GUILFORD WINS IN TWELFTH.

STORY'S DRIVE OVER THE FENCE THE FEATURE.

A Close and Interesting Game—Thompson Pitches Great Baseball.

Carolina lost her last game of the season to Guilford here in the twelfth inning yesterday afternoon, by the narrow margin of one run. The feature of the game occurred in the latter half of the first when Story lifted the ball over left-field fence for the only home run of the season on the home grounds. Carolina was unable to add but one hit afterward and lost the game on her inability to bat. Guilford tied the game in the fourth on a three-bagger and a single and won it in the twelfth when Price hit a hot single over second, and came home when the ball got away between center and right. "Bull" pitched a neat game, showing up as well in the twelfth as he did in the first. Price also pitched clean ball. Anderson played a pretty right for Guilford.

The tabulated score:

Reported Conflagration.

It is reported that before the hour of midnight, Wednesday, May 1, 1907, those checked trousers, so famous in University annals, had been consigned to the devouring flames and had vanished in smoke away. It may be true; but the college refuses to believe it.

The University Band, under the direction of Mr. C. T. Woollen went to White Cross Tuesday to furnish music for the closing exercises of the "deestrick school".

SOME HITS ON THE FACULTY.

DRAMATIC CLUB PRESENTS FACULTY FARCE.

Good Impersonations — Parson Josephus Johnsing All There—The Music.

The University Dramatic Club did itself credit last night in its presentation of "Anthropophysiameibomechane", the machine that changes the nature of a man — a pretty dangerous name to apply to a mere Faculty Farce. The action was divided into two parts, the first giving glimpses of some of the faculty members as the students see them. The impersonating was well done and drew forth the wild applause of the student audience while the professors grinned and bore it. The second scene disclosed to view the mysteries of a faculty meeting which, after much serious deliberation on questions of weight, terminated in a free-for-all scrap over the red hot question of the Senior Beer Feast. While the college at large was not aware of this being the typical mode of procedure at a faculty meeting, it must, in fact, be such, as several of the cast are themselves pseudo-faculty members and must have modelled their farce upon observation.

The cast of the characters follows:

Supreme Master of Introducing, T. R. Eagles.
The Wonderful Magician, T. W. Dickson.
Of Many Explanations, H. H. Hughes.
Philosopher and Literateur, L. W. Parker.
The Author, C. L. Weill.
Of Mass Meeting Fame, L. W. Parker.
From Patterson, N. J., W. E. Yelverton.
Upholder of the Fair Name and Fame of the University, D. M. Phillips.
How it Looked to Him, H. B. Gunter.
Budding into Fame, A. F. Jackson.
His Jokes do Multiply, L. W. Parker.
Far Famed for Trousers, W. E. Yelverton.
Parson Johnsing, E. S. W. Dameron.

T. R. Eagles as Dr. Smith, H. H. Hughes as Professor Toy, C. L. Weill as Dr. Bruner, and H. B. Gunter as Professor Bernard, shone especially in their parts. Mr. L. W. Parker, in his impersonations of Dr. Hume, Professor Noble, and Dr. Battle, was the star of the occasion. In the interim between the acts Mr. E. S. W. Dameron, as Parson Josephus Johnsing of Rabbit Shuffle, preached a most eloquent sermon. Mr. Dameron proved beyond the shadow of a doubt that he missed his calling by going into law; his powers as a "zorter" are wonderful.

The farce was given under the management of the Y. M. C. A. Mr. F. B. Rankin make a preliminary apology before the opening of the performance, stating that it had been possible to include only the more notable members of the faculty — but whether or not this salve will be able to save the actors, examinations alone remain to tell. Music was furnished by the University Orchestra.
