Mr. Ned Rawlings, catcher on the scrub baseball team last spring, has returned to college after having undergone a severe seige of typhoid fever.

Mr. Green Lloyd died at the home of his father, Mr. Tom Lloyd, in West Chapel Hill, yesterday afternoon. He contracted pneumonia on the trip to Richmond.

The Philological Club met Tuesday night in the Alumni building. Dr. Eben Alexander discussed "The American Scholar," and Dr. J. F. Royster "An Old English Lead."

Miss Lona Hocutt, who is attending the Baptist University for Women at Raleigh, spent a few days at home this week. She was accompanied by Miss Hassie Ponder.

Secretary F. B. Rankin spent Sunday in Winston-Salem. While there he preached at the First Presbyterian Church and incidentally made a short talk on "Christian Work for Students."

At a meeting of the Geological Seminary Tuesday evening Mr. Drury Phillips gave an interesting account of the Quicksilver Mines of Terlingua, Texas, where he was at work during the summer.

The Modern Literature Club will meet Thursday night in the Alumni building. Dr. Alexander will read a translation of Bikelas's "The Ugly Sisters," and Dr. Henderson will tell about "The Real Bernard Shaw."

The Charlotte Observer of Sunday contains an extremely interesting article on John Charles McNeill by Dr. Archibald Henderson. The two men were close friends and Dr. Henderson shows that he had a true insight into the poet's heart.

Mr. Hal Harris, a member of the baseball team in 1906, was on the Hill this week visiting Dr. R. B. Lawson. Mr. Harris has been recently married, and he was accompanied by his wife, nee Miss Myrtle Shafer, of Stroudsburg, Pa., and by Mrs. Shafer and Mrs. Wallace, also of Stroudsburg.

The captains of the class football teams asked Prof. Graham and Drs. Herty and Howe to decide the contest as to which team was champion. These gentlemen decided that, inasmuch as the Freshmen and the Seniors had the same percentage, they would have to play another game. The game will be played next week.

Ravenel-Archer Wedding.

Miss Millie Archer was married Tuesday afternoon at five o'clock to Mr. Theodore D. Ravenel of Charleston, S. C. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's mother, by Rev. W. T. D. Moss of Washington, D. C., formerly pastor of the Presbyterian church at this place. The wedding was a quiet home affair, witnessed by the family, a few out of town guests, and quite a number of friends in the village.

At the appointed hour the groom, accompanied by Rev. Mr. Moss, and the bride, accompanied by her sister, Miss Rand Archer, entered the parlor. Immediately following these came the brides-maids, Miss Anne FitzSimmons of Adam's Run, S. C., Miss Eugenia Harris of Salisbury, Miss Mary Wellon Huske of Durham, and Miss Mary Davis of Raleigh.

After an impressive ceremony, a brilliant reception was held, at which the happy couple received the congratulations of their numerous friends. The bride is one of Chapel Hill's most beautiful and cultured young ladies and has a host of friends here and elsewhere. Mr. Ravenel is a prosperous business man of Charleston.

The decorations were very beautiful, the color scheme being green and white—ferns and chrysanthemums.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Ravenel drove to Durham, whence they left for an extended tour of the North. They will visit New York, Philadelphia, and other points.

The out of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Brown and Miss Annie FitzSimmons of Adam's Run, S. C., Miss Eugenia Harris of Salisbury, Miss Mary Wellon Huske of Durham, Miss Mary Davis of Raleigh, and Miss Thomas of Richmond.

CLEMSON VICTORIOUS.

cult man to tackle in the open field. McNeill at half was a good ground-gainer and on tackling he was also a strong man. In fact, McNeill was one of the best all-round players on the field.

"Croswell, right half for North Carolina, did good work and was the punter for his team. His kicking was a feature of the game and in all he outpunted Allen, although the latter was not so far behind him in shoving the pigskin. However, Croswell perhaps had the wind in his favor more frequently."

New Portraits for the Library.

The University has just hung in the new Carnegie Library admirably executed portraits of the six presidents, the work of Mr. A. Edmonds, of New York, whose work as a portrait painter is so widely and so favorably known. The portraits are of Presidents Joseph Caldwell, David L. Swain, Kemp P. Battle, George T. Winston, Edwin A. Alderman, and Francis P. Venable. Mr. Edmond's portrait of the late Hon. John Manning, painted some years ago, 'is one of his best, and he has recently painted a magnificent picture of the late Col. James Buckner Killebrew, Ph.D., to be hung in the hall of the Philanthropic Society. Among the artist's better known portraits outside of North Carolina are those of the late Mrs. Theodore Sutro, of New York, Secretary George B. Cortelyou, Secretary Victor H. Metcalfe, and Judge Dixon.
