The Senior speaking for the selection of the Commencement orators occurs in the Phi Hall at noon Saturday. There are a number of contestants for the five places.

A game of ball between the Fats and the Leans will be the feature for next week. "Pig Un" Rankin will captain the Fats and "Lengthy" Huffman will preside over the Leans.

A stag german will be held in the Bynum Gymnasium every Saturday night up to Commencement that the tyros may become more adept in foot-shaking for the final dances.

In a highly exciting baseball game Thursday afternoon the Pharmacists defeated the Lawyers by the score of 10 to 9. On Saturday morning the Pill Rollers in turn met defeat at the hands of the doughty Meds to the tune of 18 to 12.

Dr. C. L. Raper has been requested by the Carnegie institution to direct some research work on the subject of social legislation. This is the fourth time that Dr. Raper has been requested by the institution to direct research work in Economics and History.

Professor M. C. S. Noble has been appointed by Governor Glenn as one of the five members of the N. C. Historical Commission, the duty of which is to collect historical data connected with the State. The last Legislature enlarged the powers of the commission and appropriated the sum of $5000 for its use.

The Hokey Pokey Man.

Chapel Hill is not such an insulated village after all, although it is rather far removed from the froth and foam of metropolitan existence. Now and again bits of city life persist in drifting in and anchoring under the classic shades of Captain Frank's knowledge shop. This time it is the "hokey pokey man". With his simple culinary apparatus ensconced hard by the post office where the savory odor of his browning cones will bring blissful twinges of anticipation to the largest number of student palates he plies his trade, preparing his cones on a diminutive oil range, loading them from a neighboring freezer, and disposing of them, completed "hokey pokeys", to the hungry bystanders for the nominal consideration of five cents each.

The Season Closes.

Dr. Thomas E. Green, of Iowa, a noted orator and lecturer of the Middle-West closed the Star Course lecture program for this year Friday night with his lecture "The Key to the 20th Century". Dr. Green's lecture was a very interesting and instructive study of problems in American dynamics, but he could have cut it in two in the middle to good advantage. A lecture two hours and a half in length, no matter how interesting, is too much to impose upon any audience.

Juniors vs. Meds

After the Meds had administered chastisement to the Lawyers Monday, 11 to 10 being the score, the Juniors, in turn, stepped in Tuesday and beat the doctors 10 to 9. It was a good game and a mighty uncertain one, until the last inning, for both teams stepped into the pitchers good and hard. For the Meds Clark caught a nice game and Vic Williams starred in left. Umstead, for '08, made a beauty throw from deep center, catching his man at the home plate. Rand also created somewhat of a sensation in the seventh by lining out a two-bagger with three on bases and two already down.

Baseball Farewell!

No more big games now; the Varsity went out of commission after yesterday's game and all that remains now is the formality of awarding the sweaters. Manager Robinson had expected to take the team to Norfolk for two games with Lehigh at the Jamestown exposition grounds on the 3rd and 4th, but has been compelled to cancel the contract for these games on account of the unfinished condition of the Exposition's stadium. Farewell to baseball for Carolina until 1908.

Memorial Day.

Appropriate Memorial Day exercises will be held in Gerrard Hall on Friday, May 10th, at 3 p.m. Major William Cain will act as master of ceremonies and Dr. Hume, an ex-chaplain of the Confederacy, will open the services with prayer. Judge James C. McRae will make the address. The public is invited to be present.
