlepppegrell.
Carolina Quartette
"Sliding Jim"	Orchestra.	Lozey.
Selection from Victor Herbert's Opera, "The Red Mill."	Orchestra.
"Forbidden," A Student Lament.	Glee Club.
Violin Solo, "Introduction et Polonaise"	Mr. Jas. Thomas, Jr.	Allen.
	Mrs. A. S. Wheeler, Piano.
"Idaho" A Western Two-Step	Orchestra.	Von Tilzer.

Mr. J. J. Thomas, Jr., and Mrs. A. S. Wheeler assisted the Orchestra in rendering its selections. The violin solo by Mr. Thomas, piano accompaniment by Mrs. Wheeler, received much applause. "Sliding Jim", with Mr. Chatham as star performer, and "Forbidden" met with the hearty approval of the students.

Monday the Glee Club and Orchestra started on their Eastern trip under the direction of Mr. C. T. Woollen, with Mr. Foy Robertson, manager. The students who took the trip are, Glee Club: R. S. McNeil, Jr., J. E. Pogue, Jr., I. I. Davis, Jr., H. C. Barbee, C. T. Woollen, Tenors; M. Orr, C. S. Swindell, J. B. Whittington, J. R. Wildman, Jr., C. S. Rights, Basses. Orchestra: N. C. Curtis, Violin, W. H. Royster, Cello, P. H. Royster, Bass, C. A. Vogler, Flute, C. T. Woollen, Clarinet, C. S. Rights, 1st. Cornet, H. H. Racey, 2nd Cornet, R. H. Chatham, Trombone, P. P. Mabry, Piano, G. L. Woollen, Drums; Quartette: R. S. McNeil, Jr., First Tenor, C. T. Woollen, Second Tenor, M. Orr, Baritone, J. B. Whittington, Bass. The first engagement was filled at Wilson Monday night.

BATTLE BETWEEN BATTERIES.

NEITHER GEORGIA NOR CAROLINA ABLE TO SCORE.

Rain Cuts Contest off at Seventh Inning—Second Game Prevented Altogether.

Georgia and Carolina crossed bats on the home diamond Friday for seven innings of the fastest baseball ever seen on the Hill. At the end of the seventh inning the game was called on account of rain neither team having been able to score. Georgia succeeded only twice in getting to first base and then the runners died in attempting second. Once Carolina went to third and, with Story up, seemed to have a good chance at scoring, but Foley, Georgia's twirler, used his judgment, handing out a pass, and the opportunity was gone.

The game was throughout a battle between the batteries in which Thompson and Rogers had much the better of it against the Georgians, Foley and Brown. Thompson's steam was up, and with perfect control he was able to strike out 12 of the 21 men who faced him at the plate. Foley, Georgia's left handed pitcher, fanned 5. Neither pitcher was found for anything longer than a single. Thompson's work was far above the ordinary, and Rogers gave him good support. This makes the third game that Thompson has pitched lately in which he has held his opponents down to two hits or less.

Both teams fielded an errorless game. The players had very few chances at the ball, but those that they did have they handled promptly and scientifically. The Georgia team is composed of the fastest as well as the cleverest players that have visited the Hill this spring.

A second game between the two teams was to have taken place Saturday but the steady downpour of rain that lasted all day prevented. The Georgia team left for Athens on the afternoon train Saturday.

Score by innings:

N. Carolina	0	0	0
Georgia	0	0	0

Batteries: Carolina, Thompson and Rogers; Georgia, Foley and Brown. Umpire, Freddie Stem.

Soph-Fresh Debate.

The Soph-Fresh debate between the Dialectic and Philanthropic literary societies of the University will be held in Gerrard Hall tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. The query for debate is, "Resolved, That Congress should adopt a national inheritance tax, with a progressive rate." The Di has the affirmative side of the question and will be represented by Messrs. W. H. Jones, '09, and J. A. Austin '10. The speakers for the Phi society are Messrs. J. W. Umstead, '09, and D. B. Teague, '10.

THAT DELAWARE GAME.

A VERY POOR SAMPLE OF THE NATIONAL SPORT.

Lack of Team Work Loses Contest for Carolina by Score of 8 to 5.

Carolina lost to Delaware on the home diamond Thursday by a score of 8 to 5. The game was slow and uninteresting, and was characterized by lack of ginger all round. Sensational cutting off of infield hits by Whitaker and Montgomery, and a three-base hit by Story were the only relieving features of the contest.

In the first inning, when James walked to first and came home on errors it looked like a walk-over for the home team. The third inning cost them five runs, however, on a combination of errors and sacrifice hits, and although they made three themselves the following inning they were unable to overcome Delaware's lead.

During the game Carolina tried Story, Morrow, and Thompson in the box; Story pitched the first two, innings Morrow the next four, and Thompson the rest of it. After Thompson went in in the seventh Delaware did not add a hit or a run. Doane pitched the whole thing for Delaware, and succeeded in keeping clear of the Carolina batters throughout, although there seemed to be no especial reason for his doing so.

"Po Will" was greatly missed on the side lines, although Messrs. D'Alemberte and Stewart did good work in leading the cheering.

Score by innings.

Carolina	5	4	3
Delaware	8	6	6

Batteries: Carolina, Story, Morrow, Thompson and Rogers; Delaware, Doane and Adkins. Umpire, Dr. Lawson.

No Excursion.

The hopes of the college have been running high over the prospects of an excursion to Greensboro the 22nd on account of the Virginia game. These hopes have gone up in the air, however, for although the faculty were persuaded to agree to the proposition, it is still to prove a failure owing to the fact that Mr. R. L. Vernon, of Charlotte, the head of this division of the Southern, declares that he will be unable to furnish the necessary rolling stock. It is probable that special rates will be secured which will enable a larger crowd to take in the game than would be apt to do so under ordinary circumstances.

"The Bible and College Students", by Dr. C. Alphonso Smith, which appeared some time ago in the Christian Observer, Louisville, Ky., has been reprinted entire by the Literary Digest.
